NOTICE OF MOTION FOR CERTIFICATION

THE PLAINTIFFS will make a motion to the Honourable Justice Perell, on a date to be determined by the court or as soon after that time as the motion can be heard, at 130 Queen St. W, Toronto, Ontario or via video-conference.

PROPOSED METHOD OF HEARING: The motion is to be heard orally.

THE MOTION IS FOR:

(a) an order certifying this action as a class proceeding, pursuant to the Class Proceedings Act, 1992, S.O. 1992, c. 6, as amended;

(b) an order defining the Class as:

all former and current players who played or play in the Leagues (the "Class"); and, all other persons who by reason of their relationship to a Class Member have standing pursuant to s. 61(1) of the Family Law Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. F.3, as amended, or equivalent legislation in other provinces and territories (the "Family Class").

(c) an order defining the common issues as:

(i) Did the Defendants, or any of them, owe a duty of care to the Class in the management, operation and oversight of the Teams and/or Leagues?

(ii) If the answer to (i) is yes, did the Defendants, or any of them, breach that duty of care?

(iii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, owe a fiduciary duty to the Class in the management, operation and oversight of the Teams and Leagues?

(iv) If the answer to (iii) is yes, did the Defendants, or any of them, breach that fiduciary duty to the Class?

(v) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach their contracts with the Class? If so, how?

(vi) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach any duties of good faith in their contractual performance? If so, how?

(vii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, commit actionable faults in failing to prevent the Abuse pursuant to the Quebec Civil Code? If so, are the Defendants liable for such faults?

(viii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach sections 1, 10, 10.1 or 39 of the Quebec Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms?

(ix) If the answer to any of the common issues (i) through (viii) is "yes", can the Court make an aggregate assessment of some or all of the damages suffered by some or all Class Members?

(x) If the answer to any of the common issues (i) through (viii) is "yes", were the Defendants guilty of conduct that justifies an award of punitive and/or exemplary damages including damages pursuant to s. 49 of the Quebec Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms?

(xi) If the answer to common issue (x) is "yes", what amount of punitive and/or exemplary damages ought to be awarded?

(d) an order appointing Daniel Carcillo and Garrett Taylor as representative Plaintiffs for the Class;

(e) an order appointing Koskie Minsky LLP as class counsel;

(f) an order staying any other proceeding based on the facts giving rise to this proposed class proceeding;

(g) an order declaring that no other proceeding based upon the facts giving rise to this proceeding may be commenced without leave of the court;

(h) an order requiring the Defendants to deliver to the Plaintiffs an affidavit listing, to the best of their knowledge, information, and belief, the number of Class Members, their names, and addresses, if known;

(i) an order approving the notice plan set out in the Plaintiff's proposed litigation plan;

(j) an order for the Defendants to pay the cost of implementing the notice plan;

(k) an order that the Defendants shall pay to the Plaintiffs their costs of this motion, fixed and payable forthwith; and

(l) such further and other relief that counsel may advise and this Honourable Court may permit.

THE GROUNDS FOR THE MOTION ARE:

(a) the Defendants have perpetuated a toxic environment which condones violent, discriminatory, racist, sexualized, and homophobic conduct, including physical and sexual assault, on the underage players that they are obliged to protect;

(b) this action seeks damages on behalf of the Class for the Defendants' failure to respond to or make meaningful attempts to prevent the institutionalized and systemic abuse of players in the Leagues;

(c) the proposed representative Plaintiffs advance claims for negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, and breach of contract;

(d) the Plaintiffs' claims meet the criteria for certification and this action should be certified;

(e) the pleadings herein disclose causes of action in negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, and breach of contract against the Defendants;

(f) the proposed class definition uses objective criteria to determine membership in the Class and is rationally linked to the proposed common issues;

(g) the claims alleged in the Statement of Claim raise common issues, the determination of which will substantially move the litigation forward, if not entirely dispose of the action;

(h) in light of the access to justice concerns and with regard to achieving judicial economy, a class proceeding is not only the preferable procedure for resolving these claims but is the only manner by which these claims can be realistically adjudicated;

(i) a class proceeding in this case would constitute the fairest, most efficient, and most manageable means of adjudicating the common issues;

(j) the proposed representative Plaintiffs Daniel Carcillo and Garrett Taylor can fairly and adequately represent the interests of the Class, with whom they have no conflict on the common issues;

(k) the proposed representative Plaintiffs have produced a workable litigation plan for advancing the claims on behalf of the Class up to the common issues trial and afterwards, should there be any individual issues left to be determined;

(l) the Class Proceedings Act, 1992, S.O. 1992, c. 6, as amended;

(m) the Rules of Civil Procedure, R.R.O. 1990, Reg. 194, as amended;

(n) the Negligence Act, R.S.O. 1990, c. N.1, as amended; and

(o) such further and other grounds as counsel may advise and this Honourable Court may permit.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed July 9, 2020)

I, [redacted], of the City of Calgary, in the Province of Alberta, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Calgary. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Western Hockey League between 1983 and 1984. I played for the Winnipeg Warriors, which is now the Moose Jaw Warriors, when I was 17. I also attended training camps with the WHL team the Calgary Wranglers, which is now the

DocuSign Envelope ID: E81025CB-11A3-48B4-8D4D-B5607ABB1115

Lethbridge Hurricanes, when I was 14, 15 and 16 in 1981 and 1982. I was traded at 16 to the Medicine Hat Tigers and attended their spring and summer training camps in 1983.

3. I suffered abuse during my time with both the Wranglers and the Warriors.

Calgary Wranglers Training Camps

4. I signed with the Calgary Wranglers as a 14 year old in the winter of 1980. I attended spring camps in 1981. My first main camp was in the fall of 1981. This was my first time away from home for an extended time playing with and against older players for a potential roster spot. Intimidation was everywhere from coaches to staff to rival players. After rookie camp ended, I was asked to remain for the main camp.

5. That main camp included all sorts of rookies and older guys. Some older players had come back from National Hockey League Camps. Scouts and coaches and players all mingled together and we played hockey and did drills for a number of days. This was very exciting for me, as it was my first time away from home playing with high-level hockey players.

6. The players all slept in a dorm. It was largely unsupervised at night. The first night, the older guys got all the rookies together. They directed us to take our clothes off. The veterans were chanting and throwing things at us. We were forced to engage in a number of hazing rituals.

7. We were forced to do what is called the "elephant walk". We were all on our hands and knees in a circle. Each boy had his nose between the buttocks of the boy in front of him and his hand on the penis of the boy in front of him. We had to crawl around in a circle for a number of minutes in this formation.

8. Another ritual involved walking around like a crab with our genitals in the air. We formed teams with 6 kids per team. Each team had a roll of tape placed on the penis of the first racer who had to walk like a crab with arms behind them, and their penis in the air. When the person reached the area where their teammates were waiting, the next teammate had to use their mouth to take the roll of tape off the racing boy's penis and place it with his mouth on the next teammate's penis. This continued until each boy had raced and transferred the tape with their mouths to another teammate. The winning team would no longer get "rooked". Losing teams would continue to get hazed and intimidated by veteran players.

9. We spent the camp being generally intimidated by the older players and the coaches. We were berated, threatened and were often slapped around.

10. The next summer/fall, I attended another rookie and main training camps with the Calgary Wranglers in High River, Alberta. Here, we stayed in an arena which acted as a dorm with bunk beds. At this camp, the coach was particularly intense and intimidating. One night, he flew into a rage and kicked a boy (who was in the bunk below me) out of camp. As the coach was making his rounds and yelling at players, he noticed this boy had dirty feet. He thought the boy had been outside the dorm after curfew and kicked him out on the spot. I had never seen a man yell at a boy like I did that night. Two nights later with returning veterans coming back from NHL camps, hazing rituals started, much like the year before, but even more intense. As this camp was ending and exhibition games were starting, I was traded from the Wranglers to the team we were to play that night, the Medicine Hat Tigers. The coach continued to try to intimidate me even though I was now playing for a different squad.

11. I made the Medicine Hat Tigers team, but I was told I would be playing on the 3rd or 4th line. Rather than lose my US Scholarship options, I chose to go play Tier 2 hockey in Sherwood Park, Alberta, outside of the WHL. I was writing the SATs and intended to attend university in the United States. It was around this time that Graham James, an assistant coach with the Winnipeg Warriors, started coming to my games, and taking me out for dinner and drinks. He was recruiting me to sign with the Winnipeg Warriors WHL team.

12. After about 3 separate recruiting visits and increasing pressure from Graham James, I eventually agreed to accept a trade, moving my WHL rights from Medicine Hat to the Winnipeg Warriors. It was Graham James's recruiting that convinced me to choose higher NHL draft status in the WHL over playing for an American University.

Winnipeg Warriors

13. I was hazed severely as a rookie with Winnipeg. I also saw other rookies getting severely hazed. The other players told me how awful it was going to be, but it is difficult to put into words. The joy that some of the older players appeared to derive from the hazing made it worse.

14. First I watched the other rookies go through the hazing rituals. It was horrifying watching it, but I was not prepared for how horrible the ritual would actually be. I felt extreme anxiety for months while I waited my turn. I was the last of the rookies to be hazed.

15. They held me down in the dressing room. They stripped me naked and laid me down on a bench in the middle of the room. There was a rack hanging above the bench, on which jerseys hung. They taped me to hockey sticks, with my arms spread out like I was being crucified. My legs were spread eagle. They tied a rope to my penis and threw the rope over the rack. They then tied a bucket to the other end of the rope, which was suspended in the air. The started throwing pucks into the bucket, making it heavier and heavier. The pain was so unbearable that I lost track of how many pucks were thrown in there, but it was many more than 20. I thought it was going to pull my penis off. I was screaming while the other players were laughing, taunting and taking great joy in my pain. What was being done to my penis did not even look real.

16. Then the older players shaved my pubic hair with a dull razor. It felt like they were ripping me apart. They cut me everywhere, I was bleeding. They put super strength heat all over my genital wounds, and they used a hockey stick to penetrate my anus. They covered the stick with super strength heat, so that the inside of my anus was burning.

17. I went to the shower after they let me go and spent a long period of time sitting in the shower under cold water to help soothe my wounds. I recall the Graham James and the trainer, who was female (which was strange for the time) coming over and comforting me. I was shaking uncontrollably, but I did not cry because I knew that it would make me a more of a target.

18. They would also haze the rookies on long bus trips. They would make us strip naked and spend hours in the bus bathroom, sometimes up to eight at a time, with the lights off so it was pitch black. They called it the "hot box". Our clothes were tied together into a large knot. It would take a long time to get adjusted to the pitch black. You would have to figure out which clothes were yours. The last player to get their clothes on would have to remain in the hot box for the remainder of the trip. This would typically happen on the way home from long road trips. The coaches and team staff were aware of this ritual.

19. They would make us do shows for them, dance for them. They would call it "the gong show". If they didn’t like the performance, they would punish us with some sort of assault or demeaning game. These hazing rituals were inflicted on the rookies all season long. The coaches and team staff were aware of this hazing.

My Experiences With My Billet in Winnipeg

20. I agreed to go play in Winnipeg largely based on how special Graham James made me feel during his recruiting trips to Sherwood Park. He came specifically to watch me play. He endeared himself to me. I had never met a coach who was so interested in me as a hockey player and a person. I did not know that Graham James was a pedophile. However, when NHL players Sheldon Kennedy and Theoren Fleury's stories of being sexually abused as children by Graham James became national news, I was not at all surprised.

21. When I arrived in Winnipeg, I did not have a billet family to take me in. I stayed at a hotel the first week, then Mr. James drove me to my billet's house. Mr. James told me that I was very lucky to be placed in the home of this billet. When we arrived, I got the impression that they knew each other well. My billet's name was Edmund Oliverio.

DocuSign Envelope ID: E81025CB-11A3-48B4-8D4D-B5607ABB1115

22. Mr. Oliverio lived alone in a large house in St. James, which was a nice part of Winnipeg. He had an important government job and came from a wealthy family in Ontario.

23. Shortly after I arrived at Mr. Oliverio's house, I realized that something was off.

24. He started taking me around Winnipeg to various bars and restaurants and we would drink heavily. One time that first week, we got extremely drunk and I went to bed. Hours later, I woke up with him in my bed. I was freaked out. I yelled at him, pushed him out and threatened him with violence if he ever did anything like it again.

25. He continued to make sexual advances toward me. It made me extremely uncomfortable. It was constant. I was petrified of the veteran players while I was at the rink, but when I went home, it was even worse. I started sleeping with a dresser in front of my bedroom door.

26. I did not want to complain because I knew it would impact my ability to be drafted into the NHL. As Oliverio's sexual advances became more brazen, I realized I had to speak up. I was truly afraid and I raised the issue with the General Manager of the Winnipeg Warriors on a number of occasions.

27. The first time I approached the GM to tell him what was going on, I expected to be placed with another billet immediately. Instead, the GM threatened me. He said I could get in big trouble for bad-mouthing such a prominent member of Winnipeg society. He told me I should be grateful to have such a billet and that I should keep my mouth shut, or I might lose my place on the team.

28. I reported Oliverio's advances two more times during the season and the GM reiterated again, more forcefully, that I would be sent home if I kept making up these stories. He told me the billet was telling him how awful I was treating him. I was devastated and I had no idea how to deal with my circumstances at home. It was impacting my ability to play hockey. My game really suffered.

29. Eventually, I moved into another rookie's billet's house. I packed my bag and left Mr. Oliverio's house. The team knew I was living elsewhere, but never spoke to me about it again.

30. I later found out that Mr. Oliverio had been convicted of having sex with underage boys in 1980. I think it is shocking that the team would billet me with a convicted pedophile, chosen by another pedophile and that the team did not believe me when I complained. I've attached a newspaper clipping from 1980 as Exhibit "A" to this affidavit.

31. I left hockey that year and went home. I went from being a top 100 prospect to completely out of hockey in less than one year. Just months earlier I loved hockey, and now I hated it.

32. Part of my contract with the Warriors guaranteed me a university scholarship at any Canadian University. This was very important for me, because I was giving up "full ride" US University scholarships when I chose to play with the Warriors. A few years later, I approached the WHL to enquire into whether I would be eligible for university funding. I spoke with the President of the WHL, Ed Chynoweth in 1988 or 1989. He referred me to their in-house counsel. Once again, I brought up the fact that I had been billeted with a pedophile. The in-house counsel referred me to the Moose Jaw Warriors (the team had moved to Moose Jaw the year after I left hockey) to seek scholarship money. I was refused any support.

33. I do not believe that any investigation was ever undertaken by the WHL, but I do not know. I never followed up, it seemed pointless.

34. I have suffered and continue to suffer as a result of my time in the WHL. I spent years keeping my stories to myself. I drank heavily for years and I was promiscuous. I believe I was trying to escape the traumas I suffered while playing hockey in the WHL. I am still struggling with these events.

35. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Dracula film an inviting spectacle

FP News Service

OTTAWA — This, of course, is a city of invitations — to cocktail parties, art exhibits, embassies, parliamentary functions, and Government House.

Few, however, have the appeal of one this week from the ambassador of the Socialist Republic of Romania and the national librarian of Canada, who are cordially inviting a crowd to the National Library next Monday for a showing of the Romanian film, Vlad the Impaler — Dracula.

The invitation promises it will be the "original version with English subtitles" and that the showing will be "followed by a cocktail."

Bloody Marys anyone?

DOUG SMALL CAPITAL TALK

Maggie squeezed in Margaret Trudeau, you'll recall, had an invitation of another sort recently — to open that quaint little Japanese disco called Night Shades, where she was asked, but refused, to do a little boogying for a handsome $20,000 celebrity appearance fee.

Anyway, she vapor-trailed her way back to the phlegmatic delights of Ottawa the other day, arriving at the capital's airport wrapped up in furs and dark sunglasses, eight pieces of luggage and skis in tow.

Out she went to grab a cab, where she was told there was a shortage and would she mind sharing one.

She would, said she. Her luggage wouldn't fit.

Sorry, said the cab dispatcher, share or stay put.

She opted to share. Her lively matching set was shoe-horned into the cab trunk. Then she was squeezed into a back seat with some stranger.

Poor thing.

So much for Kipling's old dictum: Down to Gehenna or up to the Throne. He travels the fastest who travels alone.

MacEachen in jet set

Also on the travel front, we're told dear Allan MacEachen, finance minister, missed his flight from Nova Scotia the other day and, Liberal that he is, had a government jet Otto-Langed down to pick him up (cost $600 an hour) and return him to the capital.

All of which is probably justifiable had it not been for the fact that Ottawa was socked in by fog, and that MacEachen missed his morning meetings that day anyway.

B.C. Tory towed off

Courtly B.C. Tory MP Don Munro had the wheels pulled out from under him by the constabulary as he drove along in front of Parliament Hill the other day.

He was just in from the West and, what with fighting an election and all, it simply slipped his mind to renew his licence-plate sticker.

The police pulled him over, gave him a ticket and had a tow truck haul his car away.

And we thought cops and Tories were fellow travelers.

Flagging federal hopes worry Quebec Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec Liberal MPs said Wednesday more aggressive campaign tactics must be used if the federalist forces headed by Quebec Liberal leader Claude Ryan are to win the sovereignty-association referendum.

MPs denied published reports that Ryan's leadership had been criticized at a meeting this week of federal Quebec Liberals. However, the MPs did not hide their concern at what they considered to be the flagging fortunes of the federalist cause.

A recent public opinion poll said a majority of Quebecers are prepared to vote yes when asked in the spring referendum if the provincial government should be given a mandate to negotiate sovereignty-association with the rest of Canada.

"Many of us felt the no position was leading before Christmas and that since then the yes side has gained considerably," said Warren Allmand, MP for the Montreal riding of Notre-Dame-de-Grace.

"Many of us are concerned about that. We want to put more force behind the no side."

Justice Minister Jean Chretien, who heads a committee of MPs to co-ordinate federal government activities in the referendum campaign, agreed with Allmand.

"I have some impressions the federalist argument has not been heard," he said.

Some of the MPs reluctantly admitted that they felt the Parti Quebecois had scored more points than the Liberals in the recent national assembly debate on wording of the referendum question.

Maurice Dupras, chairman of Parliament's Quebec Liberal caucus, said federal politicians may have an easier time than provincial politicians defending federal institutions.

"We have a strong mandate, with 74 of Quebec's 75 federali seats and 60 per cent of the popular vote, to take on a strong role," Dupras said.

Meanwhile in Montreal, pro-independence campaigners for the student vote in the referendum are trying to put Quebec Liberals quickly on the defensive with a series of "mini-referendums" at universities across the province to show student support for sovereignty-association.

But student Liberals, trying to wriggle out of the squeeze, call the strategy a "total farce" and a "parody of democracy" organized by "liars and hypocrites."

The pressure on the federalists has been stepped up with the most-publicized test vote, underway now at the 11,000-student University of Montreal.

Convicted of buggery

WINNIPEG (CP) — Edmund Oliverio, 33, was convicted Wednesday of seven counts of gross indecency and one count of buggery in connection with homosexual relations he had with six teenage boys in 1978.

Provincial court Judge Arnold Conner said each of the boys, aged 14 to 16, consented and "voluntarily took part in the prohibited activity."

Sentencing was postponed until April 16.

Oliverio, a marketing and public relations consultant, had pleaded not guilty to the charges. Judge Conner acquitted him of one further count of gross indecency and one of buggery.

We're paying too much for eggs, Whelan says

By ALEX BINKLEY

OTTAWA (CP) — A long-simmering dispute on the way egg prices are set has been heated up by Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan, this time with the support of the Consumers Association of Canada.

Whelan told a meeting of the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency this week that consumers are paying up to $1.3 million a year too much for eggs while at the same time some farmers are earning too much and others are underpaid.

Yvonne Milet, consumer association president, said Wednesday that Whelan's statement backed the long-standing contention of the association that consumers are being over-charged.

But she warned that producers are still trying to retain a formula which leads to some producers being overpaid despite changes urged by Whelan.

The formula is supposed to pay farmers for their cost of production plus a fair profit. But application of the formula is creating inequality because some producers are getting more than they are entitled to under the formula, Whelan said.

Officials said Wednesday that Manitoba producers get a fair return of 2.2 cents a dozen, which may be less than they are entitled. At the other extreme are Newfoundland egg men who get a fair return of 7.1 cents a dozen, which the minister said was too high.

Ontario and Quebec counterparts are occasionally in a losing position while farmers in the rest of the country are getting too high prices.

Producer representatives say those claims ignore the higher operating costs that eastern and western farmers face.

Just the same, agriculture department economists have been given the task of developing alternate pricing formulas to eliminate the inequalities.

That step was taken because a pricing study by the egg agency was considered inadequate by the department and by the national farm products marketing council, the federal monitor for the egg agency.

HAITIAN HIT 'FOR NO REASON'

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal policeman admitted Wednesday he smashed a Haitian in the face with a flashlight for no particular reason shortly after the man had been arrested in an east-end restaurant last summer.

Gilles Laurin told the Quebec police commission that he struck Mulere Theard as he was being taken out of the restaurant by two other police officers. Theard suffered a cut lip and broken teeth as a result of the blow.

Laurin, a 36-year-old veteran, also acknowledged that Theard had not resisted arrest and the blow had been unprovoked.

"As he (Theard) was being brought out the two policemen holding him seemed to let up and I lifted my flashlight upward, hitting his face," he told the commission in a hushed voice.

Laurin's testimony came near the end of a three-day inquest by the commission into allegations that police used excessive force and abusive language while clearing a group of Haitians from Ste. Bernadette municipal park on June 20, 1979.

The commission hearing had been ordered by the provincial justice department after Montreal's black community and several human rights groups charged the police action had been racially motivated.

A police lawyer revealed Wednesday that Laurin was one of two police officers who had been handed temporary suspensions by the Montreal police department following an internal investigation of the incident.

Double-tracking 'not new'

OTTAWA (CP) — Former Progressive Conservative transport minister Don Mazankowski scoffed Wednesday night at the announcement Canadian National Railways will double-track 40 per cent of its main line between Winnipeg and Vancouver.

He charged that the program is "nothing new," adding that CNR President R.A. Bandeen's suggestion the entire western route could be double-tracked by the end of the decade is a "dream world" and would be a waste of resources.

The announcement was made earlier in the day in Winnipeg by Transport Minister Jean-Luc Pepin, who said 40 per cent of the Winnipeg-Vancouver line could be double-tracked by 1986. Bandeen added the whole line could be done by 1990, depending on traffic demands.

The eight-year project would cost more than $1 billion, a CNR spokesman said here Wednesday night. Work has already begun on a section from Edmonton to Red Pass Junction in Alberta.

In a telephone interview from his home in Vegreville, Alta., Mazankowski said double-tracking the entire route would be a waste of time because nothing is being done to relieve railway traffic congestion at ports in British Columbia.

The former minister, reiterating remarks he made during the Feb. 18 election campaign, said the major problems plaguing railway transportation are port congestion, lack of locomotive power and grain cars.

"Pepin should come out here and learn the needs of the communities before he follows the pattern of advice given him by the prime minister," he said.

Double-tracking the CNR main line was one of the most controversial proposals made by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau during the election campaign.

Mazankowski charged Wednesday the new Liberal government is waffling on the development of improved port facilities at Prince Rupert, B.C., where the Tory government had announced plans for a $344-million grain and coal terminal.

Estranged wife awarded shares

TORONTO (CP) — An estranged wife has been awarded half of her husband's stock by an Ontario Supreme Court judge based on her contribution to the marriage, the first time a spouse has been awarded a share of non-family assets.

Mr. Justice John Holland awarded Barbara Leatherdale a $10,000 share of Bell Canada stocks held by her husband, Douglas Leatherdale, because of her indirect contributions to the marriage through her management of the home, care of the couple's son, and the pooling of her earnings as a bank employee during the six years she worked before quitting her job to stay home with their child.

"I attach no significance to the fact that the shares are in the husband's name alone," Holland said in a written decision. "His financial ability to acquire the shares (from his payroll deduction) was assisted by the wife's efforts inside and outside the home."

Holland said it was "fair and equitable" to give the wife an equal share regardless of whether they are family or non-family assets.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed July 10, 2020)

I, [redacted], of the City of Burlington, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Burlington, Ontario. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League ("OHL") between 2002 and 2005 for the Sarnia Sting.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 81EF1DF0-BDB3-4B7B-8492-48352DE0FD3D

3. I suffered abuse during this time that I have lived with for the past 18 years. The other rookies and I suffered day in, day out for our entire rookie year.

4. I have reviewed the statement of claim in this matter and I personally witnessed each of the allegations that Daniel Carcillo makes. They are all true. I also had to suffer through many of these abuses, and some others.

5. For example, the bare bottom paddling took place dozens of times. All of the rookies were subjected to it, including me. The sawed off goalie stick that was used for the paddling on the rookies' bare buttocks had the words "[redacted] Time" written on it, because the veterans called this type of hazing [redacted] Time. I believe they called it that because they were using my goalie stick, but I don't know for sure. It happened in the locker room mainly, but the veterans would bring the paddle on the road as well so we were paddled on the bus, or in locker rooms in other arenas.

6. The older players drilled air holes in the paddle/goalie stick so they could swing it faster. The air holes left imprints on our buttocks and would leave welts and bruises. I also recall being hit over the head with the paddle. It was extremely painful. The trainers knew about this abuse, but didn't seem to mind. They saw the welts on our buttocks.

7. I recall the "rookie rocket" where the rookies would be placed into a laundry cart and were launched at the wall as hard as possible. This happened often. I remember one kid being seriously injured and I was very concerned.

8. I recall the shower hazing clearly. Each player was forced to sit with their legs sticking out, so that their genitals were touching the buttocks of the player in front of them. The older players spat saliva, chew and threw other things all over the rookies. They would spray us with aerosol cans, in the face, or elsewhere on our bodies, until we were burned by the spray. We were forced to move forward and backward singing "row, row, row your boat". This was deeply humiliating.

9. The older players used to pull names from a hat in what they called "rookie of the day". They would come up with different abuses, the more creative the better.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 81EF1DF0-BDB3-4B7B-8492-48352DE0FD3D

10. I watched the other rookies bob for apples in the cooler filled with bodily fluids. I think it was filled with tobacco spit and urine.

11. I was dating a girl of South Asian decent during that rookie year. My older teammates would call her a "paki" to her face, and would taunt and bully me incessantly for dating a brown person.

12. I saw the "hot box" on the team bus bathroom, but wasn't forced in it because I joined the team after the season had started. I was told by the other rookies that they were stripped naked and sent into the bus bathroom. It went on for quite a while. The older players poured urine and other fluids through the vents while the rookies were in there, because they knew the players would be gasping for air at the vents.

13. I did the "hot box" by myself once I joined the team. The veterans summoned me to the back of the bus. They forced me to strip naked and made fun of my pubic hair. Then they forced me into the bathroom and left me there for about a half-hour. It was extremely demeaning.

14. I also remember a rookie teammate being strapped to a table, naked, in the locker room. He was face down. He was whipped with his own belt. He was trying to stifle his cries, but it appeared to be so painful, he could not keep it in. Then the head coach walked into the room and started whipping the player as well. At that point, I realized that possibly the entire organization was in on the abuse and there was nobody I could look to for protection. It was a terrifying realization.

15. I remember a rookie being forced to do push-ups naked with his penis dipping into Rub A535. His entire penis was covered in the heat rub. This was very painful for him, because that type of heat rub is not meant to be placed in sensitive areas. This happened in the locker room.

16. I remember another veteran dressing up like Adolf Hitler and marching around the locker room in front of my Jewish teammate. This continued until my teammate broke down and started crying.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 81EF1DF0-BDB3-4B7B-8492-48352DE0FD3D

17. I remember Mr. Carcillo being swung around by his hair in full hockey gear. Mr. Carcillo gave an older player a piece of gum. The older player wanted more gum, but Mr. Carcillo didn't have any more. His hair was longer at that time. I can't imagine how painful that must have been.

18. At the rookie party, there was a large amount of alcohol being consumed. I did not drink at the time. The older players beat me with the "Muncie Time" paddle until I agreed to consume alcohol. I faked drinking and acted drunk so they would leave me alone. I spent most of the night hiding behind a couch.

19. I became suicidal that year. I contemplated suicide on a regular basis. I remember the older players bursting into my hotel room on a road trip and taking a pad of paper I had been recording my thoughts on. It was clear that I wanted to take my own life from what I had written. They slid the pad back under the door later. This did not stop the abuse. They did not care.

20. The rookies would confide in each other during that year and would often break down in tears. There was nowhere for us to go. If you complained, you would be on the next bus back home. I was willing to put up with it to keep my National Hockey League dreams alive.

21. The billet family I was placed with in Sarnia was another source of anxiety for me. They were verbally abusive. They would swear at me and call me useless. The mother would ignore me for weeks at a time. They had locks on the cupboard doors, so I could not access food. I was well over 6 feet tall as a rookie, but I was forced to sleep in a 5 foot long child's bed, curled up. I was terrorized at the rink, and I was terrorized at home. One time, I lost my keys, and the family locked me out of the house. At that point I had to call my parents to tell them. They called the General Manager of the team, who found me another billet family. The General Manager told my parents that another player had a similar experience with that billet family the previous year. Another player was billeted with that family later that year. I was shocked.

22. Daniel Carcillo and I went off to play in the under-18 junior championships at the end of that season. We shared stories with the coaches. I understand that they reported it back to the OHL, because it got back to the head coach. The commissioner of the OHL, David Branch, asked me a few questions as a part of some sort of investigation. However, before he got there, the head coach and the assistant coach took me in the coach's office and he told me what to say. I understood from our conversation that I was required to answer Mr. Branch's questions in a particular way if I wanted to be drafted into the National Hockey League. The coaches told me to cover for them, to say that nobody knew about the abuse. I answered Mr. Branch's questions as I was directed by the coaches, and I covered for them. The coach was back in Sarnia the next year.

23. The meeting with Mr. Branch lasted about five minutes. He was very intimidating. The NHL draft was only a few weeks away. I felt extraordinary pressure to answer his questions the way the team staff had directed me. I was worried that if I was truthful with Mr. Branch, I would be labeled a snitch by higher-ups in the league and it would impact my reputation with NHL scouts.

24. I recall the following year, the head coach (who was different at this time because the head coach was fired halfway through the year for other reasons) picking me up from under my collar of my jersey and throwing me against the wall after a game because I had played the puck in the wrong situation.

25. There was nobody I could speak to about what I was going through. If you complained, it would affect your ability to be drafted. I was one of the hottest goalie prospects in hockey, and I felt that reporting anything would end my pro hockey career before it started.

26. This abuse has affected me for my entire life. I still live with the emotional traumas I suffered that year.

27. If I am asked or if the court requires it, I would be willing to act as a representative plaintiff in this matter.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 81EF1DF0-BDB3-4B7B-8492-48352DE0FD3D

28. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

SWORN AFFIRMED BEFORE ME, via video-link from the City of Burlington, in the province of Ontario, to the City of Toronto, this 10th day of July, 2020.

I, [redacted], of the City of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Ottawa, Ontario. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League between 1979 and 1982. I played for the Ottawa 67s.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 024ED57F-06DF-46BB-89B4-CB6D50A0CCFE

3. I suffered abuse during this time that I have lived with for the past 40 years. Telling my story has been extremely difficult, but I am telling it because I do not want any other child to go through what I did.

4. Hazing was common in those days, but one or two incidents in particular stand out for me. They still upset me when I think about it.

5. The few months before I was "rooked", the older players held it over my head. I was paralysed waiting for it to happen. It's like being on the front lines in a war and having people shooting at you with nowhere to hide. I knew it was coming.

6. I was jumped in the change room. I was blindfolded. The older players held me down, tied me up and took off my clothes. I was naked. They shaved my genitals. They slapped me around. They threw cold water and hot water over me. They covered my genitals in Rub A535. It was terrifying and extremely painful.

7. I was taped up, then they then placed me in a metal grocery cart and then taped in it. I was completely confined. They rolled me into centre ice at the arena and left me there. They closed the doors and turned off the lights. I do not know how long I was there for. It could have been an hour, but I can't say for sure. Eventually, a trainer came out and released me.

8. For the first three months of that year, the abuse was constant. If you couldn't take it, you were out. No exceptions. Some players left the team as a result of the hazing.

9. I was drafted second overall into the NHL two weeks after my 18th birthday by the Los Angeles Kings in 1981. I was the youngest player to be drafted by the Kings at that time. I had a long career in the NHL and in pro hockey in Europe. However, I believe that the hazing I suffered impacted my emotional/mental health to this day. It should never have happened. I still live with it to this day.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed July 17, 2020)

I, [redacted]i, of the City of Oakville, in the Province of Ontario, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Oakville, Ontario. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League ("OHL") between 2009 and 2014. I played for the Erie Otters and the Niagara IceDogs.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 70F3FB51-24B4-4E9E-83E9-DA4F24CDDC34

3. Shortly after I was drafted in May of 2009, my parents drove me to Erie, Pennsylvania to attend the team camp. We had a workout with the entire team, including the older players. We met the coaches and did a three mile run.

4. Toward the end of the day, we went into the locker room to take a shower. All of the veteran players started saying "rookie dicks, let's see those rookie dicks". They lined us up, told us to strip naked and made fun of our genitals. I remember being particularly embarrassed by this, because I was only 15. They then said "rookie bitches shower last" and required us to stand around naked. We were probably standing around naked for 20 minutes, while the older players made fun of our manhood.

5. My first full year as a rookie on the team took place when I was 17. I've read about some of the allegations that other players are making in the news, and my experience was not as gruesome. However, it still had a serious effect on me.

6. I was a goalie. I remember the older players decided that they would "snow" me over and over again in a practice. "Snowing" is when a player skates at top speed at a goalie, then stops very quickly right in front of him, spraying him with a wave of snow. This is considered to be a form of disrespect in hockey, and it is also uncomfortable because the goalie becomes quite wet when the snow melts. It happened about 30 times in a row. I finally slashed a veteran player because I wanted it to stop. When I came off the ice, all of my clothes were taped up in a ball under running showers.

7. I remember on the bus being cajoled and pressured into taking chewing tobacco. In order to fit in, I agreed. I chewed it until I threw up.

8. I also recall the "rookie dance off". Each rookie was required to do a strip tease in front of the older players until they were naked. The player who "lost" would be verbally abused.

9. I recall everyday verbal abuse. The rookies were pussies, bitches, or faggots. It was constant. The younger players were considered a second-class citizen in the locker room.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 70F3FB51-24B4-4E9E-83E9-DA4F24CDDC34

10. The veterans used to tell us how easy we were getting it. They would talk about the "hotbox" or the "sweatbox", or about older players defecating on their clothes when they were rookies. I did not feel as if I was getting off easy.

11. If you complained, either to the older players or to the team, you were putting a target on your back. It would affect your ability to play in the NHL because you'd be labeled a problem player. You're damned if you complain and you're damned if you don't complain.

12. This all happened in front of the coaches, the trainers. They knew what was going on, but said nothing about it. There was no discussion of hazing between the owners, GMs or coaches or league representatives. It was completely left to the players to govern ourselves. I do not know whether they were supposed to speak to us about it or not, but I have no recollection of any training or discussion.

13. The same sort of thing went on in Niagara, however, at which time I was no longer a rookie. There was certainly no attention paid to it by the team or league staff. It just seemed to me that it's a part of major junior hockey, everybody accepted it.

14. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(Sworn July 28, 2020)

I [redacted] of the City of Selah, in the State of Washington MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Selah, Washington. I was born on [redacted]

2. I played in the Western Hockey League between 1978 and 1981. I played for the Lethbridge Broncos (now the Swift Current Broncos), the Seattle Breakers (now the Seattle Thunderbirds), the Brandon Wheat Kings, the Billings Bighorns (now the Tri-City Americans), the Spokane Flyers (now defunct) and the New Westminster Bruins (now the Tri-City Americans). I also played for the Sudbury Wolves in the Ontario Hockey League.

3. I started playing for the Seattle Breakers in 1979/1980. I was hazed incessantly that year. The coaches knew, I think they actually got off on it.

4. I recall the veteran players taunting me, telling me I was going to get initiated. I remember the general manager telling me not to be a "pussy" when the hazing got bad. I was anxious for weeks waiting for it to happen. It was like torture.

5. I was jumped by the vets in the locker room. They threw me on a table on my back. The taped me to hockey sticks across my legs and arms. The blindfolded me. I was helpless. I could feel them urinating on me, throwing things on me. They put a rope around my penis. They threw the rope over a bar above me and they tied a puck bag on the other side. They threw pucks in the bag as it got heavier and heavier. It was very painful.

6. They taped razors to hockey sticks and shaved me head to toe. Then they covered me with Vaseline and baby powder.

7. . They put atomic balm all over my genitals. They put it on a hockey stick and put it inside of my anus. I remember my scrotum was purple. It was excruciating. Afterwards, I sat on a chair in the shower for about 3 hours. The coach and trainer saw this happening.

8. Maybe the worst part was that they cut me badly on my genitals. I bled for days. I remember having to stuff my underwear with tissues and gauze.

9. I saw this same thing happen to about 4 other guys that year. It was treated like a tradition.

10. It was so well known in the league at the time, that players on other teams would say "how are your balls" to you on the ice once they found out you're a rookie.

11. This type of hazing happened on each of the teams I played for.

12. I still have a tough time when I think about the abuse I suffered in the major junior hockey leagues. I get flashbacks still. I get very angry when I think about what happened. It made me an angry person then too.

13. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed July 29th, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of Quebec City, in the Province of Quebec MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Quebec City. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League 1990 and 1993. I played for the Niagara Falls Thunder, which is now known as the Erie Otters.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 6EFC42B3-CD34-4F54-BDB0-C7D80807A556

3. As a rookie in 1991/1992, I was subjected to almost constant verbal abuse for at least the first half of the year. We were put down, called every name you could think of. I almost quit a number of times. It was very difficult for me, emotionally, to deal with that type of abuse.

4. Fitting in was extremely important. You did what you were told by the older guys. You wanted to make the NHL, so falling in line was the only way it was going to happen.

5. I recall being put in the "sweat box" on the team bus. It was a very claustrophobic experience. I recall an older player going up to the front of the bus to get the driver to crank up the heat. Then they stripped 8 of us into our boxers and sent us into the bus bathroom. They sprayed us all with Pepsi so it as all sticky in there as well. I had a full blown panic attack in there. We were left there for hours. Some of the other guys appeared to be losing it as well. It was one of the worst experiences of my life.

6. Team staff saw the sweat box taking place.

7. I still get claustrophobic in enclosed spaces. I can't fly long distances. I often have to get off of elevators if they are too crowded. I believe this is a direct result of the sweat box.

8. The rookie party was a rough experience. The team veterans didn’t seem to like me. They forced us to drink maybe 7 or 8 beers and shots of crown royal. I was completely wasted drunk. I felt as if I didn’t have a choice but to drink.

9. Also at the rookie party, the older players made me eat a pint glass filled with the hottest hot peppers I've ever had. My eyes were watering, I begged them to let me stop. But they did not. The pain was excruciating. The entire time they called us names and berated us. It was completely humiliating.

10. Team staff knew about the rookie party – I think they probably helped organize it. They definitely knew what was going on.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 6EFC42B3-CD34-4F54-BDB0-C7D80807A556

11. I had friends on the Owen Sound team and the Oshawa team, among other teams. They had the same types of stories. I believe that pretty much every rookie in the league at the time I played went through some type of hazing or initiation. It was seen as a necessary part of becoming an OHL player. I feel that anybody who said they were not hazed would be lying.

12. These experiences were very hard on me. I still think about them now that I'm an adult. I believe that they had a lasting impact on me.

13. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed July 30, 2020)

I, [redacted], of the City of Salt Lake City, in the State of Utah, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Utah. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League between in 2002/2003. I played for the Sarnia Sting and the Saginaw Spirit.

3. I suffered abuse during my time in both Sarnia and Saginaw.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 1E31CD5F-D9AC-42E7-B89A-0E66E72F71FB

4. Sarnia was completely eye-opening. I came up from Utah in order to play a high level of hockey and hopefully play in the NHL. The abuse I and all the rookies suffered when I got there was horrific. I still live with those experiences and they are still difficult for me.

5. I was forced naked into the bus bathroom with the other rookies on long bus rides. They called this the "hot box" or the "sweat box". Being stuffed in the bathroom like that for a long period of time is awful. You don't know when you're going to get out. All of us are freaking out. Some kids are angry and some are hyperventilating.

6. I remember the bare ass paddling as well. The older veteran players would hit us on our bare buttocks with the paddle part of a sawed off goalie stick in the middle of the locker room. It was so painful and demeaning. The older players really seemed to think it was hilarious, as the younger players stayed silent hoping they wouldn't be the next one called out.

7. The abuse was often from the veterans. They would berate us rookies. They would target those individuals that put up a fit or fought the process. They would make us feel worthless.

8. Eventually, I started hiding from the older players in different parts of the arena. I would go straight for the weight room after practice or a game, or ride an exercise bike for hours so that I didn't have to get changed with or shower with the other guys and fall victim to a form of abuse.

9. There was nobody I felt comfortable complaining to. You couldn't complain to the older guys, or they would target you even more. If you complained to the coach or the other adults, you'd be fearful in being released from the team or receive less ice time. You didn't want to be the "problem kid", or "complainer". The environment felt completely out of control. I was filled with anxiety the entire time I was there. I became mute, and looked forward to going home.

10. I remember going to a party at a billet's house in Sarnia. I had never really drank alcohol before, and the older players pressured me to consume a massive amount of it. I was completely drunk. The older players that had been drafted into the NHL were all wearing shirts and jackets that said "Property of the Montreal Canadians" or whatever team they had been drafted by. I was a small kid from Utah, and I had a shirt from the TV show "The Simpsons". The veterans started making fun of me for the clothing I had on – they took my shirt off and threw it into a fire. They also got rid of the other clothes I had on. I was exposed in an unfamiliar environment, and very intoxicated. I had to run home down the street, several houses, naked with nothing more than my shoes. It was freezing cold outside.

11. I was relieved when I was sent to Saginaw. The hazing was much less intense there. The older players would make you stick your nose against the bus's windows and count cars on road trips for long periods of time. They would verbally harass, insult and bully us. However, in comparison to Sarnia, it was not nearly as bad.

12. On both teams, the players were left to police themselves. The coaches and trainers have to know what was going on as they are in and out of the locker rooms consistently and sitting at the front of the bus when the bullying is happening at the back.

13. I still live with these experiences today. I have children now and I would never let them go through the things I went through.

14. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(Sworn August 4, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of Coquitlam, of MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in Coquitlam, British Columbia. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Western Hockey League ("WHL") between 1980 and 1984. I played for the Kamloops Junior Oilers (now the Kamloops Blazers) the Seattle Breakers (now the Seattle Thunderbirds) the Portland Winterhawks, the Medicine Hat Tigers and the Winnipeg Warriors (now the Moose Jaw Warriors). I attended training camp with the Victoria Cougars (now the prince George Cougars) as a 17 year old, and I made the team, but I went home because the abuse I suffered was too much for me to take.

3. Each day for the past 40 years, I have lived with the abuse I suffered. I have felt immense pressure to keep my stories of abuse to myself, because I still work in hockey in Europe and many of my friends work in the Western Hockey League, the National Hockey League and many other professional hockey leagues. Coming out with my story has been extremely difficult, but am telling it because I do not want any other child to go through what I did.

4. The WHL was essentially the "wild west" back in those days. You grew up fast. There was nobody watching you and looking out for you. There was nobody to report to. You were completely on your own.

Victoria

5. When I attended the Victoria Cougars training camp, I suffered and saw constant abuse. This was the first time that I was exposed to hazing rituals that I would see throughout my time in the WHL.

6. The following abuses were inflicted on me while in Victoria by other players, each numerous times:

(a) a hockey stick was forcibly inserted into my anus. It was covered in "heat", or hot muscle ointment.

(b) heat ointment was placed on my penis;

(c) heat ointment was placed in my urethra using a pin;

(d) boys were required to perform for the older players on a stage. The older players would defecate on the stage and make the rookies throw their feces at each other;

DocuSign Envelope ID: AC3A4048-31CE-4A89-8554-8AA3F013EB18

(e) a African-American boy from the United States had his hair spray-painted red, white and blue, was stripped naked and tied to a telephone pole in downtown Victoria;

(f) boys were required to read from Penthouse magazine. Depending on the "game", if you got an erection, or didn't get an erection, you would be severely hazed in one of the manners described above;

(g) Rookies were held down or tied up and pubic hair, head hair and eyebrows were shaved off.

7. I secured a spot on the team, however, I chose to go back to my parents' house to avoid any more abuse. I played on a local junior team that year.

Kamloops

8. The following year, I moved to Kamloops to play for the Kamloops Junior Oilers. I consider the hazing I endured in the WHL to be sexual assault. I was sexually assaulted approximately 40 times in the 9 months I played in Kamloops.

9. I remember one time, while on the ferry to Victoria, the older players made the rookies drop their pants and walk off the bus onto the ferry. I said no. I knew the older guys would get back at me.

10. I was stripped naked and hung off of a big rack at the back of the bus where the jerseys were hung to dry. I was hung upside down, with my ankles taped to the top of the rack. The players shaved me head to toe, including my genitals. They shoved hockey sticks and other objects in my anus. They would cover the sticks with liquid heat before inserting them, which was excruciating. They also placed liquid heat on my shaved genitals, which was also extremely painful. I was left there for hours. I remember being in so much pain that I was trying to press my genitals and anus against the back window to get some relief from the condensation on the window.

11. One time, my father came to visit me when we were playing a game in New Westminster. I could not get out of the bath because my genitals and anus were burning so much from the heat that had been rubbed on them earlier that day. My father had to visit me in the bathroom of my hotel room while I sat in the bath. It was humiliating but I couldn't tell my father or I felt I would be kicked off the team or suffer further abuse.

12. One time in Kamloops, I had to bathe in the older players' urine. This also happened to other rookies. It was demeaning.

13. Another time in Kamloops, the rookies had a contest to see who could get an erection fastest. The loser would be "rooked" or initiated in one of the ways I've described above.

14. Shaving genitals and applying liquid heat inside of your orifices happened all the time. It happened to all of the rookies. I saw it over and over on all of the teams I played on in the WHL.

15. One of my rookie friends had what is called "lacebite" on his ankles, which is common on hockey players. It is a type of callousing you get on your ankles from wearing skates. While he was being "rooked", including the whole body shaving, the older players decided to cut his lacebite callouses off of his ankles using razors. He was bleeding so badly I had to take him to the hospital.

16. Another common occurrence was when the older players would tape you to hockey sticks with your arms and legs sticking out so you couldn't move. They would tie a skate lace to your penis and throw it over a venting pipe. They would tie the other end to a bucket. Then the older players would throw pucks into the bucket one by one to see how many pucks you could take. This was excruciatingly painful for me. I saw one kid take 28 pucks. I remember another taking 49 pucks while the whole team watched. I can't imagine how that player's penis was not permanently damaged. This happened on a number of the teams I played on.

17. The coaches all knew this stuff was going on. A lot of it happened on the bus. Everybody in the league knew it was going on.

Seattle

18. I was traded from Kamloops to Seattle. The same conduct went on with respect to sticks being forcibly placed up rookies' anuses, pins with liquid heat being placed in uretheras, shaving, and forced feces fights. This happened in the showers, on the bus, or elsewhere. The coaches and team staff saw and knew.

19. Fights in practice were commonplace. Kids were punching each other in the face over and over in most practices.

20. If you spoke out against any of this conduct, you were targeted even more.

21. Some of the things that happened away from the rink were truly disgusting. The team parties were out of control. I remember two "team girls" who would attend the parties, [redacted] and [redacted]. One of them would have sex with all the guys and the other would perform fellatio on all the guys. Each guy would take turns. I remember [redacted] being tied up on one occasion while the players had sex with her. Well-over ten or fifteen players had sex with her that night. I untied her and drove her home that night, I felt so bad for her. She did not come back to any other parties.

22. The players would have parties at the billets' houses. The older guys would hire prostitutes to have sex with the players. The veterans would draw a name out of a hat to pick what rookie would have sex with the prostitutes. I don’t think the rookies wanted to, but they had no choice.

Medicine Hat

23. In Medicine Hat, I saw the same hazing as I saw in the other teams, kids being tied down and shaving, and some of the other rituals described above, but it was less brutal than the other teams I played for. It was still bad. After only a few months, I was traded to Winnipeg because the team needed to upgrade their goalie for so a run for the Memorial Cup.

DocuSign Envelope ID: AC3A4048-31CE-4A89-8554-8AA3F013EB18

Winnipeg

24. In Winnipeg, the same type of hazing went on, but my main issue was an assistant coach named Graham James. He was in his late 20s and it was obvious to me that he was interested in young boys. He would attend team parties where everybody was drinking, and I saw him leave with rookies. He would often have the players over to his house to drink. It was pretty clear to me that there was inappropriate conduct going on, but I never saw anything actually happening. However, I did warn the younger players to stay away from him. I was not surprised when he was later charged with sexually assaulting and abusing underage hockey players.

25. My time in major junior hockey has left me mentally scarred. I've lived with it my whole life. Because I work in hockey, I have not been able to come forward until now. I may lose my friends over telling my story, but I cannot keep it secret any more. I live with anxiety every day. I used to have nightmares, which I rarely have any more, but my anxiety is always there.

26. I do not think I would have been able to bring litigation on my own. Now that I know that others have come forward, I finally feel comfortable seeking justice for what was done to me and to the other kids on the teams.

27. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed August 4, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of London, in the province of Ontario MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in London, Ontario. I was born on [redacted] in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

DocuSign Envelope ID: DCB46053-A49E-4B8A-A059-B1F8AC19FDB6

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League ("OHL") for four (4) seasons between 1996 and 2000 for the London Knights. I am currently a litigation lawyer practicing in London and Toronto.

3. During my rookie season with the London Knights I experienced abusive and unacceptable behaviour perpetrated by older teammates with the knowledge of the adult coach who was entrusted with our care. When I look back on my experience as a first-year player, the negative memories I have of the treatment my fellow rookie teammates and I endured surpass any other challenges I have ever faced since. Psychologically, this abusive behaviour was even more confusing and damaging than the experience of a year-long fight with brain cancer in my mid-20s.

4. The hazing in my rookie year was incessant. Having to attend at the rink and at high school every day as a 17-year old who was living away from home, knowing that various veteran players were going to demean you was a terrible way to live. I never understood why the veteran players hated the rookie players so much when we were supposed to be teammates. It was confusing and disheartening that the coaches condoned and tolerated the existence of such a poisonous and counterproductive environment.

5. During one of our fist bus trips, I was forced into what was known as the "sweat box" in the bus lavatory. I was made to strip naked and go into the lavatory with five other players who ranged in size from me at 5’10 to one who was 6’6. While we were in the lavatory the veteran players took our clothes, including our underwear and socks, and knotted them all together. They then rolled the string of clothes into a ball and wrapped the ball with layers of hockey tape and duct tape. Once the ball of clothes was completed, the veteran players threw the ball of clothes into the already crowded 2 foot by 2 foot lavatory and told us that we would not be allowed to exit the lavatory until each of us had our clothes on. This process resulted in the six of us being in the lavatory for easily over an hour with the only access to fresh air being through the window which slid open minimally. The commotion and laughter this caused could, no doubt, be heard at the front of the bus where the coaches were seated, but they did not come to the back of the bus to observe the situation or put a stop to it.

6. Another method of hazing involved the rearmost seats on the bus where the last row of seats and the second last row of seats faced each other. The veteran players referred to this general area as "the pit". One by one, the rookies would be called to the pit over the speaker system by way of a wireless microphone. Once at the back of the bus, we would be thrown into a heap of blankets and more blankets would be tossed on top of us as well. The veteran players involved would then administer what could only be described as a beating with their fists. Because we were covered in blankets there was no way for them to know if they were punching our faces or other parts of our bodies. The strikes were incredibly violent for a duration that might have lasted up to a minute. This was more than just playful wrestling or roughhousing. It was painful and traumatic not only in the physical sense, but also from a psychological perspective in that we were all on the same team and expected to pull the same coloured jerseys on once we reached our destination.

7. Again, there could be no mistaking what was happening at the back of the bus, but the coaches did not put a stop to it or even attempt to curb the misplaced enthusiasm of the veteran players who were involved. I remained close friends with the team's head trainer long after my career had ended, and up to his death. In the years that followed my career, he told me that, though he wanted to interrupt the festivities on many occasions, the training staff were specifically ordered not to come to the back of the bus by the head coach.

8. Also, in my rookie season, we were introduced to what was known as the "rookie party." As employees under contract with the London Knights, our remuneration was set at $40.00 weekly and we were paid on a biweekly basis. Our first $80.00 paycheque was "donated" to the veteran players for the purpose of purchasing liquor for the rookie party which took place on a weekend in early October. There were at least twelve rookies on our team in 1996-97 and so the paycheque collection would have amounted to almost $1000.00.

DocuSign Envelope ID: DCB46053-A49E-4B8A-A059-B1F8AC19FDB6

9. My recollection of the rookie party is that it was held at the home of my goalie partner who was a veteran player. He was a local player, meaning he lived at home with his parents rather than with a billet family. There was an expectation and pressure on the rookie players to drink excessively. I, personally, did not have a problem indulging, but I remember at least one player on our team having extreme anxiety after being forced to take several of shots of alcohol. He was an underaged player, which meant he would have been sixteen (16) years of age, while the majority of rookies were seventeen (17) years old.

10. At one point during the rookie party, one of the rookies went missing. He was found passed out in a tree, sitting on a branch while leaning his upper body up against the tree trunk. He was perched at least 10 feet in the air, which could have resulted in a severe injury if he would have fallen to the ground while unconscious.

11. What also stands out from my rookie season is my recollection of the head coach's overall conduct and how he set a poor example for the players in both how he instructed us to conduct ourselves and the ways in which he treated others who were associated with our team.

12. One example of such instruction which I vividly recall was during the coach's team address after one particularly humiliating loss. There were situations during the game where some of our defensemen were outskated by forwards on the opposing team. Put another way, the opposing forwards were easily skating around our defensemen and breaking in towards the goal for prime scoring opportunities. The coach demanded that our defensemen do absolutely anything to stop that from happening again. Then he gave an example of what he did when he was a National Hockey League (NHL) defenseman. He explained that he would sharpen the tip of the blade of his hockey stick to mimic a razor blade. He went on to say that when an opposing forward tried to skate around him, he would use the razor-like stick blade to slice the exposed skin on the opposing player's wrists or neck so that they would think twice about skating around him again.

13. Later in the first half of the season, the head coach of our team boarded the bus after another loss and a particularly heated exchange with a sports reporter (who is black) in Sault Ste. Marie. In his frustration, and in front of a number of our players who were on the bus changing, the coach referred to the Sault reporter as a "black bastard" when he was recounting the exchange to another reporter who traveled with our team as a sports writer for the London Free Press. This incident was reported to the league by the London Free Press reporter and the coach was fined and suspended. While the league imposed such sanctions, and despite firsthand witnesses who heard the racial slur, the league mysteriously found that there was not enough evidence to prove that the racial slur was used towards the black reporter from the Sault newspaper.

14. In the days which followed our coach's suspension for the heated interaction with the reporter in Sault Ste. Marie, our coach forbade us from speaking to the London Free Press reporter because of his role in reporting the racial slur to the league. He even banned the reporter from entering our dressing room for the purpose of providing media coverage for our team. Somehow, the adult on the bus who acted responsibly by reporting a racial slur to the league, was being penalized.

15. Though it was not a topic of discussion with him, the London Free Press reporter who provided media coverage to our team was believed to be, and, in fact was, gay. In the head coach's team address when he forbade team members from speaking to the reporter, our coach referred to the reporter as a "fucking faggot" and a "cocksucker".

16. I was personally on the receiving end of another one of my coach's homophobic tirades when he called me to a private meeting in his office which was witnessed by the team's assistant general manager. In this meeting I was strongly reprimanded for my choice of hairstyle. As was somewhat on trend in the 1990s, I wore my hair long so that it flowed out the back of my helmet, not quite to my shoulders. I also occasionally wore an earring when I was not on the ice. In this meeting with our coach, I was warned that NHL scouts "don't like guys that look like faggots".

17. Shortly after the brief Christmas break, when I reached a point where I could no longer tolerate our coach's conduct, I called our team's owners directly to resign my position on the team and to advise them that I would be returning home to Sault Ste.

DocuSign Envelope ID: DCB46053-A49E-4B8A-A059-B1F8AC19FDB6

Marie. To their credit, the team owners promised that the issues would be addressed. Our head coach's employment was terminated the following day.

18. Our team owners were a brother and sister who inherited the team from their late father. While they were pleasant people, they had limited involvement with team operations, and they did not travel with us on the team bus. I do not know whether they knew or did not know about the hazing rituals and the coach's reprehensible conduct. Similarly, I do not know whether the team's general manager had any knowledge of these events given that he also did not travel with the team or make many appearances in or around the dressing room. However, given how common hazing seemed to be during my time in the OHL, based on my experiences and the experiences that other players have described to me, I can't help but think that steps could have been taken to protect the players.

19. After my rookie season, I played three more years of junior hockey, all with the London Knights. The balance of my experience was largely positive.

20. Prior to the commencement of my second season, a new coaching staff was named. The new head coach, who coached us for my final three seasons with the Knights, was an exemplary individual in all respects. His choices of assistant coaches and hockey personnel were also consummate professionals and, moreover, admirable role models for a group of teenaged athletes.

21. Entering my second year, with fresh memories of the cruel treatment we endured as a group of rookies, we consciously decided to forego the traditional, ill-intentioned and counterproductive hazing rituals. Certainly, we would pull our share of good-humoured pranks, but the atmosphere became one of inclusiveness, positivity, and respect.

22. While we did not abolish the customary rookie party, the gatherings were monitored by adult team staff members and there was no pressure on any members of the team to participate in ways which exceeded individual comfort levels.

23. Though the final three years of my junior hockey career were a positive experience, I write this affidavit as a reflection of what was wrong in that era of junior hockey. There was no viable mechanism through which we could report our problems or issues. If I had reported these happenings to my parents in the midst of my rookie season, they would have come to pick me up immediately. What parent would want to hear that their child was being subjected to such treatment? I did not immediately report my issues to team management or ownership for fear that I would be looked on as a problem or a complainer. After all, the coach employed by the team condoned the very activities which were the cause of my anxiety. It was not until I had resigned myself to the fact that I was quitting the team and likely giving up on my dream of pursuing a hockey career altogether that I mustered up the courage to call our team's owners. At that point, I did not care about what the outcome would be. I just wanted out. I have historically been a fairly stubborn and resilient individual and it is bothersome to think that I was pushed to that brink.

24. I was fortunate in that our team's ownership reacted by eliminating the problem rather than eliminating me, the player.

25. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(Affirmed August 4, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the Village of New Maryland, New Brunswick of MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in New Maryland, New Brunswick. I was born on [redacted]. I currently work as a Royal Canadian Mounted Police Officer in New Brunswick.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 5ACD3389-221F-4D3E-A742-553F60465A4C

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League between 1992 and 1995. I played for the North Bay Centennials (now the Saginaw Spirit) between 1992 and 1994 and between 1994 and 1995 with the Oshawa Generals.

3. I suffered and witnessed abuse on both OHL teams. I have lived with this abuse to this day.

North Bay Centennials

4. I arrived in North Bay when I was 17. I went from being a happy kid with dreams of making it in the National Hockey League to a damaged person.

5. There were 4 or 5 rookies on the team at the time. We were constantly hazed throughout the year. We were threatened, berated, called all sorts of names and were made to feel worthless by the coaches and the older players.

6. We were forced to do push-ups in the showers while the older players spat, urinated and defecated on our backs. It was the team leaders who would do this and were the ringleaders in all of the hazing. The coaches and trainers knew it was happening, they saw it going on. This happened at least 3 times that I can remember.

7. In the locker room, we would be constantly paddled or hit full strength with sticks. This would happen daily or almost daily, leaving bruises, or breaking the skin. It was very painful. The coaches and trainers would have seen and known about this as well.

8. The older players used to try to get us to masturbate in the showers, in the dressing room or on the bus. I always resisted, because I wasn’t willing to go that far. I felt a lot of pressure to do what the older players said, but I was not able to comply with this level of hazing. However, I recall another rookie giving in and masturbating on a number of occasions. The older players made him eat his own ejaculate. The older players cheered and celebrated him when he did this. I still find this memory very disturbing.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 5ACD3389-221F-4D3E-A742-553F60465A4C

9. The coaches would engage us to fight in practices to toughen us up. This happened regularly. I had my bell rung constantly. We never had any concussion testing in those days, but I feel I was concussed for my entire rookie year.

10. I remember the general manager, coach and trainers explicitly stating that complainers would be sent home. I felt I had nobody to speak to.

11. I recall the "hot box" in the bus bathroom. I was injured when I saw it, so I didn't have to go in, but I saw perhaps 4 or 5 rookies being sent in the bus bathroom. I don't recall exactly how long they were in there, but it was a long time. Everyone looked very upset when they were let out, but nobody complained because they knew they would be bullied even more if they did.

12. The next year, I saw all of the same sorts of things going on in North Bay, but it didn’t happen to me because I was no longer a rookie. I did not take part, partially because I became depressed and withdrawn.

Oshawa Generals

13. I was traded to Oshawa the following year. I was relieved to leave North Bay because of what had been going on with hazing.

14. Oshawa was much less intense than North Bay, but hazing still went on. For example, I recall the older players "mashing" the rookies in Oshawa. The rookies were held down and were blindfolded. Older players would place chocolate pudding between their buttocks and would lower themselves onto the rookies. The rookies were required to eat the chocolate pudding off of the anuses of the older players.

15. My time in junior hockey in the OHL left me emotionally traumatized. For example, I cannot get on the ice to play hockey, even today. When friends invite me to play pickup hockey, I become anxious and come up with excuses as to why I can't. I had a full blown panic attack this past winter when I went out on the ice with my son. Any time I think about playing hockey, I become extremely distraught and anxious. I've been dealing with these issues my whole life.

16. I have not told my story widely before now. Coming out with my story has been extremely difficult, but am telling it because I do not want any other child to go through what I did. I also take comfort in coming forward with others who have suffered in the same way I have.

17. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(affirmed August 4, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of Lansing, in the State of Michigan MAKE OATH AND SAY:

1. I am a former hockey player living in Lansing, Michigan. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League between 2001 and 2006 on the Sarnia Sting, the Mississauga Icedogs and the Barrie Colts.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 4F173E7D-12E9-4E9B-A4E5-1D3BC7087239

3. I have reviewed the statement of claim in this matter. I saw the things that Daniel Carcillo alleges happened to him. They also happened to me.

4. It is difficult to express the day-in day-out abuse that we suffered in Sarnia when we were rookies. The verbal abuse was incessant. You were called a "piece of shit", or worse, every single day. You were constantly put down, demeaned in every possible way. This was done by older players and coaches. When you're just a kid and you've never been subjected to this type of treatment before, it really affects you. It makes you depressed.

5. Even the less serious things that happened, like when the older players took my clothes, soaked them, then placed them in the freezer, become more difficult to deal with in that type of atmosphere. On its own, this type of hazing might not seem so bad, but when it is done along with months of constant abuse, it becomes much worse.

6. Some of the things that happened were very serious. I knew it at the time, and I know it now. I couldn't believe they were happening.

7. The older players made me do push ups, naked. They made me dip my penis and genitals into rub A535 while I did the push ups. They made me do it for long enough that my genitals were covered and they were burning. I showered, but it didn't really make it better. It burned for a very long time, and was very painful.

8. On another occasion, I was strapped naked to a table and whipped with my own belt while everyone watched. This was painful and demeaning, but the coach came in and started whipping me too. I remember he said, only loud enough for me to hear, "I wish I could whip you even harder". I realized that there was nobody to go to for help.

9. I remember being in the shower, and being made to sit naked, buttocks to genitals, with the other rookies. They made us sing "row row row your boat". The players were urinating and throwing things on us. The coach walked in, saw it, laughed, and walked out.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 4F173E7D-12E9-4E9B-A4E5-1D3BC7087239

10. I also remember the "hot box" on the bus. It was hell. I also recall the bobbing for apples in the other players' urine. We all had to do it.

11. If you complained, or cried, the older players gave it to you worse. My mindset was that I had to steel myself to get through it. I remember thinking that once I'm through it, I would get to do it to other rookies the next year. It would be their turn. The older players kept reminding me of this. In hindsight, I do not think this is a healthy way to think.

12. I remember my teammate [redacted] came pretty close to killing himself. He shared that with me. The rookies had to be each others' support systems. There was nowhere else to turn.

13. I don't blame the older players. They didn't know any better. There was nobody stopping them. The players were left entirely to ourselves. It was our world to govern.

14. The following years, the same type of hazing went on, just not as regular or severe. It was pretty normal and seemed accepted or even expected when I played in the OHL.

15. I suffered and witnessed abuse on each of the teams I played for. The abuse I suffered in Sarnia as a rookie still lives with me to this day.

16. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(Sworn August 11th, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of Port Perry, in the Province of Ontario, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a retired hockey player. I currently work as a junior hockey coach. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League between 1992 and 1995. I played for the Newmarket Royals (now the Sarnia Sting) and the Niagara Falls Thunder (now the Erie Otters).

3. I suffered abuse during my time on both teams.

4. I am currently the head coach of the Knights of Meaford hockey team in Meaford, Ontario. The Knights are a Junior A team, which is a league that operates one tier beneath Major Junior (the Canadian Hockey League or "CHL"). Players on my team are often called up to play in the CHL in the middle of a season, or are sent down in the middle of a season to play on my team after playing in the CHL.

5. The abuse I suffered while playing in the OHL was life-changing.

Newmarket Royals

6. My rookie hazing took place after I made the Newmarket Royals team as a 16 year old. Every rookie on Newmarket had to endure the same types of hazing rituals over a period of many months. There were about 7 or 8 rookies. I was only 16 when this abuse took place. Every Monday or Tuesday was initiation day. All week I would wait with building anxiety to see what type of abuse would be perpetrated on me by the older players.

7. Every rookie suffered the following abuse at various points in the season:

   (a) each rookie was laid down on a table in the dressing room by the older players. If you resisted, you were taped down with hockey tape. We were stripped naked. The older players made the other rookies shave the rookie on the table's genitals. The older players would throw garbage on the rookie while he was being shaved – banana peels, papers, whatever happened to be in the garbage cans.

(b) the older players tied a pail to each rookie's penis with a rope. The bucket was thrown over a rafter. The older players would throw dozens of pucks into the bucket so that the rookie's penis would pull and stretch. This experience was extremely painful and scary. I was worried it would damage my penis.

(c) The older players would urinate or spit on the rookies in the showers regularly.

(d) we were all forced to masturbate and ejaculate on a piece of bread. The last player to ejaculate on the bread would be required to eat the bread, covered in all of the other players' semen;

(e) On long road trips, between Newmarket and Sault Ste Marie or Ottawa, the older players would send the rookies into the bus bathroom naked. They would tape our clothes together into a ball and throw the ball of clothes into the bus bathroom. The bus bathroom was only about 3 feet by 3 feet. We weren't allowed out until we were all dressed. There would be 7 or 8 of us in the tiny bus bathroom. Most of us were well over six feet tall and over 200 pounds. It was impossible to get dressed. We would be forced to stay in there for perhaps four or five hours. It was extremely hot, claustrophobic and uncomfortable. I distinctly recall guys passing out or fainting because we were in there for so long.

(f) The head coach would spit on the rookies' backs during games if he felt we were underperforming and would throw sticks at us during practices.

(g) we were berated constantly by coaches and older players. We were called gay, faggots, pussies, weak, soft, and many other types of demeaning words.

8. As a way of coping with the constant abuse, all of the rookies would get together at one of our billet's houses most nights. We would get extremely drunk every night we were not on the road. Some of us, including me, were using cocaine regularly. I never drank or took drugs before I arrived in Newmarket. I became an alcoholic after that year. I was only able to stop drinking about 10 years ago and I've been sober since.

9. After games or practices the whole team often would go to bars to drink. There was a Kelsey's in Newmarket that we would frequent. The underage rookies would sit in one area and the veterans would sit in another part of the bar with the team staff and coaches. Everybody was getting drunk regularly. The staff saw the rookies drinking all of the time.

10. Before games, the team trainer used to walk around the room offering the players "smarties". Smarties were Sudafed pills. Sudafeds contain ephedrine, which is a type of upper. I would take 4 or 5 before a game for extra energy. If you take 4 or 5 Sudafeds at 16 years old, you are absolutely flying. Not every player would take the Sudafeds, but many did.

11. The rookie parties were intense. The rookies would have to line up and drink 10 shots of liquor on top of many beers. Everybody was completely drunk. The team staff knew about the rookie parties, they were team events.

12. The environment was extremely sexualized. I was a virgin before I went to Newmarket. I lost my virginity that year. Each Monday, the team would play "show and tell" where each player would have to discuss their sexual exploits of the week before. Girls were "pigs" or "puck sluts". There were often three or four players having sex with the same underage girl at the same time. I also recall players hiding in closets or under the bed while their teammates had sex with local underage girls. This was all part of the experience.

13. My time in junior hockey has impacted how I relate with women to this day. I believe these experiences negatively impacted my ability to have normal relationships with women.

14. My first year in Newmarket left me extremely distraught. The summer after my rookie year, I was hospitalized because I tried to commit suicide a few times. I was abusing alcohol and drugs and was extremely mentally ill. I did not have these issues before I went to Newmarket.

15. I was not hazed that second year on Newmarket, but the new rookies were. The same abuses were perpetrated on the rookies in 1993.

16. I was traded to Niagara Falls partway through the next season, I think largely because I was having a very difficult time emotionally.

Niagara Falls

17. In Niagara Falls, the same types of rookie hazing rituals went on. Specifically, the bus bathroom, the genital shaving and the constant verbal abuse. In Niagara, the rookies had to do the "marshmallow race" which involved rookies keeping a marshmallow between their buttocks or in their anuses while they ran around a track. The loser would have to eat the marshmallows. I don't remember seeing the pail tied to the penis ritual in Niagara. They also made the rookies run down Lundy's Lane in their jockstraps, which is a main street in Niagara Falls.

18. In my first game playing against Newmarket as a member of the Niagara Falls team, I recall my former teammates and the Newmarket trainer yelling at me on the ice during the game. They told me that I should have killed myself and that I should kill myself after the game. This had a real emotional impact on me. After the game, I walked down to Niagara Falls to end my life, however, my teammates caught wind of what was happening. They kept me from killing myself.

19. I believe the coaches and staff knew about all of the hazing rituals on both Newmarket and in Niagara Falls. In Niagara Falls, their offices were adjacent to the locker room – they would have heard everything. Also, the hazing on the bus rides happened directly in front of them. I also know, as a coach of a junior hockey team, that you would have to purposely avoid seeing this type of conduct to not know it was going on.

20. It was so common when I was a player that I can confidently say that everybody in the league knew it was going on. I can't say that every rookie went through these initiations, but I believe the vast majority of players would have gone through these hazing rituals. If you were extremely lucky, you may have avoided it. I have heard hundreds of abuse stories like mine from major junior hockey players. These stories I have heard run from the 1970s to the present.

21. I never told my parents or my family about what was going on. If I reported it, it would have impacted my hockey career. I would have been blackballed. I would have been sent home or would have received worse abuse. I just thought it was a part of hockey and I had to "suck it up". Everybody at home saw me as a star for playing in the OHL. I was extremely ashamed of what was done to me. Speaking out about it never seemed like an option.

22. The staff on both teams I played for knew that I was suffering from serious mental health problems. These mental health problems were a direct result of the environment I was living and playing in. Newmarket traded me and Niagara Falls eventually cut me because of my condition. Nobody tried to help me with these problems or provided any support. I believe I was seen as too much trouble and was simply tossed aside because of my mental problems.

No Hazing On Meaford

23. My experiences, and the lasting impact they have had on me, have caused me to run my team with a true zero tolerance policy. I have modeled my team's culture after the

New Zealand All Blacks rugby team's culture – the "sweep the shed" approach. Every player is equal on my team. All players do the same dirty work like loading the buses or cleaning up the pucks so as to set an example for the rookies. There is absolutely no mistreatment of rookies on my team. I believe this creates real cohesion and a brotherhood on the team and the team will play better hockey as a result.

24. Almost every rookie tells me how thankful that they are that there is no hazing on my team and that rookies are treated like equals. Their sense of relief is often palpable. They almost always say that they expected hazing to take place and that they thought it was a necessary part of hockey. I have heard players tell me this as recently as last season.

25. I believe this type of hazing still goes on in major junior hockey today, although I have not seen it myself since my time in Niagara Falls and Newmarket. I have players on my team who get sent down from OHL or QMJHL teams to pay on my team. These are some of the players who seem surprised with my team's culture. A few years ago, a player was sent back to my team after playing in the QMJHL. He arrived with his eyebrows shaved. We didn’t discuss it, but I do not think this player shaved his own eyebrows – I am certain this happened as a part of an extremely common hazing ritual.

26. I have heard hundreds of major junior hockey hazing stories over the years. I have heard many hazing stories in major junior hockey taking place in recent years. I do not think that every player gets hazed, but I think it still an overwhelmingly regular occurrence.

27. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(Sworn August 11, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of St. Albert, in the Province of Alberta MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former Western Hockey League ("WHL") player. Alberta. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the WHL between 1980 and 1984. I played for the Billings Bighorns, the Nanaimo Islanders and the New Westminster Bruins. That was the same team, but it moved to three places during my time playing in the WHL. That franchise is now called the Tri-City Americans.

3. I suffered severe abuse during my time in the WHL. I have lived with this trauma for the past 40 years. I read about this class action lawsuit in the news and I broke down and cried, telling my wife for the first time about the abuse I suffered. I have felt immense pressure to keep my abuse to myself, because I still work in hockey in Alberta, and many of my friends work in the WHL, the National Hockey League and many other professional hockey leagues. Coming out with my story has been extremely difficult. I am telling it because I do not want any other child to go through what I did.

4. Four specific incidents of abuse I suffered stand out in my mind and haunt me to this day:

(a) The first took place in a hotel room while at the beginning of the 1980/1981 season while we were on a road trip. I was taking out the "rookie cot" when two veteran players jumped me from behind. I was pinned down face first with my hands at my side. One guy kneeled on my shoulders with his crotch against the back of my head. The other was sitting on my back. I was pinned and helpless. My face was pushed into the mattress. I could not breathe. The only way I could breathe was to move my head from side to side gasp for air. The veteran player who was sitting on my shoulders took his penis out of his pants and slapped it off the side of my face each time I turned my head to gasp for air. They kept saying "not too tough now, eh rookie" and laughing. This went on for about 20 minutes. I was terrified.

I saw my parents that day and I put my stuff in their trunk and told them to take me home. I was a promising player, and was playing on a team with the hottest prospect in hockey who was drafted first overall into the NHL the next year. I knew every scout in hockey was watching and I knew I stood a very good chance of realizing my dream of playing in the NHL. At that point I did not care, I was walking away from hockey.

(b) I returned to the team the next year. That is when the second event took place. The same two players made a number of rookies strip naked in the training camp dorm. They made a mark on the floor with hockey tape. The rookies were forced to play tug of war with a string tied to their penises. When I walked into the dressing room, I broke this game up. I felt it was disgusting and degrading. I remembered how I felt being pinned down by those players and I did not want others to endure it.

(c) The third event took place a few days after I broke up the game of penis tug of war. I believe it was retribution. The same two veterans put a hockey sock over my head from behind. They taped it around my neck. They punched me repeatedly in the ribs and thighs until I fell to the ground. They then held my arms out to the sides while others stood on my arms. They taped me to a hockey stick crucifixion-style. They dragged me across the room by the hockey stick, and put me under scalding hot water in the shower room. They tied a skate lace to my penis. They dragged a coat rack into the shower and threw the skate lace over it, and tied the other side to my ankle, which was suspended in the air. I had to keep my leg up, or else it would pull on my penis. My leg became tired, and as it lowered, it pulled on my penis until it broke the skin and caused me to bleed.

They left me in the shower. I remained there for over an hour until the tape was soft enough to break free. This was excruciatingly painful and demeaning.

(d) The fourth event took place when I was rehabbing a knee injury. I was on the ice in practice. I was not wearing pads or protective equipment. The veteran players shot pucks at my leg trying to injure me. I tried to confront these veteran players, but I was sucker-punched by a third player. I fell helplessly to the ice, because my knee had no strength to support my weight, let alone fight. My tooth was knocked out and my eye swollen shut. I believe this was further retribution for me trying to stop hazing from occurring.

5. The players who did this to me have prominent roles in Canadian major junior hockey today. It makes me sick to think that these people are entrusted with the wellbeing of children.

6. I could not report this abuse to anybody. I felt completely alone at the time. Reporting the abuse would mean more abuse, or even being cut from the team. I just kept it inside because I did not want to interfere with my dream of playing pro hockey. Speaking out just wasn’t something that kids could do without putting themselves at risk of more abuse, or of potentially ending their dream to play in the NHL.

7. When I was a rookie in Nanaimo coming to the rink, it felt like you were walking into the opposing team's locker room. You were always waiting for the next hazing or bullying event, verbally or physically. I felt constant anxiety, my back was always up. After a game or a practice, I would leave the dressing room immediately, I would not work out or take extra drills. I needed to get away from the veteran players. I continue to struggle with this feeling that people are out to get me. Once you get the feeling in your bones, you can't get rid of it.

8. I recall being told by the other players that the other rookies in Nanaimo had been held down and had their public hair shaved. I did not see it happening, but I definitely heard about it. I also knew it was happening because when I was in the shower with the other rookies, I saw their genitals, hair and/or eyebrows would be shaved. The other players would discuss them having been "rooked".

9. I also heard stories from the other players about the older players using the blowtorch that the trainers used to curve the sticks. They would use it to burn the rookies on the buttocks. These stories were being told all the time. I did not see it, but I believe that it was common.

10. I also heard about hazing games involving an oreo cookie being placed in between players' buttocks with the loser being required to eat the cookies. Another game involved a pail being tied to players' penises by a skate lace with pucks being thrown into it. Again, I did not see these events happen, but I heard about them often and believe them to be true.

11. Physical beatings were common on the bus. All sorts of abuse, verbal and physical happened on the bus. It was happening in front of the coaches and trainers, they didn’t care. I saw this and it happened to me.

12. I teamed up with a few other players on the team to protect ourselves. Different gangs or cliques formed. There was an incredible amount of distrust and violence between the cliques. In recent years, every time I've watched a film involving prison gangs, it reminds me of my time on that team - having to form groups to protect yourself and your people from harsh physical or mental abuse.

13. When I became team captain in 1982/1983, I was able to put a stop to the hazing completely. I realized how terrible it was and how it made me feel when it happened to me. I told the rest of the veterans that there would be physical ramifications if there was any hazing.

14. However, when I left the team either due to an injury or to play in a different league, my teammates told me that the hazing and abuse came back each time. The same rituals, involving blowtorches, pails, shaving, etc. came right back into play.

15. The players were left to police themselves. The coaches made it very clear that it was on us, with respect to hazing or bullying. The power imbalance between 20 year olds and 16 year olds in those circumstances is stark.

16. As I grew older, these events stayed with me. I can think of an example when I was playing with my children when they were young. They pinned me down on a bed and I completely freaked out and started panicking. I wasn't able to tell anybody at the time, but my family thought I was crazy.

17. I started drinking heavily after these incidents. It turned me into a black mass of nothing. I would drink myself into oblivion and acted like an idiot. I've lived a life of self-isolation and mistrust of others.

18. After I left the WHL, I played in the East Coast Hockey League, the International Hockey League and Central Hockey League. I spent about 5 years playing in those professional leagues. The majority of the players in those pro leagues played in the Ontario Hockey League, the WHL or the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League. We regularly shared stories of hazing and abuse in Canadian major junior hockey. Over the years I have been told hundreds of stories of hazing and abuse in Canadian major junior hockey. These stories were told to me by my peers and their stories of abuse would span the late 1970s through to about 1990. I believe that hazing and abuse was overwhelmingly common throughout the leagues during the period my peers and I played in Canadian major junior hockey.

19. Later, I became extremely overprotective of my son when he played hockey. I would always barge into the dressing room. The other parents wondered what was wrong with me. I was terrified that similar things may happen to my son.

ACTING AS A REPRESENTATIVE PLAINTIFF

20. I am prepared to act as a representative plaintiff in this class action. I understand that as a representative plaintiff I would be obligated to direct this litigation and to act in the best interests of class members. For example, I understand that any settlement discussions with the defendant cannot relate only to my personal claim, but must relate to the claims of the class members as a whole.

21. My counsel in this litigation is Koskie Minsky LLP and the lawyers that I have been instructing include James Sayce and others at his firm.

22. James Sayce of Koskie Minsky LLP has explained the major steps in a class action. I understand these major steps include:

(a) issuing a statement of claim to commence the action, which was done in June, 2020;

(b) a motion for certification, which I understand involves the court's consideration of whether this action is appropriate to proceed as a class action;

(c) if the action is certified, there would be notice to the class of the certification and the right to opt-out (i.e. a chance for class members not to participate in the class action);

(d) the disclosure and exchange of relevant documents;

(e) examinations for discovery, where lawyers for the Defendants can ask me questions about my case and my lawyers can ask the Defendants' representatives questions;

(f) a pre-trial conference where a judge can help the parties towards a settlement of the case;

(g) a trial of the common issues (i.e. a trial that only deals with the certified common issues as opposed to the issues that are individual to me and other class members);

(h) notice to the class if individual hearings or participation is required;

(i) the determination of individual issues, if required;

(j) the distribution of proceeds (if any) of a money award by judgment or settlement;

(k) appeals, which might include appeals from the certification motion, other motions or the trial of the common issues; and,

(l) settlement discussions, which could happen at any time.

23. I understand that as a representative plaintiff, I would have, among others, the following responsibilities:

(a) review and keep myself informed of all steps in this litigation;

(b) familiarize myself with the issues to be decided at the common issues stage and other issues in the action;

(c) review amendments to the statement of claim and the other pleadings in the action;

(d) help prepare the affidavits and other materials in support of certification, other motions and the materials that would be used at a common issues trial;

(e) attend any cross-examination on my affidavits or otherwise;

(f) attend the examinations for discovery and answer questions from the Defendants' lawyers;

(g) assist in preparing and executing an affidavit of documents, which will list all the documents that I have or could get that relate to this case;

(h) attend at the common issues trial, provide any direction or help to the lawyers and give evidence regarding the case;

(i) express my views and direct my lawyers about strategy and how the litigation should proceed; and,

(j) assist in preparing materials in support of a court approving any settlement and providing assistance with the implementation of any settlement and claims process.

24. I appreciate the importance of my participation in this litigation.

25. I expect to play an active role in this litigation, including the review of court materials and instructing my lawyers. I also expect to assist with communication with class members, including receiving their input about this litigation.

26. I believe that I can fairly and adequately represent the interests of class members and I am committed to fulfilling my obligations as their representative.

Litigation Plan

27. I have reviewed the draft litigation plan, which I understand will be attached to a separate affidavit of one of my lawyers. I understand that the litigation plan provides for notice to the class members if the action is certified. I do not have the expertise to evaluate the legal aspects of the plan, but my lawyers have formulated this plan and I understand from them that it is designed to provide a workable method of determining the issues in this action. I understand from my lawyers and believe that the court has approved similar litigation plans in systemic/institutional negligence cases, such as the Huronia Regional Centre or the solitary confinement class actions in Ontario.

Common Issues

28. I have reviewed the proposed common issues for this certification motion. I am not aware of a conflict of interest between me and the proposed class members with respect to these common issues or any other issues in this case.

Costs of This Action

29. My lawyers have told me and I believe that they will fund all disbursements necessary to prosecute this class action to its conclusion.

30. I have been advised and believe that my lawyers are in the process of seeking an indemnity for me and the other representative plaintiffs against adverse costs awards.

31. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF DANIEL CARCILLO

(affirmed August 27, 2020)

I, Daniel Carcillo, of the City of Homer Glen in the State of Illinois, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a retired hockey player living in Illinois. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the National Hockey League ("NHL") for nine seasons. I played for the Pittsburgh Penguins, the Phoenix Coyotes, the Philadelphia Flyers, the Chicago Blackhawks, the New York Rangers and the Los Angeles Kings.

DocuSign Envelope ID: F523C132-919C-4CA1-B160-82AD8D356971

3. Before I played in the NHL, I was played in the Ontario Hockey League ("OHL"). In the OHL I played for the Sarnia Sting from 2002-2004 and for the Mississauga IceDogs in 2004-2005.

4. I suffered abuse while I played on the Sarnia Sting that changed the course of my life. I was 17 years old when this abuse commenced. It traumatized me. It changed the way I played hockey. It changed the way I saw the world and how I treated others. It is only over the past few years, since I retired from hockey, that I have become fully aware of the damage it inflicted on me and others.

5. As soon as I arrived in Sarnia, the older players started abusing me and a group of about 12 rookies. We were treated like trash. We were berated. We were called "pussies", "faggots", or "soft", among other types of abusive language. Racial slurs were commonplace. The head coach, the assistant coaches and the older players all joined in. We were completely terrorized each and every day.

6. I recall a number of serious hazing rituals that we were forced to endure. For example, I remember the rookies being forced to sit in the shower, naked, while the older players urinated and spat on us. I remember the coach seeing this happening and not doing anything to stop it.

7. I recall being forced to bob for apples in a cooler full of urine, saliva and tobacco chew juice. Other rookies were required to do this as well.

8. I recall physical abuse with a sawed off goalie stick. The rookies were required to face our stalls, bend over and pull our pants and underwear down. The older players would paddle our bare buttocks until massive welts formed. The rest of the team watched. I couldn’t sit down during classes in the local high school, the welts were so bad. The trainers would ask us about them, and we explained what was happening. They did not seem to care.

9. I recall the "hot box" in the bus bathroom. We were stripped naked and sent inside. I think there were 8 of us at a time. We were trying to breathe air from the vents, because it was so hot and claustrophobic in there. The older players poured urine and tobacco chew through the vents to make the experience more uncomfortable. We were in there for hours. It was traumatizing.

10. I remember seeing my teammate being strapped to a table with his bare buttocks in the air. He had been stripped naked. The older players were whipping him with his own belt. The head coach walked into the room. The head coach took a turn whipping the boy.

11. I recall wild house parties. Rookies were coerced into consuming enormous quantities of alcohol. Players were having sex with girls while other players watched. Many different players were coerced into having sex with the girls, one after the other. Girls were passed around as if it was no big deal, almost like they weren't even human beings.

12. There was a game called the "rookie rocket". The rookies were loaded into a laundry cart on wheels, four at a time. Then the older players would push the cart full speed into a wall. Multiple rookies were bloodied, injured or knocked unconscious by the rookie rocket.

13. Team trainers and staff actually saw some of the hazing. They also knew what was going on based on the visible injuries rookies sustained as well as the overall culture of fear and violence. Hazing was treated as a totally normal part of hockey in the OHL during my time there. There was no training, there was no discussion of hazing, abuse or inappropriate behaviour. The older players were let loose on us. The players were left to fend for themselves.

14. The older players kept telling us that we would get to do the same thing to the rookies the next year. I remember thinking at the time, 'who would ever want to do this'. It did not make me feel any better.

15. A rookie teammate, [redacted], and I went to Europe to play for team Canada in the under 18 Championships at the end of my rookie year. At that tournament, we told the hazing stories at a team dinner. We were pretty upset by it. One of the coaches from Team Canada must have reported it, because word got back to Sarnia. However, I'm not aware of anything coming of it, because the same coach and staff were back the next season.

16. My first year in Sarnia changed me. I have spent a lot of time working on myself since that time. I have done things and acted in ways that I regret. On the ice, I became a "skilled-agitator", meaning part of my role was to get under the skin of players on the other team and to play physically. I sometimes bullied my teammates, and used derogatory language toward them, because I felt that was my persona as a player. I was downright verbally abusive to teammates and opponents alike. I also sometimes used slurs. This seemed normal to me, and in fact, I felt it was part of my job. I felt that coaches wanted me to act like an unpredictable psychopath both on and off the ice. This became normal to me because of what happened in Sarnia when I was a rookie.

17. In 2018, I was watching the news and saw the story about the hazing incidents that took place at St. Michael's College in Toronto. I didn't understand what was happening at the time, but I had a full blown panic attack. My wife did not understand what was happening either. I just started crying and freaking out. I contacted [redacted], another former NHL hockey player who came out with stories of abuse, and he talked me down. He explained that I was processing what happened to me 15 years earlier, and that I was overwhelmed by it. Now I know he was right and I feel lucky to have had his phone number.

18. A few weeks later, I drafted a tweet about my abuse but I sat on it for about a week. Once you speak out against the hockey world, there is no going back. I knew that I would burn bridges by telling my story, but I went ahead and sent the tweet out. There was a huge response. Guys I used to play with, close friends, sent me messages calling me a liar, a pussy, a hypocrite, and said that I'm ruining hockey. People who were at my wedding sent me messages like that. It was hard to lose friends, but that is how hockey works. It is a culture of silence, a solider mentality. You are cast out if you do not keep your mouth shut.

19. Since I went public with my story, it has been covered by the Washington Post, the CBC and many other news outlets. As a result, other survivors of abuse in junior hockey have reached out to me. I estimate that over a hundred former major junior hockey players have told me about the abuse they have suffered. They describe many of the same rituals and abuses.

20. I have apologized to players I mistreated over the years. They almost always accept my apologies and just say, that's how things were. They don't fault me for having bullied and demeaned them, but that doesn't make it alright. I am truly regretful of my conduct, but I'm glad that people are willing to discuss these issues with me.

21. I worry that many of the people who were abused over the years are now in positions of power in major junior hockey. They have normalized this abuse, and they think it is part of the game. Many of them think there is nothing wrong with it and that it is a right of passage. That is one of the things that worries me most, is that it's still going on, and that kids still can't speak out about it.

22. Since my time in the OHL, I have struggled with addiction. I leaned on opioids. to numb the psychological pain that I suffered while in the OHL. I've been clean for almost five years now. I've done a lot of work coming to terms with the abuse I suffered, but I am still living with the effects of what happened to me.

ACTING AS A REPRESENTATIVE PLAINTIFF

23. I am prepared to act as a representative plaintiff in this class action. I understand that as a representative plaintiff I would be obligated to direct this litigation and to act in the best interests of class members. For example, I understand that any settlement discussions with the defendant cannot relate only to my personal claim, but must relate to the claims of the class members as a whole.

24. I seek to represent the following persons as class members in this class action:

25. My counsel in this litigation is Koskie Minsky LLP and the lawyers that I have been instructing include James Sayce and others at his firm.

26. James Sayce of Koskie Minsky LLP has explained the major steps in a class action. I understand these major steps include:

DocuSign Envelope ID: F523C132-919C-4CA1-B160-82AD8D356971

(a) issuing a statement of claim to commence the action, which was done in June, 2020;

(b) a motion for certification, which I understand involves the court's consideration of whether this action is appropriate to proceed as a class action;

(c) if the action is certified, there would be notice to the class of the certification and the right to opt-out (i.e. a chance for class members not to participate in the class action);

(d) the disclosure and exchange of relevant documents;

(e) examinations for discovery, where lawyers for the Defendants can ask me questions about my case and my lawyers can ask the Defendants' representatives questions;

(f) a pre-trial conference where a judge can help the parties towards a settlement of the case;

(g) a trial of the common issues (i.e. a trial that only deals with the certified common issues as opposed to the issues that are individual to me and other class members);

(h) notice to the class if individual hearings or participation is required;

(i) the determination of individual issues, if required;

(j) the distribution of proceeds (if any) of a money award by judgment or settlement;

(k) appeals, which might include appeals from the certification motion, other motions or the trial of the common issues; and,

(l) settlement discussions, which could happen at any time.

DocuSign Envelope ID: F523C132-919C-4CA1-B160-82AD8D356971

27. I understand that as a representative plaintiff, I would have, among others, the following responsibilities:

(a) review and keep myself informed of all steps in this litigation;

(b) familiarize myself with the issues to be decided at the common issues stage and other issues in the action;

(c) review amendments to the statement of claim and the other pleadings in the action;

(d) help prepare the affidavits and other materials in support of certification, other motions and the materials that would be used at a common issues trial;

(e) attend any cross-examination on my affidavits or otherwise;

(f) attend the examinations for discovery and answer questions from the Defendants' lawyers;

(g) assist in preparing and executing an affidavit of documents, which will list all the documents that I have or could get that relate to this case;

(h) attend at the common issues trial, provide any direction or help to the lawyers and give evidence regarding the case;

(i) express my views and direct my lawyers about strategy and how the litigation should proceed; and,

(j) assist in preparing materials in support of a court approving any settlement and providing assistance with the implementation of any settlement and claims process.

28. I appreciate the importance of my participation in this litigation.

DocuSign Envelope ID: F523C132-919C-4CA1-B160-82AD8D356971

29. I expect to play an active role in this litigation, including the review of court materials and instructing my lawyers. I have been doing this for the past several months now. I also expect to assist with communication with class members, including receiving their input about this litigation.

30. I believe that I can fairly and adequately represent the interests of class members and I am committed to fulfilling my obligations as their representative.

Litigation Plan

31. I have reviewed the draft litigation plan, which I understand will be attached to a separate affidavit of one of my lawyers. I understand that the litigation plan provides for notice to the class members if the action is certified. I do not have the expertise to evaluate the legal aspects of the plan, but my lawyers have formulated this plan and I understand from them that it is designed to provide a workable method of determining the issues in this action. I understand from my lawyers and believe that the court has approved similar litigation plans in systemic/institutional negligence cases, such as the Huronia Regional Centre or the solitary confinement class actions in Ontario.

Common Issues

32. I have reviewed the proposed common issues for this certification motion. I am not aware of a conflict of interest between me and the proposed class members with respect to these common issues or any other issues in this case.

Costs of This Action

33. My lawyers have told me and I believe that they will fund all disbursements necessary to prosecute this class action to its conclusion.

34. I have been advised and believe that my lawyers are in the process of seeking an indemnity for me and the other representative plaintiffs against adverse costs awards.

35. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

AFFIDAVIT OF [redacted]

(sworn October 9, 2020)

I, [redacted] of the City of Cleveland, in the State of Ohio, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former professional hockey player living in Cleveland, Ohio. I was born on [redacted].

2. I played in the Ontario Hockey League ("OHL") between 2001 and 2005. I played for the Sarnia Sting and the London Knights.

DocuSign Envelope ID: 2A6FE8C3-19E5-49E9-B573-51F167F3F0B2

3. When I arrived in the OHL in 2001 to play for the Sarnia Sting, I was mistreated by the older players pretty much constantly. However, I only played 17 games that year, so I missed a good deal of it. We were called "pussies" and "faggots" and were bullied incessantly. I felt completely alone. I had nobody to report to. It was much different from what I was used to in Cleveland, where I'm from. I blew out my shoulder and I was relieved to go home to Cleveland for surgery, so that I did not have to endure any more bullying.

4. My first full year with Sarnia in 2002-2003 was much worse than the year before. There was nobody to go to complain. I was a highly rated prospect, I was drafted 6th overall into the OHL that year. I was not going to sacrifice my chance of playing in the NHL by reporting the abuse we suffered. I just endured it as best I could.

5. The Plaintiff in this case, Daniel Carcillo, was my teammate that year. Everything he has alleged in the statement of claim in this matter is true. I saw it all happening, and much of it happened to me.

6. The abuse in the shower was horrific. We had to sit naked with our genitals touching the person in front of us, moving back and forth singing "row row row your boat". I'm pretty sure the coach saw this going on.

7. I was placed in the "hot box" on the bus with 8 guys. We were all stripped naked before we were sent into the bus bathroom. I think I was in there for 45 minutes. I remember guys hyperventilating and panicking.

8. The player who was strapped to the table and was whipped with his own belt was shocking. When the coach came in and whipped him too, I couldn't believe my eyes.

9. I took a lot of heat for being American. I recall one time I disagreed with an older player when he was saying something negative about my country. I argued with him for a bit and we got into a bit of a pushing match, but we then let it slide. Later, I went out and someone had scratched "Burn America" on the hood of my truck in massive letters. It was a brand new truck. I told the coaches what had happened, but they just shrugged it off.

10. I remember another time, the head coach berated me for my play. I was obviously upset, so he went even harder. He called me a "little bitch pussy faggot" among other things. He told me to call my dad or my agent to complain. I had never been disrespected to such a level. This was happening after I had been physically and sexually abused by older players for months. After this, I called my dad and told him to bring me home. I actually went home for a little over a week – I thought I was done with hockey. Eventually, my dream of playing in the NHL overcame my fear and anxiety, and I returned to the team. The team told people that I was sick that week.

11. I never told my father the specifics of why I had to go home. I knew he would never let me go back, and that would mean never being drafted to play in the NHL.

12. I used to drive home to Cleveland all the time to get away from Sarnia. I'd drive 3.5 hours to Cleveland and 3.5 hours back just to be around my family, to get a break from what was going on. I needed a few hours of peace.

13. The coaches, the staff and others knew what was going on. Nothing was done to stop it. We were just kids, and they left us out to dry.

14. Today, I am very angry about what I went through. I was one of the top prospects in hockey when I got there. While I was drafted into the NHL and played a number of seasons, I think the psychological effects of the hazing really affected my game. I think it put set development back.

15. I am still dealing with the abuse we all suffered that year. I never told my parents everything that happened, and I never told anyone else. When I read about this lawsuit in the news, I realized that I had to come forward with my story. What happened to us was wrong and I never want it to happen to kids in Major Junior Hockey ever again.

16. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

AFFIDAVIT OF GARRETT TAYLOR

(affirmed November 23, 2020)

I, Garrett Taylor, of the City of Encinitas, in the State of California in the United States of America, MAKE OATH AND SAY

1. I am a former hockey player living in California. I was born on May 13, 1991.

2. I played in the Western Hockey League ("WHL") for approximately two years, from 2008-2010. I played for the Lethbridge Hurricanes and the Prince Albert Raiders.

3. I endured what I would describe as a "toxic environment" during my time in the WHL. When I returned home to California, I was a changed person. I had to be hospitalized for mental health issues following my time in the WHL. I believe it was a direct result of traumas I suffered while playing in the WHL.

4. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

Lethbridge Hurricanes

5. In 2008, when I was 17 years old, I moved from Southern California to Lethbridge, Alberta to play in the WHL. It was my first time being so far from home. I was extremely excited to be moving to the mecca of hockey to play in the world's premiere development league. I had dreams to play in the National Hockey League. As soon as I arrived, I realized that I had not anticipated the type of culture that awaited me. When I first met the coaching staff and reached out to shake their hands, they would not shake my hand. They would not make eye contact or greet me. I felt completely invisible to the adults and that I didn't matter.

6. In that first year, I was berated or insulted by the older players and coaches almost every day. For example, another player and I were singled out for being American. We were told to go back to our country. They tried to make us feel bad about our government and our culture.

7. The older players and coaches used words like "faggots", "bitches" or "pussies". I heard these types of words every day. I heard these words on the ice, off the ice, in the locker room and/or socially. This language was completely normal. These words were used toward rookies, not the higher-ranking older players. You couldn't get away with calling the veteran captain these types of words. Those players were untouchable.

8. Being berated all the time made me feel small, that I didn't belong. I felt nobody wanted me there. I felt completely alone.

9. I remember people saying the word "nigger". I remember one of the older players turning off some rap music that we were playing in the locker room. He turned the music off and called it "nigger music"; he called it trash. I remember the older player saying that Tiger Woods was the only "normal" black person and that everyone else was a "nigger". I found that language shocking. This was not the only time I heard that word, it was used regularly. For example, I remember a black player on another team being repeatedly referred to as a "nigger". I felt terrible for that player, I can't imagine what he must have gone through playing in the WHL.

10. Early on that year, the older players made the rookies dress up in womens' clothing to wear to the rookie party. Veteran players organized the party, picked the location and invited girls to the party. I was told that the same thing had gone on with the rookies in the previous year and I even saw photos of it.

11. At the rookie party, one by one, the rookies were called upstairs to the second floor. We had to take shots of vodka one after the next. We were also drinking large amounts of beer and other liquor throughout the evening. I was drunker than I had ever been. I was not used to alcohol; it was one of my first experiences drinking. I did not feel entirely comfortable with it, but I felt I had to take part as I wanted to fit in. All of the other rookies were required to do the same thing.

12. I recall some players driving home drunk from the rookie party.

13. The adults on the team knew about the drinking. I saw the coach give a credit card to the team captain to buy alcohol for the rookie party (the team captain was old enough to buy alcohol in Alberta). The next day, the trainer made us take part in a "bag skate" (which is a strenuous training drill) to sweat the alcohol out. This was part of the culture.

14. I was directed by team staff to fight teammates in practice three times in my first year with the Hurricanes. The first time, I couldn't do it. The coach told me who to fight, but I refused to take part. I felt that the coach held it against me. He made it clear to me he was disappointed. The next time, the coach directed me to fight the other American player, who was my friend. The coaches liked it. They said it gave the team a "jolt". This fight took place during the playoffs, and the coaches were looking for ways to motivate us. I was told that I was not playing in the next game so it felt to me like I was sent to fight as a disposable part of the team. I'm pretty sure I was concussed during this fight, but I was never diagnosed. I remember the coaches had grins on their faces while they watched us fight.

15. I would describe the culture in the WHL as being like a "gangster lifestyle" you would see in the movies. The adults running the teams and league acted like thugs in suits. The culture is broken. When they're talking to your parents, they act polite and describe how they will assist in making a fine young man out of you. Once you sign your contract and arrive to play, you realize it's a professional business and they look out for their bottom line and not you. I felt alone and that nobody cared about my wellbeing at all.

16. After a short while in this culture, I felt had no choice but to become a thug too. I became a product of my environment and became an agitator and a fighter. I was directed to fight in practice and during games. It changed my attitude and I became confrontational in my everyday life.

17. One particular event stayed with me. It was when I was cut from the Lethbridge Hurricanes in my second year there. I received what is known as the "garbage bag treatment". This is when a player is cut from the team in the most demeaning way possible. The player is not allowed to keep the team hockey bag, which carries the logo of the team, so they are told to collect their belongings in a garbage bag. This term was well known throughout my time in the WHL.

18. All players live in fear of being cut, or of having reduced ice time, so they do as they are told. The fear of the "garbage bag treatment" is always present. It is used as a constant reminder of the power imbalance between the players and the adults running the teams and league.

DocuSign Envelope ID: CA39E8B2-F669-411F-AD57-B9498F6F8224

19. I received the "garbage bag treatment" in front of all of my teammates. We were getting ready to leave for a road trip and we were sitting on the bus. We were 20 minutes late leaving and the General Manager called me off the bus and said to me "get your shit and get out of here". They had to unload the entire bus of luggage so they could get my bag off. The coaches were getting agitated as it was taking too long. I remember the entire bus watching me while I cried uncontrollably. I was left in the rink parking lot and watched the bus as it drove off. This was the most humiliated I had ever felt. I believe I was being used as an example for the other players. I remember standing there completely confused about what had just happened.

20. When they cut me, they did not call my family or my agent. My mother found out from my American teammate, who texted his parents from the bus while he watched me crying on the side of the road. His parents called my mother to tell her what had happened. When I arrived back at my billet family's house to collect my belongings, they had not been told either. I remember my billet mother also crying she felt so bad about what had happened.

21. This experience was traumatic for me. I had a complete mental breakdown after that. I had given my life to hockey and endured over a year of abuse. Then, I was just treated like nothing in front of my peers. I cannot imagine a more humiliating experience.

22. I heard about many other players receiving the garbage bag treatment in various different humiliating ways in Lethbridge and on other WHL teams. It was a well-known tradition throughout the WHL. Players were also referred to as "suitcases" if they were traded or moved numerous times. You did not want to be known as a suitcase.

23. Later that year (in 2009/2010), I played for the Prince Albert Raiders of the WHL after spending some time in Canmore, Alberta, playing for a lower-tier team. I saw the same sorts of bullying and verbal harassment I saw in Lethbridge. However, I arrived later in the year after I believe most of the rookie hazing had already taken place. However, I saw the same toxic environment I saw in Lethbridge.

DocuSign Envelope ID: CA39E8B2-F669-411F-AD57-B9498F6F8224

24. After the trauma and abuse I suffered in Lethbridge, I wasn't able to play to the best of my abilities. I had anxiety attacks and couldn't function properly day to day. I watched my hockey dreams evaporate. I thought I wasn't tough enough to withstand the abuses, but I now realize that people who hold power over you and who control your destiny should never treat any person that way.

25. Having played for two teams and spoken with dozens of former WHL players, I cannot imagine how a WHL team could have a different culture from the ones I experienced. The "gangster" or "thug" outlook was present everywhere, from the adults in the league to the older players. Your opponents acted this way on the ice and off the ice, as your teammates. Playing in the WHL makes you into a different type of person, you are indoctrinated into the culture.

ACTING AS A REPRESENTATIVE PLAINTIFF

26. I am prepared to act as a representative plaintiff in this class action. I understand that as a representative plaintiff I would be obligated to direct this litigation and to act in the best interests of class members. For example, I understand that any settlement discussions with the defendant cannot relate only to my personal claim, but must relate to the claims of the class members as a whole.

27. My counsel in this litigation is Koskie Minsky LLP and the lawyers that I have been instructing include James Sayce and others at his firm.

28. James Sayce of Koskie Minsky LLP has explained the major steps in a class action. I understand these major steps include:

(a) issuing a statement of claim to commence the action, which was done in June, 2020;

(b) a motion for certification, which I understand involves the court's consideration of whether this action is appropriate to proceed as a class action;

DS

DocuSign Envelope ID: CA39E8B2-F669-411F-AD57-B9498F6F8224

(c) if the action is certified, there would be notice to the class of the certification and the right to opt-out (i.e. a chance for class members not to participate in the class action);

(d) the disclosure and exchange of relevant documents;

(e) examinations for discovery, where lawyers for the Defendants can ask me questions about my case and my lawyers can ask the Defendants' representatives questions;

(f) a pre-trial conference where a judge can help the parties towards a settlement of the case;

(g) a trial of the common issues (i.e. a trial that only deals with the certified common issues as opposed to the issues that are individual to me and other class members);

(h) notice to the class if individual hearings or participation is required;

(i) the determination of individual issues, if required;

(j) the distribution of proceeds (if any) of a money award by judgment or settlement;

(k) appeals, which might include appeals from the certification motion, other motions or the trial of the common issues; and,

(l) settlement discussions, which could happen at any time.

29. I understand that as a representative plaintiff, I would have, among others, the following responsibilities:

(a) review and keep myself informed of all steps in this litigation;

(b) familiarize myself with the issues to be decided at the common issues stage and other issues in the action;

DocuSign Envelope ID: CA39E8B2-F669-411F-AD57-B9498F6F8224

(c) review amendments to the statement of claim and the other pleadings in the action;

(d) help prepare the affidavits and other materials in support of certification, other motions and the materials that would be used at a common issues trial;

(e) attend any cross-examination on my affidavits or otherwise;

(f) attend the examinations for discovery and answer questions from the Defendants' lawyers;

(g) assist in preparing and executing an affidavit of documents, which will list all the documents that I have or could get that relate to this case;

(h) attend at the common issues trial, provide any direction or help to the lawyers and give evidence regarding the case;

(i) express my views and direct my lawyers about strategy and how the litigation should proceed; and,

(j) assist in preparing materials in support of a court approving any settlement and providing assistance with the implementation of any settlement and claims process.

30. I appreciate the importance of my participation in this litigation.

31. I expect to play an active role in this litigation, including the review of court materials and instructing my lawyers. I have been doing this for the past several months now. I also expect to assist with communication with class members, including receiving their input about this litigation.

32. I believe that I can fairly and adequately represent the interests of class members and I am committed to fulfilling my obligations as their representative.

Litigation Plan

DS GT

DocuSign Envelope ID: CA39E8B2-F669-411F-AD57-B9498F6F8224

33. I have reviewed the draft litigation plan, which I understand will be attached to a separate affidavit of one of my lawyers. I understand that the litigation plan provides for notice to the class members if the action is certified. I do not have the expertise to evaluate the legal aspects of the plan, but my lawyers have formulated this plan and I understand from them that it is designed to provide a workable method of determining the issues in this action. I understand from my lawyers and believe that the court has approved similar litigation plans in systemic/institutional negligence cases, such as the Huronia Regional Centre or the solitary confinement class actions in Ontario.

Common Issues

34. I have reviewed the proposed common issues for this certification motion. I am not aware of a conflict of interest between me and the proposed class members with respect to these common issues or any other issues in this case.

Costs of This Action

35. My lawyers have told me and I believe that they will fund all disbursements necessary to prosecute this class action to its conclusion.

36. I have been advised and believe that my lawyers are in the process of seeking an indemnity for me and the other representative plaintiffs against adverse costs awards.

37. I swear this affidavit in support of the certification of this matter as a class proceeding and for no other or improper purpose.

I am Dr. jay johnson, a Professor at the University of Manitoba. I have been recognized in my academic field over the past 25 years as an expert in the area of sport hazing, initiations and rites of passage. I have been retained by the law firm of Koskie Minsky LLP to prepare this report in support of the certification motion in the Carcillo et. al. v. Canadian Hockey League et. al. matter. My CV is attached to the end of this report.

I have been asked to rely on my experience, including my own academic and field research, in preparing an objective expert report on the subject of hazing and other physical and psychological abuse in the Canadian Hockey League, Ontario Hockey League, Western Hockey League, and Quebec Major Junior Hockey League (collectively the "Leagues"), hereinafter referred to as "Canadian Major Junior Hockey". In particular, I was asked to opine on whether there are any systemic issues relating to the culture in Canadian Major Junior Hockey and if so, whether particular incidences of hazing or other abuse can be expected to have taken place across teams and Leagues. Koskie Minsky LLP provided me with a copy of the statement of claim in this matter, however, I have not reviewed any evidence filed by counsel.

In short, I believe that systemic issues exist throughout Canadian Major Junior Hockey, which result in a wide array of abuses that are perpetrated on rookie players. There are traditions, cultures and rituals that are practiced are common across teams and the Leagues and have been taking place for decades in Canadian Major Junior Hockey.

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

I will commence this report by defining hazing, both within sport and in other settings where it takes place, such as on university campuses. I will provide the academic treatment on the subject of hazing generally, which provides a high-level framework for why it often takes place. Then, I will focus on hockey hazing and abuse in the Canadian Major Junior Leagues.

I was assisted in the drafting of this report by Dr. Margery Holman Professor Emerita at the University of Windsor. She and I have worked together in the research and study of sports culture abuse and hazing for over twenty years.

My Experience in Studying Hazing and Abuse in Sport

I have conducted a number of qualitative and quantitative studies on the subject of hazing and abuse in Canadian sport. Since the early 2000s, I have engaged in extensive field research, which includes many hundreds or thousands of interviews and gathering of other data from athletes in Canada. This research has spanned different sports and different sporting environments, including university-level (the Canadian Interuniversity Sport or U Sports members), and Canadian Major Junior Hockey, among other organizations. In particular, I have interviewed many dozens of former Canadian Major Junior Hockey players about their experiences with hazing and abuse in the Canadian Hockey League. I have published a good deal of this research in peer-reviewed journals and through major academic publishers. The bulk of the peer reviewed research that forms the backbone of this report was conducted by me and my research partner Dr. Holman and also draws on additional peer reviewed studies and research of our contemporaries in academia (identified throughout (Holman & johnson, 2015; johnson, 2000, 2006, 2009, 2011; johnson, Holman, Chin, Guerrero, & Signer, 2018; johnson & Holman, 2004; johnson, Holman, & Havey, 2019; johnson & Chin, 2015). This has served to inform my views set out in this report.

Hazing Introduction

By definition, hazing is "any activity expected of someone joining a group that humiliates, degrades, abuses, or endangers, regardless of a person's willingness to participate" (Hoover, 1999, p. 8). In terms of the academic literature, research investigating the prevalence of hazing in Canadian athletics is scarce. In fact, most of the research on hazing and athletes has been conducted in the United States (for example, Allan & Madden, 2012; Campo, Poulos, & Sipple, 2005; Hoover, 1999).

Hazing has been found to be associated with numerous physical and psychological risks. Victims of hazing have suffered from various physical injuries including burns, alcohol intoxication-related injury, chest trauma, sexual trauma, organ damage, and in more severe cases, have died from injuries endured during hazing behaviours (Finkel, 2002; LaFerney, 2016). Psychological consequences of hazing have been noted, such as emotional distress, difficulty sleeping and concentrating, loss of appetite, low self-esteem, poor academic performance (Nuwer, 1999), depression, and loneliness (Lodewijkx & Syroit, 2001). Despite these negative consequences, athletes continue to engage in hazing behaviours.

One of the purposes of hazing is to maintain and reinforce the veteran-rookie hierarchy whereby veterans hold the most power and rookies hold the least (Holman, 2004). By accepting and participating in hazing practices, rookies acknowledge and confirm veterans as the holders of power. Moreover, rookies who engage in hazing practices do so in order to demonstrate their unwavering commitment and dedication to the team, and to display their willingness to conform to team traditions (Waldron & Kowalski, 2009). Refusing to comply with hazing practices threatens acceptance by teammates and can lead to ostracism, alienation, and shame (Waldron & Kowalski, 2009). In fact, some athletes who avoid hazing practices are likely to experience greater humiliation and isolation (Holman, 2004; Waldron & Kowalski, 2009). Beyond preserving the hierarchical structure of a sport team, additional reasons for the existence of hazing include the notion that it will develop group solidarity (Cimino, 2011), camaraderie and respect among group members (Taylor, 2001), and team bonding and togetherness (Van Raalte, Cornelius, Linder, & Brewer, 2007).

A. Hazing and Alcohol Use

Alcohol is often used to enhance social experiences, notably at sport contests when fans and spectators have a few drinks to enjoy "cutting loose," "letting go," and being "off the leash" (Palmer, 2014). Athletes similarly enjoy the perceived pleasure and social aspect of drinking when gathering outside of practice and games (Lisha et al., 2014; Zhou et al., 2014). Further, some athletes and teams use alcohol to promote team unity and cohesiveness (Green et al., 2014). As long as the participants are of legal drinking age, one can have "a balanced perspective of the involvement of alcohol on our social and psychological experiences," considering that "alcohol consumption is not just a product of sporting involvement, but perhaps a channel through which the culture and values of being a sportsperson are epitomized, and psychosocial benefits are fostered" (Zhou et al., 2014, p.288).

Though athletes may derive social enjoyment when drinking with teammates in various (sport and non-sport) contexts, when taken to an extreme, drinking among teammates has led to tragic outcomes tied to alcohol abuse and misuse. Green et al. (2014) found that students who participated in college sport were associated with the highest percentage of binge drinking; this was the case for both male and female student-athletes.

Though athletes have a wide range of reasons for participating in sport hazing activities, research in this area indicates that most athletes, to various degrees of complicity, participate in team hazing activities to prove themselves as a committed team member, preserve team history and culture, and build trust through adversity (Johnson, 2011; Waldron, 2015). Also, despite an abundance of research presenting findings to the contrary, athletes commonly cite strengthening team bonds and cohesion as justification for hazing (Van Raalte et al., 2007). Though teamwork, camaraderie, and team bonding may be among a sport team's top priorities, many teams are entrenched in ideas of exceptionalism, individualism, and hierarchal power relations that are often, but not always, based on team seniority (Johnson, 2011; Johnson & Chin, 2016). Heavy drinking is common in hazing rituals where power relations are reinforced and defined through veteran–rookie relationships; instilling a sense of subservience in new members who learn the hierarchal power structure as they go through the team rituals (Holman, 2004; Waldron, 2015). Consequently, the initiation ceremony explicitly defines the role of the first-year athletes in the community and enforces the rules of membership. Through time and sustained cultural and social practices, alcohol has thus come to play a central role in hazing.

B. Toxic Masculinity and the Culture of Sport

The theoretical underpinnings which accompany hazing traditions include the culture of masculinity, which is described as one of the main constructs of initiation ceremonies, designed to test a participant's fortitude, desire and strength. Masculinist designs and demands of teams accentuate and reinforce male privilege structured within a hierarchical gender dichotomy, which favours certain masculinities while marginalizing women as well less desired masculinities.

The prevailing literature on masculinity (Connell, 2003; Kimmel, 1992; MacDonald, 2014; Pronger, 1999; Young & White, 2000) describes a social hierarchy of multiple masculinities which privileges men and marginalizes women and subordinate masculinities including homosexual men. It is contended that the masculine identity in sport is continually being shaped to achieve the desired level of masculinity (Bremner, 2002; Messner, 1990), one which usually accentuates the male body, sexual prowess, physical toughness and domination and a clear disdain toward women and homosexuals.

The intersections of masculinity and hazing illustrate how the rigors embedded within the hazing and abuse ceremonies function as an active site to reinforce, reproduce and establish the cultural demands of a masculine identity. These include an armour of toughness, a heteronormativity, and a desire to exhibit and express these canons.

However, oftentimes the contradictory notion of the eschewing of all homosexual connotations, usually auspiciously displayed in an ethos of homophobia, coexists with overtly homoerotic rites of passages as a part of their hazing rituals. The initiation ceremony, for male teams, can be a paradoxical site that both establishes and reinforces a clearly defined heterosexual identity yet achieves this through homoerotic and sexualized practices demanded of novitiates. This effectively subjugates women and other marginalized masculinities which, for the most part, are established as unacceptable in the subculture of male teams (Bremner, 2002; Young & White, 2000).

Perhaps for some within a homophobic environment, the fear of being confronted by gay issues is the motivating factor to punish others, in this case the initiates. It creates an environment with distinct parameters to be observed by the group. Often times, the initiates resist here because it is a site to test their masculinity, to test their mettle and to have that identity affirmed as well (Bremner, 2002). It is a power-laden hierarchy with clearly designated paths of ascendancy.

A society that is embedded with a subculture of toxic masculinity — along with its core of dominance, control, and violence over those who are not masculine — fosters an unhealthy environment (Breger, 2018). Toxic masculinity has been described as a particular kind of exaggerated masculinity; it is defined as socially-constructed attitudes that depict the masculine gender role as violent, unemotional, sexually aggressive, and so forth (Buchanan, 2012; Martin, 2016), characterized by traits of "misogyny, homophobia, greed, and violent domination" (Kupers, 2005, p. 716). When a culture tolerates toxic masculinity, the natural consequences flowing from the toxicity include gender-based exclusion and risk of sexual violence. The term toxic masculinity has been closely connected to the concept of hyper-masculinity (Ibid, 2005), where stereotypical masculine behaviour, such as physical strength, aggression, and sexuality are exaggerated. With toxic masculinity, however, these characteristics are no longer just exaggerated, but injurious. When toxic masculinity becomes embedded within a society or subculture, the institutionalized encouragement of "male" characteristics and masculinity prevails, stigmatizing and demeaning those things that are seen as culturally "female" or feminine. This also connects to the concept of hegemonic masculinity, a term which encompasses the traits that describe the dominant paradigm of so-called “real men” in modern culture (Kupers, 2005). There are two prongs that make up hegemonic masculinity: (1) domination over women, and (2) the hierarchy of dominance between men in society. Countless examples of exclusion, barriers, misogyny, and abuse expose the toxic masculinity that is embedded within the sport system demonstrated through hazing practices. Dismissing hazing as harmless banter primarily among ‘boys’ or as team bonding has contributed to the tolerance for and perpetuation of a toxic culture.

C. Hazing and Masculinity

Violent acts and derogatory language towards women are seen as normative in the competitive sport environment. These destructive attitudes concerning women are not only tolerated, but are often encouraged by coaches, players and management. Katz (1995) states that, “many of the men with whom we work, and men in our society in general, have been socialized to be passive bystanders in the face of sexist abuse and violence” (p.168). There are ample examples of male athletes who have taken this notion one step further in acknowledging, praising and sometimes rewarding individuals who display violent and sexist behaviour toward women, particularly during the initiation ceremony where this type of comportment is woven into the structure of the entry ritual and demanded and expected of the rookies. This conduct is particularly problematic in the case of Canadian Major Junior Hockey, as further described later in this report.

Initiation rites exemplify the ritualistic elements of hegemonic masculinity, mediated by the “officiant” (initiator), which young “initiates” (initiands) internalize in order to develop the desired characteristics which constitute the preferred hegemonic masculine identity endorsed by the institution (Sabo & Panepinto, 1990, p. 116). The other members of the group emphasize conformity to these types of behaviours, which become embedded in the social construction of the group's masculine identity. The more boys/men are fearful of being labelled as weak or feminine, the more likely they are to participate in hazing activities that are dangerous and even life-threatening. Accounts of hazing fatalities reveal that men are far more likely to die from hazing activities than are women in the context of participant numbers (Nuwer, 1999). Of more than sixty documented hazing deaths, only three have been women (Nuwer 1999, p. 237). In this perspective, establishing one's manhood can be fatal.

D. Purposes of Hazing

All organizations need new members to continue. Initiation reassures senior members that the new people value membership in the group (Nuwer, 1999, p. 34). These new affiliates are more likely than non-initiated members to keep the organization much like the senior members left it as they feel intricately enmeshed in the social fabric of the organization which goes to great lengths to educate new members about their crucial link to the historical roots of the group (Nuwer, 1999). Hazing tends to give the participants a feeling of commonality because they have gone through an experience together and survived. In this process however, hazing can be highly abusive behaviour that one endures to get to progress within the hierarchy of the organization.

E. Sport Subculture and Identity

A part of the large body of work on sport subcultures (e.g., Burstyn, 1999; Donnelly, 1985; Robinson, 1998) involves socialization into subcultures. Such socialization often involves establishing an identity as a member of a particular subculture, and having that identity confirmed by established members (Donnelly & Young, 1988). One of the ways in which team sport athletes have frequently had their identities confirmed is by successfully negotiating the rigours of the "Rookie Night" hazing ceremonies. Athletes who choose to take part in the initiation ceremony appear to do so of their own volition. However, the necessity of that choice is in direct correlation with their desire to belong to a new group and the power imbalance that exists. Nobody would choose to suffer the types of abuses that take place in Canadian Major Junior Hockey, however, the desire to be accepted onto the team, which is seen as a precondition to playing professional hockey, causes players to endure this abuse year after year.

Donnelly and Young (1988, p. 223-225) define subcultures as "small social structures within the larger dominant culture". In this domain, the group communes with shared values, clothing, attitudes, language, practices and ceremonies; it is these shared attributes which separate the subculture from culture (Donnelly & Young, 1988). When discussing subcultures, it is possible to categorize, for example, being a member of a Canadian Major Junior Hockey subculture, differentiated from the greater culture in that they develop and share common goals, experiences, equipment, language, use of the body, values, beliefs and rituals (Donnelly, 1985).

Membership within the Canadian Major Junior Hockey community extends beyond physical ability and athletic prowess (Donnelly & Young, 1988; Young, 1993). An athlete's acceptance within this culture can be facilitated or hindered by social factors stemming from his or her willingness to demonstrate loyalty and commitment to team-mates as well as the team. The greater the resistance to the desires of the team, the more difficult the transition will be into the Canadian Major Junior Hockey community.

F. Team Cohesion (Bonding)

Many members within team sport cultures share the belief that hazing equates to cohesion which in turn fosters success. As Donnelly and Young (1988) contend, acceptance is contingent on various conditions, many of which are in place to create a sense of cohesion. Group cohesion is described as "the dynamic process which is reflected in the tendency for a group to stick together and remain united in the pursuit of goals and objectives" (Carron, 1982, p. 124). The basis of group cohesion stems from the idea that a group of individuals working together is far more effective than the same individuals working independently, and it has also been established that members of cohesive teams enjoy a certain attraction to one another (Fitchett, 1995). While the literature on cohesion does not deal specifically with the role of initiation into the team unit itself as a means of developing group cohesion, Widmeyer and Martens (1993) determined that cohesiveness is actively promoted by coaches through such practices as establishing athletic dormitories, common clothing that identifies the players as members of the team, social activities, communal goal setting and ritualistic activities, which would clearly include initiation ceremonies. Cohesion is an actively pursued characteristic by both players and coaches and often cited as an excuse for the continuation of initiation and hazing ceremonies (Johnson, 2000). The initiation ceremony is a time when all of the participants come together for a common purpose. Some players hold onto the belief that it is the initiation ceremony that gels the team and allows cohesion to occur. While some genuinely feel like they bonded with their team-mates, there still exists a subtext of "propaganda", where the neophytes are sold the idea by the veteran players that the initiation is a crucial event that will help the team's performance, and enhance the experience (Johnson 2011; Meyer & Wenger, 1998; Mulcahy, 1999). Cohesion, real or perceived (Carron, 1982), is one of the motivating factors for the continuation of the initiation ceremony.

G. Conformity and Hazing

There is a dynamic aspect to groups: peer pressure, mob antics, a need to appease the "vets", or to conform and cause the least number of ripples possible. This is the coercive pull of a hegemonic system, such as Canadian Major Junior Hockey, which allows the participant a sense of autonomy and choice, yet limits the routes they can take. The pull towards the intoxicating environment, one rich with power-laden overtones which is accessible to the neophyte, who need only endure the initiation is, for some, easy to justify.

The alluring draw towards the team culture can entice individual at times, compromise their integrity and free will, and lead them to enter into situations that under normal circumstances would seem corrupt and unethical (Marks, 2000; Robinson, 1998). Participation in the initiation ceremony is then justified and sold to the participants as a necessary transition for the good of the team, to forge strong bonds, to keep the tradition alive, to succeed. This is internalized and reproduced within the subculture (Winslow, 1999).

H. Hierarchy and Power

Various techniques are used to reinforce the power structure imbedded within the team. The hierarchical needs of the power-holders are established and reproduced throughout the initiation, educating the neophytes as to both their position within the system and their means by which to attain it (Holman, 1997; Sabo & Panepinto, 1990). This domination is maintained over the rookies through violence, forced menial labour, hierarchal seating and locker assignments, and initiations. During the hazing ceremony the novitiates are inducted into the cyclical nature of the system which bestows the rookies with the eventual means of becoming the initiator (Holman, 1997; Johnson, 2016).

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

The hierarchy is set by the veteran players as a means of control over the first year players. They exert this control through the expectation that the players will fulfill their prescribed "rookie duties." Although the tasks may vary from team to team, the basis of this system is to construct a tiered system that can only be negotiated through compliance and the unquestioning fulfilment of the ascribed responsibilities. The creation of this type of hierarchical structure is a crucial element of the initiation process, not only in terms of a rite of passage, but also as a means to convey to the neophytes their position within the structure of the team and the processes they must endure to achieve eventual power (Moss, 2001; Sabo & Panepinto, 1990). The veteran players use the initiation ceremony, often in violent ways, to establish a system of dominance, which favours senior players and demands the subservience of the neophyte. This represents a marked divergence from cultural initiations where the initiation is to mark entry into the culture, not to establish a system of dominance and submission.

I. Cycle of Initiation

The cyclical nature of the initiation is defined by those who endured the initiation as an initiand and then assumed the role of initiator. This is a frequently cited reason for the perpetuation of the ceremonies (Bryshun, 1997; Johnson, 2011). This cycle is one that often feeds on the need to "outdo", or to at least match the previous year's activities. It embeds in the psyche of those who have been initiated the desire to exert their power over the rookie contingent in subsequent seasons. The language describing the ceremonies is for the most part harsh and suggestive of an event which is not altogether pleasant or welcoming. Yet the need for most participants to become initiators allows the cycle to persist (Bryshun, 1997; Garfinkel, 1999). The belief is that suffering through a shared experience of hardship somehow pulls the team together and establishes an element of bonding amongst the group. In order to maintain this level of cohesion, it must be perpetuated from season to season.

II. The Culture of Hockey in Canada

The sport of hockey has traditionally been focused around exclusively masculine ideals of physical prowess, violence, intimidation, and fierce competition. Along with other contact sports such as football and rugby, the upholding of a hegemonic masculinity has remained a vital component of the hockey environment. "Organized contact and collision sports have emerged as an arena for men to define and express a type of masculinity based largely on physicality and domination of one's opponent, including the sanctioned use of aggression/force/violence" (Bryson as cited in Welch, 1997, p.392).

Hockey dominates the headlines of most sport sections in major newspapers across the country. "The game can be understood simply as part of the way Canadians live and make sense of their lives. Hockey's rhythms, meanings, structures, and contradictions can all be understood as a constitutive part of everyday Canadian experience" (Gruneau & Whitson, 1993, p.13). Junior and professional hockey players are revered for their skill, physical stature, and potential to become superstar athletes, recognizable around the world. These players are the focus of significant media attention and praised by passionate fans who place them on pedestals because of their specialized talents. Canada is a breeding ground for aspiring young hockey players who wish to pursue their dreams of playing professionally in a sport that is defined as the country's national symbol.

Players as young as the age of fifteen begin careers in major junior hockey in communities across Canada. These players are often required to leave home to pursue their dreams of establishing themselves as prospects for the professional ranks. At this stage they become focused on the ultimate goal of making it to the N.H.L. They enter an environment where the norms, values, and codes of conduct are often strikingly different from what most Canadian youths have been exposed to throughout their adolescent years.

A. Brief Summary of High-Profile Hockey Hazing Events

Canadian media began paying more attention to systemic abuse issues in hockey sometime in the late 1990s. Throughout the 2000s and 2010s, media stories continued to break with respect to abuse in Canadian hockey. This section shall outline a series of examples.

A 1996 Canadian documentary "Thin Ice" (The Fifth Estate), captured the attention of the sport community in its report of abuses in the Canadian Hockey League (CHL) and the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU, subsequently Canadian Interuniversity Sport – CIS and currently U Sports) hockey programs. This documentary conducted interviews with CHL players who described their experiences of abuse, hazing and the hyper-sexual environment within

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

Canadian Major Junior Hockey. CHL Commissioner David Branch was also interviewed in this documentary and notably recognized issues with hazing in the CHL.

In 1998, an extensive investigation and news coverage (Windsor Star) examined events that took place at a hazing party for the Kingsville Comets' Great Lakes Junior C hockey team. In this case it was alleged that the new members were forced to strip naked and run a gauntlet of their teammates while on a team chartered bus. No charges were laid (Windsor Star, May 5, 1998). This complaint came two years after the former Tilbury Hawks hockey team was disbanded following a hazing incident which ended in two convictions against a trainer and a team captain, for committing indecent acts on the players (Windsor Star, December 11, 1997).

These cases are representative of hazing in the 1990s. While there might be an argument that hockey players are more enlightened and that hazing is no longer commonplace, the following accounts do not support this premise. The University of Vermont (Lively, 2000) acted to cancel the remainder of their men's hockey season after Corey Latulippe, a first year goalie with the team, filed a civil lawsuit against the university. Latulippe was seeking justice for emotional damage and financial loss that he experienced after being hazed against his will by his former teammates. Former NHL player Ryan Johnson spoke out in 2002 as owning the distinction of having played hockey at every level of the game, from pee-wee to professional. He revealed that he was hazed at every stop (ESPN, 2002). Bowling Green University handed down sanctions to seven hockey players involved in a photo of a nude player whose body was covered with profanity (Associated Press, 2004), in spite of stating "no evidence of hazing was found."

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

More specifically in the context of Canadian Major Junior Hockey, in the fall of 2005, the Windsor Spitfires OHL team experienced internal turmoil as a result of a player's resistance to an alleged hazing ritual, challenging the traditions of the team's activities. In particular, one rookie player refused to take part in a ritual known as the "hot box", where he would be locked in a small bus bathroom, naked, with other players. A veteran player later cross-checked the rookie in the face at the arena as retaliation, which resulted in the two players fighting. The matter was caught on camera and the fallout from this particular case included the firing of the coach and the trading of the two key combatants in this situation, both highly skilled players (Duff, 2005; Parker, 2005).

Mr. Carcillo (a plaintiff in this case) and his teammates received significant media attention when they told their horrifying stories to the press in more recent years. Even this past summer, former Kitchener Rangers player Eric Guest told stories of being forced to strip naked and cross-dress, and forced cocaine consumption only a few years ago (Toronto Star, 2020). NHL star Nazem Kadri (a rare Muslim hockey player) revealed that he had been subjected to negative treatment on racial grounds while playing in the OHL in the late 2000s (London Free Press, 2020).

B. Junior Hockey as a Deviant Subculture

The notion of exclusive membership and the secretive world of Canadian Major Junior Hockey has enabled the sport to evolve into a subculture that operates under its own guidelines. Male dominated contact sports are often seen as existing outside the regulatory and moral frameworks which operate in other spheres of institutional life (Brackenridge, 1994). Free from influence and scrutiny of those who are not part of the select core of decision makers within the sport, Canadian Major Junior Hockey is controlled by former players and coaches who make up what may be commonly referred to as an “old boys club.” Many of the individuals who have the power to make decisions in Canadian Major Junior Hockey today have been socialized into a world dominated by male superiority and physicality, the sanctioned use of violence and aggression, and an overriding sense of male privilege which devalues anything associated with traditionally non masculine ideals.

The subcultural world of major junior hockey in Canada has often been profoundly paternalistic, which in turn has led to the development of an environment that has separated itself from mainstream values of everyday Canadian society (Gruneau & Whitson, 1993). These values are predominantly concerned with an encompassing foundation that promotes negative attitudes towards women, and hyper masculinity which privileges males and inferiorizes females.

Until recent years, scandals within the hockey community concerning sexual violence and inappropriate conduct have been seen as isolated incidents and handled within the confines of hockey circles. However, partially due to the stories of Sheldon Kennedy who suffered years of abuse from his former junior coach, and Jarret Reid who was convicted on several counts of assault against former girlfriends while playing junior hockey, media attention has shed light on a growing problem that seems to be prevalent in the sport of hockey, as well as other male dominated contact sports. I intend to discuss these issues in the context of the hockey environment, with the goal of further understanding why these attitudes have remained such an integral part of Canadian Major Junior Hockey.

C. Canadian Major Junior Hockey As "Total Institution"

This paragraph draws on the recent work of Fogel and Quinlan (2020) who examined sexualized hazing in Canada, citing Goffman's 1961 work on "Total Institutions". This work also parallels van Gennep's (1960) anthropological concept of communitas and more recently Johnson's 2011 study of the impact of hazing on the transition of first year athletes onto varsity teams. In short, it is the opinion of these authors (and ours) that Canadian Major Junior Hockey is akin to a "Total Institution", as described by Goffman.

Goffman, whose work drew on observations and research conducted within mental institutions in the United States, theorized that such institutions stripped individuals of their sense of identity and autonomy and are reconstituted within a specific set of parameters to service the goals, aims and directives of the institution within which they are housed (Goffman, 1961). Goffman describes the characteristics as follows. First the preponderance of activities are undertaken by all of the members within the institution, which have been predetermined and directed by a governing body who oversee the collective. Second, these common activities that all within the institution must complete are scheduled and take place under the watchful guidance of the smaller governing body that both sets and scrutinizes the events. The compilation of daily, weekly and monthly activities are designed as pieces of a larger puzzle that fit together to serve the larger directive of the governing body. Lastly, the puzzle forms a singular picture that is designed solely to instill the directive of the institution itself (Fogel & Quinlan, citing 2020).

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

Goffman expanded and applied his theoretical concept of the Total Institution beyond the Mental Health Institutions that formed the basis of his study and which embody similar structures and behaviours, to include prisons, the military, paramilitary organizations such as police and fire fighters, and boarding and private schools. In Canada, the concept of the Total Institution is also reflected in the structure, legacy and scars of intergenerational trauma of the Residential School system which forced the internment of First Nations Peoples in a bid to eradicate Indigenous language, culture and ceremony across the country, the last of which was shuttered in 1996. Lastly, and most prescient to this paper is the reflection of sport as a total Institution and more specifically the CHL.

Goffman's concept of the Total Institution applies to the institution of hockey at the Major Junior level in the CHL. All of the indicia are evident in the day to day rigour of the athletes as they are scheduled and tightly controlled by a small group of overseers-coaches, managers and owners who dictate their common daily program all towards the institutional goal of producing a winning team and drafting the largest number of players into the professional ranks (Johnson, 2009, 2011). Even within the subculture of the team, the veteran or senior players are imbued with power and authority over the rookies or first year players to regulate their behaviour with an eye towards conforming to the desired structure of the institution. This is particularly relevant with regards to the hazing ceremony where athletes are stripped of their identity and forced to do certain acts in a bid to "resocialize" them to the desires, contours, structure and expectations of the group (Johnson, 2011). This is also germane beyond the scope of any one Major Junior hockey team as for decades there have been shared narratives of common experiences and structures across the CHL, particularly with regards to the way many of the teams conducted their hazing ceremonies, including but not limited to the sweat or hot box, the elephant walk, sexualized hazing and nudity. It is perhaps an obvious statement that the Canadian Hockey League has, and continues to operate as what Goffman (1961) describes as a Total Institution.

D. Hazing and Abuse in Canadian Major Junior Hockey

Hazing and abuse have particularly central roles in Canadian Major Junior Hockey. Through the interviews, questionnaires and other research I have conducted, I have heard the same stories regarding the same explicit rituals time and time again. Hazing and abuse are engrained in this culture. Both the intense severity of the abuse and the commonality of the practices are particular to junior hockey in the CHL. The same types of rituals are practiced across Canada from Halifax to Quebec City to Vancouver Island over years and decades. I have heard the same accounts from former Ontario Hockey League, Western Hockey League and Quebec Major Junior Hockey League players.

In particular, and only by way of example, I have heard accounts of the following practices from players over and over again in conducting my research:

- "sweat box" or "hot box" where players are stripped naked and are crowded into a bus bathroom together for lengthy periods of time;
- "elephant walk" where players are paraded around an area in a line while holding the genitals of the player in front of them (sometimes involving marshmallows inserted into anuses and the forced consumption of the marshmallows);
- forced sexual penetration or sodomy with hockey sticks or other objects, often covered in cooling liniment;

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

- forced masturbation and forced consumption of semen;
- public nudity;
- forced shaving of pubic and other hair;
- coerced drinking games to the point of vomiting;
- cross-dressing, stripteases and other homoerotic conduct; and,
- reinforced heterosexuality, with shared stories of sexual conquests, sexual aggression and lack of female consent.

Based on my research, the average Canadian Major Junior Hockey player would have to be very lucky to avoid any of the above hazing rituals, or other types of abuse, after playing in these leagues.

E. Violence and Masculinity

The following section is a compilation of quotes of former hockey players (including junior hockey players) who were participants in research I have conducted over the years, and a particular narrative of a former WHL hockey player, who played in the mid-2000s who confidentially provided his experiences to me in a previous study.

Between myself and Dr. Holman, my research partner, we have interviewed and discussed hazing and abuse issues with many dozens of former major junior hockey players. We have also compiled quantitative data through anonymous reports. This section of the report is informed by these studies.

> "The moment I entered the locker room of my first junior hockey team, I began the process of what most first year players endure in order to become accepted as part of a team. I recall the atmosphere as being hostile toward new players who had not yet > proven themselves through means of violent and aggressive behaviour, and displays of physical domination. First year players who were supposedly leaving the comforting arms of their mothers for the first time in their lives (at the age of 15-16) were considered nothing more than mama's boys and "pussies." This was a man's world where everyone involved was constantly challenged and aiming to improve their status as a fearless, emotionless, and physically dominant presence amongst teammates and opponents. There were many handshakes, but few sincere welcomes from players that I had hoped to become friends with." (WHL 1)

Due to the violent nature of hockey, players are constantly evaluating each other's physical and mental toughness, looking for weaknesses that often become apparent in a sport that has a level of physical confrontation beyond that of most others (Gruneau & Whitson, 1993). Players learn quickly that the faster one can display a remorseless, aggressive, "animal like" approach to the game, the quicker they will be accepted as part of the team. They learn that violence is not only the key to acceptance, it is a viable solution to many of the problems encountered on a daily basis. The following quote illustrates this point:

> "A Saskatoon Blades rookie was goaded by some of his teammates to use his size more aggressively, to "play angry." It wasn't part of his natural temperament; but when he did start to hit first and hit hard, his mates let him know they were proud of him. He knew, in turn, that he had taken an important step towards being one of the team and one of the guys: now he belonged" (WHL/U Sports 1).

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

"I personally encountered the same sort of ridicule from teammates and coaches who felt it necessary to question my masculinity. In the weeks leading up to the exhibition season of my first year in junior hockey, I recall several times asking the trainer of the team for a couple of new sticks because mine were getting worn out. I received nothing more than a snide glance which I interpreted as his way of showing me that he had better things to do than respond to my requests. That evening, during an exhibition game, I was involved in a fight where I surprisingly knocked out one of the toughest players on the opposing team. The next morning there were six brand new sticks in my stall in the locker room. I quickly learned that violence and aggression were necessary in order to prove my masculinity, and the keys to gaining acceptance and respect."(OHL/U Sports 2)

"Another incident that occurred in my first year of professional hockey exemplifies how violence was seen as a means of establishing respect and admiration in the sport of hockey. In an exhibition game between the Edmonton Oilers and Winnipeg Jets, I was involved in a fight that occurred in the final minutes of the game. I recall being the aggressor in this altercation simply to prove to other players and coaches that I was willing to display my toughness and that I belonged on the team. The fight was meaningless and had no relevance to the game, other than the fact that I wanted to be noticed and respected. I landed several punches to the face of the other player resulting in him being cut for approximately 30 stitches above and below his eye. After the game, I was swarmed by players and coaches and congratulated for my actions. About an hour and a half had passed before I ventured out to the bus which was to transport the team to the airport. As I passed the dressing room of the opposing team, I noticed out of the corner of my eye that the player I had fought was still lying on the medical table being stitched by the team doctor. I empathized with him and realized that I could have just as easily been the one who suffered the injury and humiliation that he incurred." (NHL 1)

The emphasis on masculine ideals of physical domination, violence, and aggression are immediately instilled in young players as a means of elevating their status and dealing with problems that may ultimately carry over into other areas of the players lives.

F. Violence against Women

The locker room in junior hockey is a place filled with sexual tension as young men attempt to prove their masculinity through offensive and degrading language directed at women, as well as acts that dehumanize women and devalue anything related to feminine qualities. "It is the mixture of violence with sexual imagery-in particular, the objectification of women-which combine to produce a powerful symbol of aggressive masculinity" (Messner & Sabo, 1990, p.38). The following personal example illustrates this point:

"I attended the first social gathering of the year in my inaugural season in the Western Hockey League. The party took place a one of the homes where two of the players lived with a local family during the season. There were massive amounts of alcohol and many local girls from different high schools in the area. Most players were very intoxicated and the party began to get rather rowdy and people dispersed throughout the entire house and yard area. I was standing in the kitchen beside a veteran player who I looked up to with admiration (he was a first round draft pick in the NHL and a respected team leader) and a couple of girls that I had met earlier on in the evening. One of the girls had > happened to be friends with my sister and we engaged in small talk for a while. One left to go to the washroom and the other moved into an adjacent room. I looked over at my teammate and noticed he was urinating into the girls' half-empty beer bottle. He did this with a big smile on his face, only to be further delighted when she returned and proceeded to drink out of it again. Later on that evening, I noticed out of the corner of my eye that the same teammate and girl were engaged in some sort of argument. As I continued to observe, my teammate struck the girl in the head and knocked her to the ground. The girl picked herself up and left the party in tears. Nothing was said and no repercussions followed as a result of this incident." (WHL 1)

Scenes like the previous example are all too common in hockey circles. Women are often seen as inhumane objects ("pieces of meat") whose duties are to satisfy players sexually and elevate their masculine status among teammates who view such conquests as a competition, much similar to the competition that takes place within the sport. The shaping of these attitudes becomes significantly reinforced when role models that display these sorts of violent behaviors are looked upon as successful and admired for their athletic achievements.

Violent acts and derogatory language towards women are seen as normative in Canadian Major Junior Hockey. These destructive attitudes concerning women are not only tolerated, but are often encouraged by coaches, players, and management. Players often take this notion one step further in acknowledging, praising, and sometimes rewarding individuals who display violent and sexist behavior toward women. Another comment from a junior hockey player further outlines this.

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

"I attended a local high-school during my first year of junior hockey. Most players received a great deal of attention and admiration from fellow students and teachers because of their high profile image in the community. Girls were especially attracted to hockey players, and the opportunity to meet and socialize with females was ever present. As one of only a few members of the team attending school at the time, it was my duty to recruit potential "party girls" and invite them to team gatherings. The greater the number of girls I recruited to these social events, the more I was accepted and befriended by fellow teammates (especially if it resulted in some form of sexual activity for one of my mates). I was partly responsible for bringing several young girls into this environment, often resulting in devastating consequences. Gang sex (sometimes as many as ten to fifteen players with one female) and violent behaviour, were very much a part of these team gatherings. At the time, I felt a sense of pride and accomplishment because I was receiving the much desired praise and admiration of my elder teammates." (OHL 2)

G. Male Bonding

The focus on commitment and dedication toward the game of hockey at the junior level requires athletes to become solely devoted to the sport. Travel schedules, practice sessions, and even off-season training programs take up the majority of these athletes' time. Players are adopted into their new families (the teams) when they become part of a Canadian Major Junior Hockey organization. The fraternal bonding that takes place in this environment is surprisingly strong due to the fact that this bond between players lacks any significant emotional element. "The fraternal bond is usually considered to be a force, link, or affectionate tie that unites men. It is characterized in the literature by low levels of disclosure and intimacy" (Curry, 1991, p.120).

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

Messner (1992) states that competitive activities such as sport mediate men's relationships with each other in ways that allow them to develop a powerful bond while at the same time preventing the development of intimacy.

Male bonding is strengthened through the justification of male superiority, and a sense of privilege of being one of the select few to advance to this level of competitive hockey. Many of the activities around which men bond are negative toward women and others who are perceived as outsiders to the fraternal group (Curry, 1991). There is a deep-seeded level of narcissism and arrogance present in many players in junior hockey because of the attention and praise they receive from an adoring Canadian public. This attention fosters a sense of privilege and superiority that becomes normative to most individuals and the exclusive bond that hockey players share can often lead to destructive attitudes and behaviour, especially toward women. The degradation, humiliation, and abuse of women are the focal points of the male bonding process in junior hockey. Kane and Disch (1993) state that many studies focused on sexual violence against women intimately link the process of male bonding to forms of gang rape and sexual misconduct. "This appears to be particularly applicable to team sports where physical violence and aggression are central to the sport experience for males" (Kane & Disch, 1993, p.335). Gang sex, where multiple players engage in sexual intercourse with one female, has been widely reported to me in my studies.

The term "whore-show" is common among players throughout the major junior hockey system in Canada. This is a term used to describe a sexual encounter involving one female and several members of the same team. Women that take part in these events are referred to as "whore-show girls" and players who organize and orchestrate them are often praised and rewarded for their accomplishments. Due to the competitiveness and jealousy between teammates, these sexual events sometimes become violent and aggressive, leaving the women feeling scared, hurt, and alone to deal with these traumatic experiences.

"The men's locker room is enshrined in sports mythology as a bastion of privilege and a center of fraternal bonding" (Curry, 1991, p.119). Stories of sexual conquests and constant referencing to females as nothing more than sexual body parts dominate the topics of discussion in most locker rooms. Curry suggests that harassment and sexual misconduct may be intensified by the "pack mentality," the mirror image of the team loyalty, bonding, and team play coaches strive to achieve. As well, events that involve sexual violence which are seen as enhancing the male bond often involve several players at a time which serves to foster a sense of anonymity and enables players to readily deny accountability for their actions. Discriminatory attitudes and aggressive sexual behaviour are a central element of the male bonding process in junior hockey. The consequences from the implementation of these attitudes within the system are resulting in devastating consequences for many women, as well as players who continue to carry these beliefs with them long after their careers have ended.

H. Initiation Rituals

Initiation rituals are a major part of athletes' experiences in major junior hockey starting as young as the age of fifteen. These rituals are dominated by physical, emotional, and sexual abuse. Rookies are seen as worthless outsiders who are not worthy of respect. Until rookies have undergone this transformation process, they are ridiculed, harassed, and punished by veteran players who collectively take liberties on them.

Rookies who are about to undergo the initiation process are often labeled as "pussies", "faggots", and "mama's boys". This process is not unlike that described by anthropologists elsewhere, where generally speaking, these rituals are intended to separate boys from the psychological and social bonds to their mothers, and forge new bonds centered around men (Johnson, 2011). Highlighting the fact that women are seen as inferior and constantly degraded, one of the worst insults a player can receive from his peers is being referred to as a "pussy." This term is probably the most commonly used word in locker rooms, on the ice, and on the bus. Being referred to as a pussy by any member of an opposing team is often seen as automatic grounds for physical retaliation. Rookies are expected to accept their status as "pussies" among peers who have previously been through the initiation process. This constant reference to rookies (the lowest position possible in the hockey hierarchy) as pussies, reinforces the fact that women (and feminine ideals in general) are unworthy of respect in hockey circles. The following example, as described by a former Canadian Junior Hockey player, shows how the degradation of women and abuse of rookies plays a major role in the initiation process:

> "My closest personal friend and I were selected to the bantam AAA team in my hometown at the age of thirteen. Once the focus of conversation shifted toward the initiation ritual that was going to occur, we both became quite anxious and feared the ordeal. As I watched, my friend was overpowered by a number of veteran players, and his arms and legs were taped to two hockey sticks. Unable to move, the group of veterans took a bottle of liquid "heat" (a very powerful substance used to treat athletic injuries) > and shoved it in his rectum as he screamed in agony. They told him he was to lie there and "take it like a fucking broad." They also poked and prodded at his rectum with hockey sticks and other devices. As I watched in fear, he was then let go and forced into the shower where the painful effect of the liquid heat was known to intensify when in contact with water. He left the room in tears, and after a couple more weeks of verbal and emotional abuse, quit hockey, and to this day has never played the game again at an organized level." (OHL/ U Sports 3)

While this quote is taken from an experience in the level below the CHL, it emphasizes the fact that players are internalizing attitudes that are derogatory towards women during their early teen years, and the level of abuse during initiation rituals is often extremely dangerous and harmful. The emphasis on a lack of emotion, empathy, and compassion is seen as a sign of toughness in this hostile environment. These characteristics (mainly associated with feminine ideals) have no place within the fiercely competitive and hyper-masculine world of hockey.

Another common practice that frequently occurs during initiation rituals involves the rookies having to dress up in women's clothing. This is an example of another link between the underlying negative attitudes toward women and the initiation process. Here another former Canadian Major Junior Hockey player describes his experience.

> "During my first year in the WHL, all of the rookies were forced to dress up like women and perform skits in front of the coaches, players, and management. Throughout these performances we were sprayed with alcohol, spit on, and humiliated in front of the people we most wanted to impress. These acts were focused on the degradation of women > through explicit sexual acts and were aimed at mocking women in general. Many of the individuals who took part in these events were (and still are today) well respected individuals within the hockey community. Coaches and players laughed and encouraged this behaviour. This was seen as a normal part of the initiation ritual." (WHL 1)

The fact that rookies are dressed up in women's clothing shows how overtly negative attitudes toward women are central to the initiation process in male dominated organizations. Sexually degrading actions and language are the focus of these ritual performances, which reinforces the fact that women are no more deserving of respect than rookies in the hockey environment.

The public display of nudity plays a major role in initiation rituals in junior hockey. The male striptease is seen as a ritual mocking of the female stripper, and exemplifies the notion of male privilege and superiority (Johnson, 2000). It is common for most bus trips to involve some sort of public display of nudity, where rookies were forced to stand up at the front of the bus naked, fondle themselves, be locked naked in the washroom (called the sweatbox) do an elephant walk naked in a line holding the genitals of the player in front of them, and parade around for the sole purpose of entertaining players and coaches. The following example describes a "road trip" experience in major junior hockey:

> "As we left our home arena and embarked on a two week road trip to the eastern division of the WHL, within minutes the rookies were ordered to strip naked and pile into the bathroom at the back of the bus, which was barley large enough to accommodate one person. Once instructed, each player was to emerge from the bathroom and walk to the front of the bus. At this time, we were told to place our hands above our heads and not remove them from this position under any circumstances. We were then ordered to stand > adjacent to each veteran players' seat and allow them to strike our genitals with any object they wished. Coat-hangers, and rulers were the most popular items. Veteran players struck several rookies viciously, causing them to scream in anguish, and many were reduced to tears. During this lengthy ordeal, the coaches and management looked on and laughed at the events. Several rookies were injured, suffering welts, abrasions, and emotional trauma. I quietly endured this process, justifying it as a normal procedure that I had to go through in order to be accepted as one of the team." (WHL 1)

Many of the hazing and initiation rituals are physical and sexual assaults at the hands of the perpetrators. However, these practices are seen as normative and a necessary part of the initiation process.

Gang sex was also a focus of the male bonding and initiation process throughout a hockey player's career in Canadian Major Junior Hockey. It is seen as a prestigious accomplishment to become a member of the so called "whore-show club." These events were predominantly focused on the use of alcohol (excessive binge drinking was common at most team functions) and the goal was to encourage women to drink in order for them to become easy targets as sexual conquests.

> "Early on in my first year of junior hockey, a party took place at one of the homes of the boarding families. There was an apparatus known as a "bong" which consisted of a rubber garden hose attached to a funnel. Rookies were forced to drink alcohol through the bong until they vomited (which most everyone did). I had not had that much experience with alcohol (other than a few beers on the school soccer field in my > neighborhood), and I became quite ill after a few of the veterans thought it would be amusing to pour straight vodka into the bong while I took my turn. I eventually passed out in one of the bedrooms, and the next day the conversation in the locker room was focused on the previous night's events. Veteran players bragged about how they managed to coerce a female into having sex with 15 players (including the team trainer who was in his late thirties at the time). I was certain that serious repercussions would follow, however, nothing happened as a result of this incident." (OHL/ U Sports 4)

Several of the rookies who took part in this above-noted event were praised and congratulated for their accomplishment of being recognized as new members in the prestigious "whore-show club."

This reinforced the fact that women were seen as outsiders who were not deserving of respect, much like first year players who were forced to internalize these values in order to be accepted as part of the team. The male dominated world of hockey is producing athletes who may be successful in a sporting environment, but often suffer in other areas of life, especially their relationships with women.

I. Intimacy, Empathy, and Compassion

Contact sports based on physical domination and intimidation often prevent the development of intimate relationships between teammates. Friendships are based on activities that are external to individuals and can be described as "emotionally impoverished" (Messner, 1992). In the sport of hockey, players' relationships tend to be shallow because they are taught to be highly homophobic, emotionally inexpressive, and competitive “success objects”. This is due to the fact that these relationships were based on necessity and convenience, and were absent of any kind of emotional element because of the competitive and inexpressive environment. These friendships were also shallow because of the need for many men to sustain their firm “ego boundaries” and fragile masculine identities within the competitive world of contact sports.

A lack of empathy, which often characterizes relationships in contact sports, is seen as a positive trait in developing “machine like” athletes. Many of these athletes develop into egocentric, remorseless individuals who refuse to acknowledge the feelings and experiences of others. This is particularly applicable to the way many hockey players deal in their relationships with women. Violent and aggressive sexual behaviour occurs within the sport because players are taught to ignore the feelings of others.

> “At a recent discussion I attended on the topic of violence and sexual abuse in the sport of hockey, a few local junior hockey players were present and were eager to articulate their opinions on the subject. The focus of the conversation shifted toward the idea of “consent” and what constitutes sexual assault. I watched and listened as one of the players described his feelings about the issue of gang sex and consent. He used phrases such as; she wanted it, she never told us to stop, she was drunk, she never should have been there in the first place if she didn’t want it. I recall seeing and hearing a person that seemed incapable of empathy and refused to acknowledge the fact that a girl in this position was entitled to be treated as a human being, not an animal. His arrogance and lack of compassion gave me a sick feeling in my stomach, because I had once internalized the same values and beliefs that he displayed.” (OHL/ U Sports 4)

An emphasis on a lack of empathy in combination with sexually exploitative situations (which are very common in hockey circles) can potentially create an environment where sexual violence and aggression become normative among hockey players. Values such as empathy and compassion are seen as weaknesses in the sport of hockey.

> "During my final year of junior hockey I was involved in a game that became very violent and several fights occurred. A player on the opposing team (who I was later informed by one of his teammates, was instructed by his coach to antagonize me in order to provoke me to fight) took various liberties on me until I felt it was necessary to defend myself. I had been known to be somewhat of a "quiet" player, but I was well respected for my fighting ability throughout the league. We fought at center ice to the delight of the crowd, and when it was all over, I had broken the players jaw in two places, and completely collapsed his eye socket and cheekbone. Later that evening I went to the hospital to have my hand x-rayed and one of the nurses approached me with the x-rays of the player I had fought. She asked me how I could have possibly done this to this person, and my reply was that "he deserved it." That incident has bothered me ever since" (WHL 1)

The absence of these values in many hockey players may have an extremely detrimental impact on the way they deal with teammates and opponents. As well, their relationships with women may be hindered and become violent because of this socialization process that occurs in the world of male dominated contact sports.

J. The Culture of Silence in Major Junior Hockey

Hockey hazing continues to this day with management fully aware of its presence. I continue to hear accounts of hazing from players who played in recent years. For example, as researchers, Dr. Holman and I were approached by an OHL team in fall of 2011, anticipating that with the start of a new season, hazing activities were likely to occur in spite of their purported desire to curtail the practice. Following a meeting to design a research approach to achieve a better understanding that could assist with solutions and change, it was decided that in addition to player input, it was critical to secure the input of parents. A qualitative case study was developed along with survey instruments and ethics approval. We distributed the surveys to the players on the team. Unfortunately, there were no results to be found as the few surveys that were returned had only strokes through each page of questions. The only actual response we received had one statement: "if I answer any of these questions I would have to kill you!" This speaks volumes of the commitment to the tradition and the silence that surrounds the practice. Shortly after this type of feedback was delivered to us via the team, they severed all communication and ultimately the relationship with the researchers.

Understanding sport culture helps to explain why survivors of hazing typically support the organizational structure both administratively and within the hockey hierarchy, both which have contributed to creating the culture that makes hazing seem normal and acceptable. For players, it is easier to endorse the organization that has contributed to the creation of a culture where they are vulnerable, especially if membership is still a desired outcome.

DocuSign Envelope ID: D3D52F47-A5AC-48B6-9D21-93D45529F2F8

I understand that the OHL, QMJHL and WHL currently have "zero-tolerance" policies for hazing, and have had such policies for at least the past several years. I do not have access to these policies, however, I have concerns regarding their effectiveness given the ubiquity of hazing to this day and the closed culture that surrounds major junior hockey. I understand that I may be provided these documents later in this litigation. I will be able to provide a full analysis regarding the usefulness of these policies at that time.

K. Examining the Culture of Hockey Hazing

The hazing ritual has become a normalized practice in Canadian Major Junior Hockey that resists pressure to change. Its role is hard to challenge or even to see as open to challenge. It is unlikely that people, mostly men, suddenly started as adults to harass and abuse others without approval from various social messages. It is more likely that it is a concept that has grown in athletes from a very young age as they are stripped of their personal autonomy and socialized to conform to the norms of the hockey culture. “Norms of hockey are ingrained into youth from an early age and can be a foundational way in which young men are socialized” (MacDonald, 2014). Further, traditional male sport subcultures tend to place a considerable amount of pressure upon participants to conform to masculinist values and beliefs. Hazing is one of the processes by which this is achieved. Players learn that a strong power dynamic is at work and they must appropriately respond to the hierarchy. Power has many sources. While the most obvious lies with the expert power of a coach, there is also the organizational and social power of veterans that are viewed as legitimate and hold strong coercive elements. In these ways power is bestowed on individuals with newcomers having the least. This creates a culture supportive of hazing with those holding the least power being stripped of autonomy and any ability to speak out especially an ability to resist and say no to any hazing activity. It further communicates that silence is an essential element of loyalty. Any breach of this unspoken expectation creates the threat of retaliation and an escalated re-occurrence from veteran teammates and a fear of not being believed or taken seriously by administrative leaders. Compounding these fears is the failure to be sensitive to the potentially diverse contextual factors that impact how an individual may respond to hazing practices such as previous experience with neglect, social isolation or sexual abuse experiences or even experiences with previous teams impacting trust issues within both the team and administration.

There are many conflicting emotions that players experience when subjecting themselves to abusive hazing practices. In spite of the abuse, they believe the quid pro quo of hazing offers benefits that will be denied should they fail to participate willingly. The loyalties, group membership, acceptance and opportunity for advancement in the sport overshadow unease presented with hazing. It becomes an accepted norm no longer labelled as abuse but rather a proud tradition. Arriving at this acceptance is further complicated by the CHL regulations and contractual rules through which a player is prevented them from joining another team that will facilitate their advancement in their sport. The reality is that they are left with few options. Some will walk away. Others who have invested deeply in the sport and built their identity around it will seek out coping mechanisms to help them deal with the isolation, self-loathing, and mistrust. They become part of the toxic masculinity within the culture of sport.

While I am not a trained psychologist, I believe that hazing and abuse are universally harmful for young players. I have heard from many former players who continue to live with the abuse they suffered, decades later. Some attempt to rationalize the abuse, however, in my view as a sociologist, I cannot imagine how the types of abuses suffered and the culture that permeates Canadian Major Junior Hockey could be considered anything but universally harmful.

Traditions are resistant to change, and they are especially protected by those who are privileged by the status quo, with the result that newcomers have come to expect initiations and to adapt to accommodate toxic behavior. Toxic masculinity is reinforced when newcomers learn from this culture that they have to prove they belong. These become the social norms that serve as a root cause of diminished value and exclusion and internalized misogyny. The strength of team cohesion and the bonding process provides an added challenge in sport. The intimacy of team membership and the strong desire to belong contributes to behaviour driven by group think. Individual values are often sidelined by this strong desire to belong resulting in behaviour that matches the perceived expectations of the group.

There are expectations established that reinforce and reproduce this set of expectations and coerce individuals to abandon their own desire to resist participating in degrading activities, replaced by their desire to satisfy the expectations created by others. Those traditions are part of a culture that provides them with an identity that in their view, gives them special status. Resistance to hazing practices marginalizes individuals from a culture that is at the heart of their identity. Athletes and other vulnerable participants must feel respected and safe to benefit equitably from sport opportunity. This is on the line for newcomers. Further, eligibility and ‘ownership’ regulations eliminate the options to join another team (which would replicate the experience anyway). Therefore, within the context of sport, the continued association with perpetrators and peers who have endured presumably unscathed, precludes the likelihood of speaking out if the victim wants to continue in the sport.

L. Organizational Betrayal

I am sometimes asked the question ‘does hazing still exist’? While my opinions are partially informed by first-hand stories told to me by survivors of hazing, I believe the more appropriate question is ‘why would you think hazing does not still exist’? History provides some answers by looking at two elements. First, by tackling the more simple one, an examination of administrative actions over time can be revealing. Most sports organizations have stated policy to guide member behaviours concerning hazing. However, such polices are often ineffective. They are often vague, have no short term or long term implementation plan, no preventive sanctions that communicate the institutional seriousness and expectations for change, and no follow up. Often times, "zero tolerance policies" are rarely, if ever, enforced and will only apply after public or outside scrutiny is applied. With no systemic strategy and acceptance of responsibility cases of hazing persist. Secondly, there is a largely static culture of Canadian Major Junior Hockey with respect to characteristics that support hazing attitudes. Hockey continues to be primarily dominated by white male privilege that is characterized by power, dominance and exclusion.

The previous sections of this report confirm the longstanding presence of hazing and abuse in Canadian Major Junior Hockey. But the enduring traditions of hazing suggest institutional failure to implement effective organizational strategies needed to generate a culture of caring, respect, safety and inclusion with alternatives to abusive hazing practices. It would be unusual to find an organization that does not publicly denounce hazing practices in some way (i.e. through policy or codes of conduct). However, it appears that in Canadian Major Junior Hockey, policy and its implementation has been inadequate. For example, Hockey Canada provides a definition of hazing and a sanction of suspension for participating in or condoning hazing (Hockey Canada, 2005) – yet systemic hazing continues. Again, for a complexity of reasons, little evidence exists that demonstrates the use of this policy by member organizations. It is more than possible that organizations seek to do only enough to absolve themselves of responsibility through high-level and ineffective policies.

Organizational betrayal is a violation of trust. It includes actions that fail to prevent harm, inadvertently lead to harm, or fail to respond to trauma appropriately. When an organization fails to appropriately protect its members from abuse of any form including hazing; when an organization fails to provide adequate support systems for members who are in need; when an organization dismisses concerns or complaints expressed about malevolent behaviours by its members, members feel betrayed and abandoned. They no longer feel like they belong or that maintaining membership is uncomfortable with a fear of retaliation. Responses to hazing complaints can be an example of an organizational failure for many athletes. The absence of an effective response contributes to the depth of silence that is embedded in the hazing culture. This creates the need for victims of hazing to seek out coping strategies in isolation. A range of outcomes (e.g. quit the team, aggression, cathartic use of alcohol and/or drugs), from this strategy have been identified by researchers (Smith & Freyd, 2014), that impedes recovery and self-assurance. Military Sexual Trauma research (Holliday & Monteith, 2019), cited PTSD, depression, dissociative disorders, eating disorders, anxiety disorders and substance use disorders as potential mental health outcomes. Having examined the nature of hazing practices that include sexual activity, associated trauma includes numerous psychosocial consequences, increased propensity for physical and mental health diagnoses, suicide, and an elevated likelihood of revictimization. Failure of organizations to take proactive and reactive measures to address hazing is a betrayal to the people it has pledged to protect.

The organizational betrayal is the failure to protect the vulnerable. Often times, athletes do not believe that the justice system within their organization can be trusted to protect them. Combined with the sport culture and its shroud of silence around hazing will continue to prevent credible reporting, denying any possibility of solving the problems of a dark side of sport. When leaders ignore or conceal hazing, abuses continue along with the consequences including acceptance of hazing as the norm.

III. Conclusion: Ending Hazing and Abuse

What steps need to be taken to root out hazing and abuse in the CHL are beyond the scope of this report. However, I understand that I may be called upon to provide further expert reports in this litigation. In particular, I understand that I may be asked to opine on the policies and practices that are undertaken in Canadian Major Junior Hockey to protect players from hazing and abuse. I do not have access to these policies and therefore, I do not provide any specific comment on them at this time. I look forward to providing more specific opinions on the appropriateness of policies, training, oversight and procedures if I am called upon by counsel or the Court.

I am of the very strong opinion that hazing and abuse is not a necessary element of Canadian Major Junior Hockey and it can and must be ended. I believe that such steps must be taken from the "top down", and it must start with appropriate management at high levels of Canadian Major Junior Hockey. I look forward to providing the Court with further assistance in this regard later in this litigation, if called upon by counsel or the Court.

AFFIDAVIT OF CHARLES HATT
(affirmed December 4, 2020)

I, CHARLES HATT, of the City of Toronto, in the province of Ontario, MAKE OATH AND SAY:

1. I am a lawyer with the law firm Koskie Minsky LLP, counsel for the plaintiffs in this action, and as such I have knowledge of the matters to which I hereinafter depose. I have also been provided with information by James Sayce, the lawyer at Koskie Minsky LLP with primary carriage of this file, which I believe to be true.

2. I swear this affidavit in support of the Plaintiff's motion for certification.

BACKGROUND AND ALLEGATIONS

3. Koskie Minsky LLP was retained by the proposed representative plaintiffs, Daniel Carcillo and Garrett Taylor, to initiate this class action against the Canadian Hockey League ("CHL"), Ontario Hockey League ("OHL"), Western Hockey League ("WHL") (collectively the "Leagues"), and all the teams that form part of them.

4. Attached at Exhibit "A" is a copy of the Statement of Claim in this action, issued June 18, 2020, and a copy of a draft Amended Statement of Claim.

5. The defendants have not yet defended the action.

6. This class action alleges the widespread abuse of CHL players, by coaches, team staff and senior players in the Leagues.

Relationship between the Leagues and Teams

7. The OHL was formed in 1980, when it split away from the Ontario Hockey Association and joined the Canadian Major Junior Hockey League. The WHL was founded in 1969, and the QMJHL in 1966. The OHL, WHL, and QMJHL are "constituent Leagues" of the CHL, which is the "governing body" and a not-for-profit corporation governed by the laws of Ontario with its head office in Scarborough. There are 59 teams in the CHL. There are 20 teams in the OHL, 22 teams in the WHL, and 18 in the QMJHL.

(a) Attached as Exhibit "B" is a copy of Hockey Database's webpage titled "1980-81 Ontario Hockey League Standings";

(b) Attached as Exhibit "C" is a copy of WHL's webpage titled "About the WHL";

(c) Attached as Exhibit "D" is a copy of QMJHL's webpage titled "History of the League";

(d) Attached as Exhibit "E" is a copy of the CHL webpage titled "About the CHL".

(e) Attached as Exhibit "F" are copies of the OHL, WHL, and QMJHL webpages titled "Teams".

8. Throughout the Leagues' history, several teams have changed their names, have been sold or have been moved to new cities. I understand that the Media Guides attached below are published directly by the Leagues, and Hockey DB is a hockey website, which purports to independently confirm the information it publishes:

(a) Attached as Exhibit "G" is a copy of the most recent OHL Media Guide (2020) published by the OHL;

(b) Attached as Exhibit "H" is a copy of the website titled "Ontario Hockey League history and statistics", found at URL: https://www.hockeydb.com/ihdb/stats/leagues/167.html, summarizing published information;

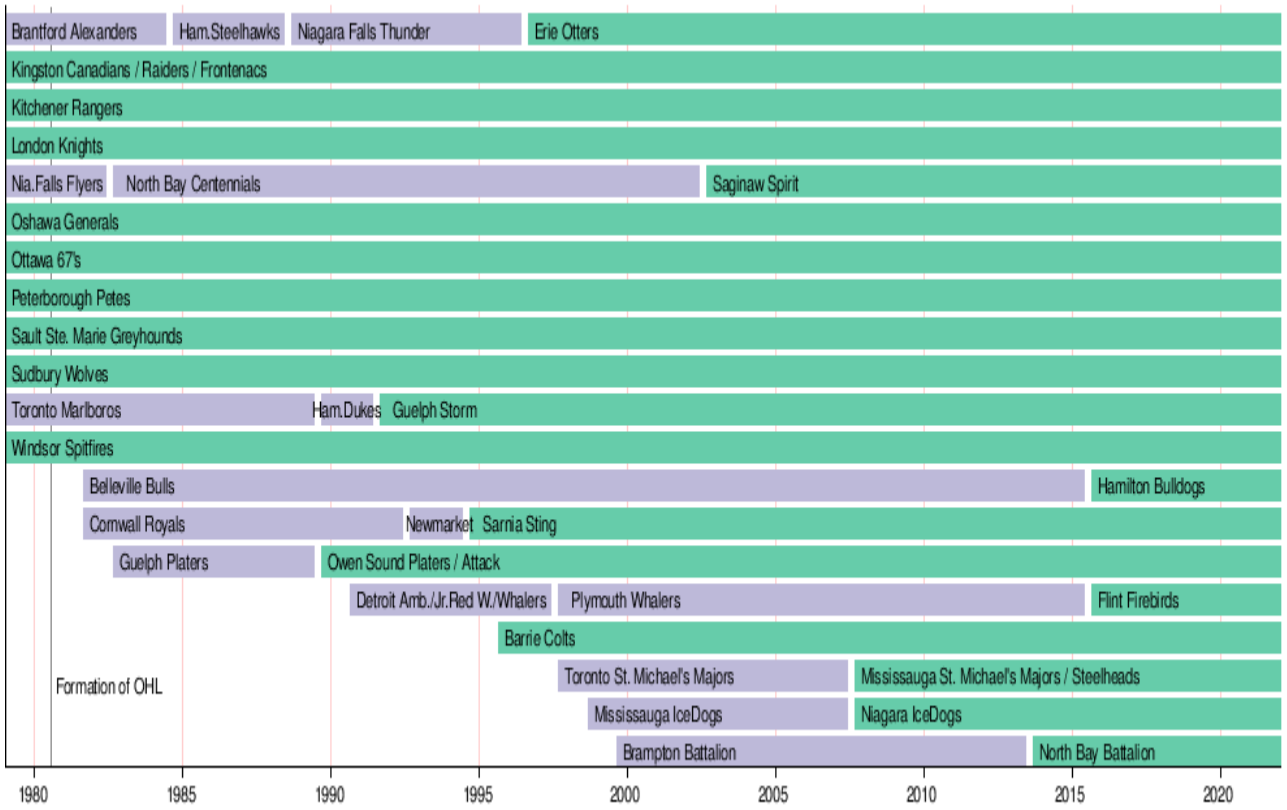
(c) Attached as Exhibit "I" is a copy of the most recent WHL Media Guide (2019-2020) published by the WHL;

(d) Attached as Exhibit "J" is a copy of the website titled "Western Hockey League history and statistics", found at URL: https://www.hockeydb.com/ihdb/stats/leagues/167.html, summarizing published information;

(e) Attached as Exhibit "K" is a copy of the most recent QMJHL Media Guide (2020-2021), published by the QJMHL; and

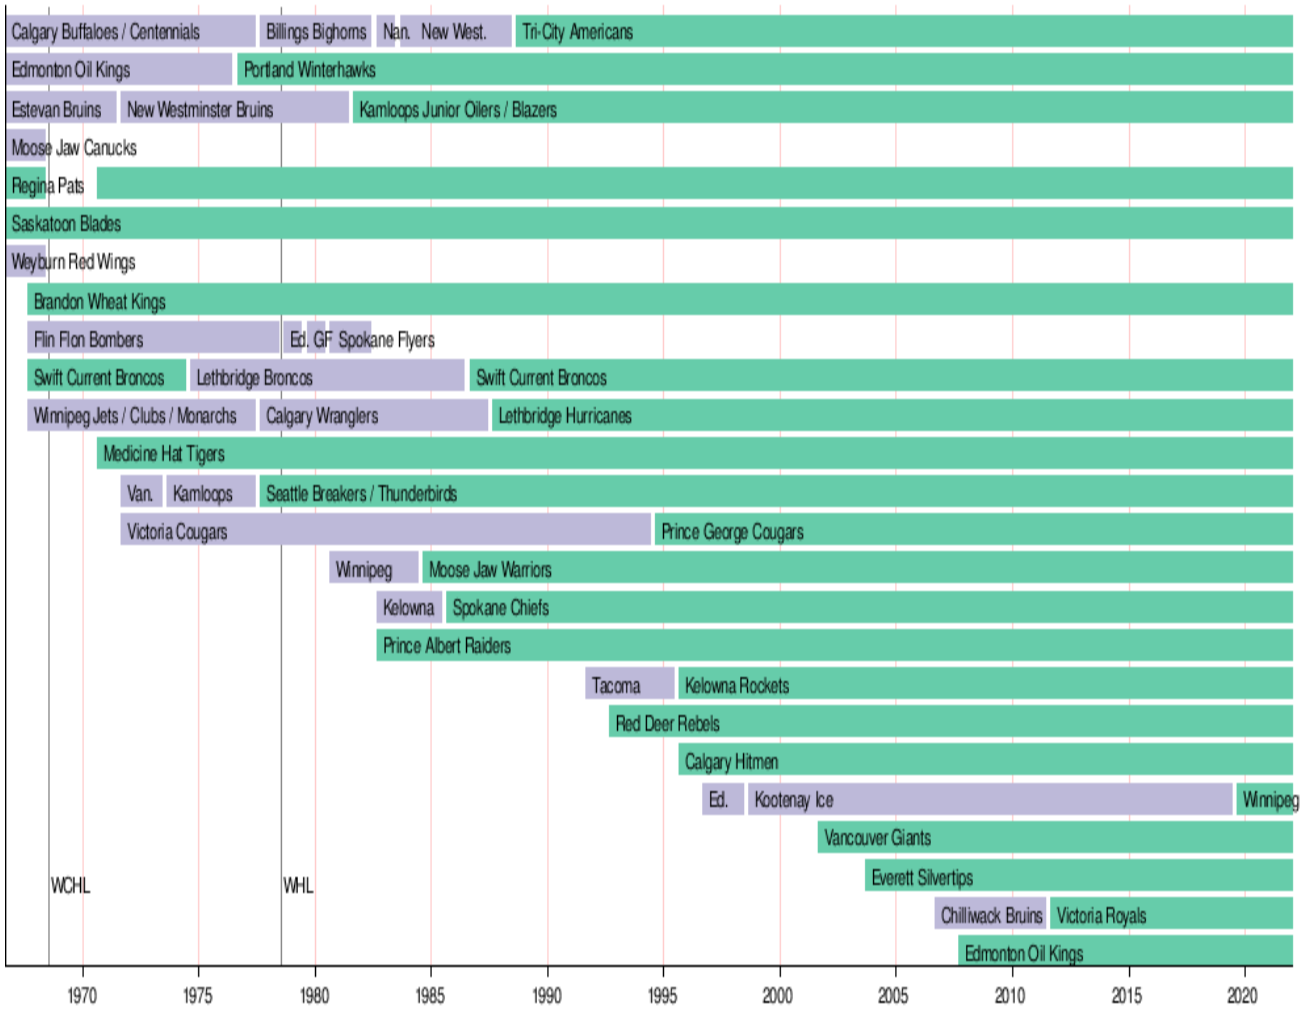
(f) Attached as Exhibit "L" is a copy of the website titled "Quebec Major Junior Hockey League history and statistics", found at URL: https://www.hockeydb.com/ihdb/stats/leagues/167.html, summarizing published information;

9. The below chart details the current and historic names of the teams in the OHL, based on the "Franchise records, year-by-year" at pp. 126 to 141 of the OHL Media Guide at Exhibit "G", and the "Ontario Hockey League history and statistics" at Exhibit "H":



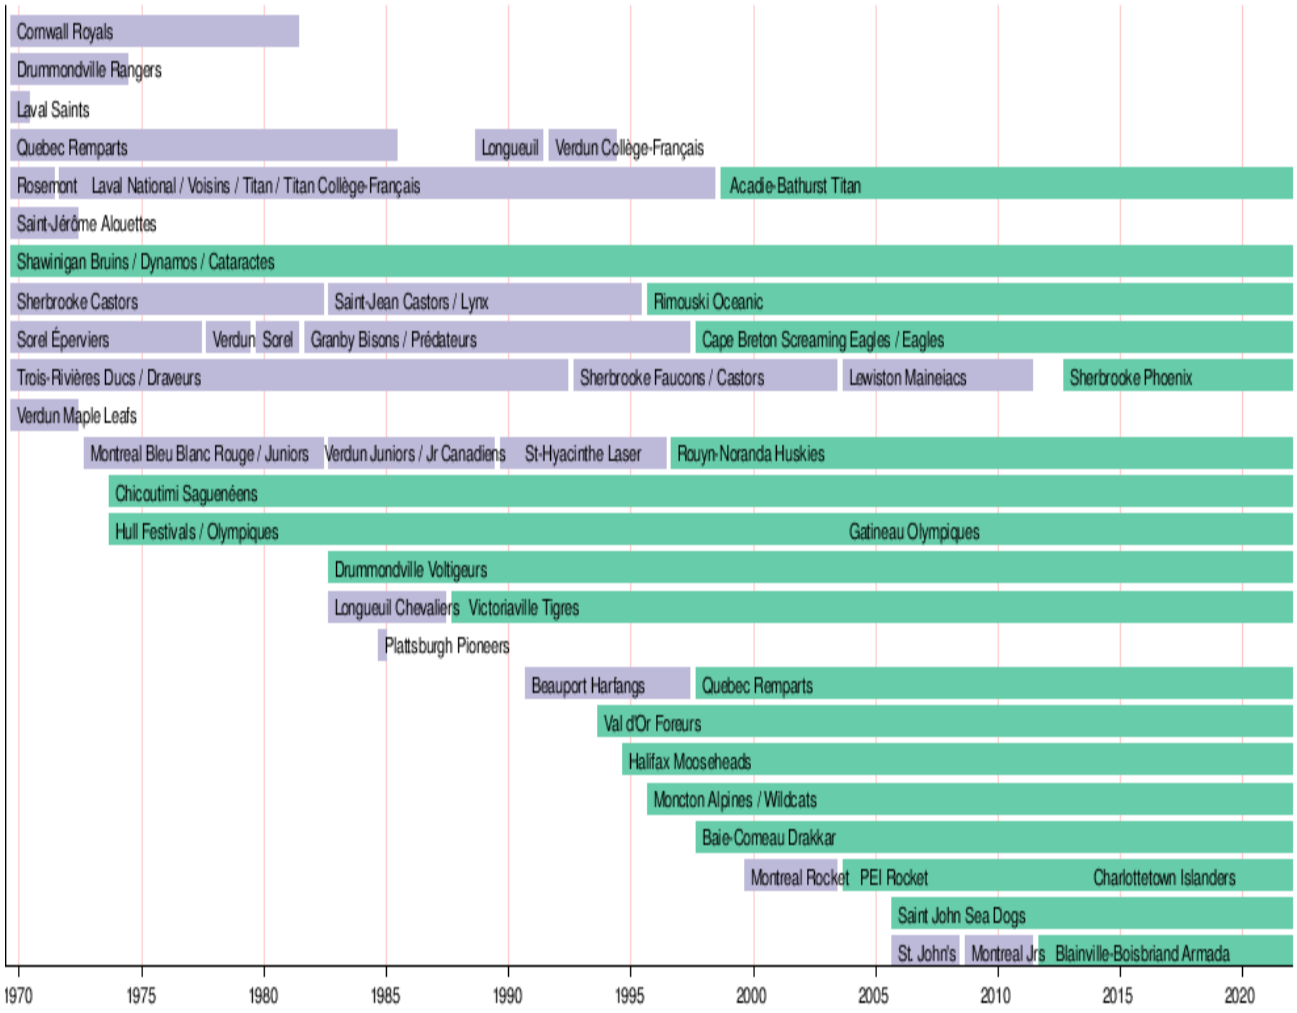
Former member Current member

10. The below chart details the current and historic names of the teams in the WHL, based on the "Western Hockey League history and statistics" at Exhibit "J":



Former member Current member

11. The below chart details the current and historic names of the teams in the QMJHL, based on the "Franchise history and record" of the Teams at pp. 32 to 46 of the QMJHL Media guide at Exhibit “K”, and the “Quebec Major Junior Hockey League history and statistics” found at Exhibit “L”:



Former member Current member

12. Each team is owned and operated by various corporations, partnerships and limited liability companies formed in various jurisdictions, all of whom are named as Defendants in this action.

13. Attached as Exhibit "M" is a copy of the WHL by-laws. They read in relevant part:

> 6.1 Conditions
> No Franchise may be sold, assigned, or otherwise have its ownership transferred (a "Transfer") except under the following conditions: …

> (c) that the transferee [i.e. new owner] shall assume or guarantee to pay all debts, liabilities and obligations of the applicant Member [i.e. past team franchise owner], including without limitation the obligations under the League's education and scholarship program, existing at the date of Transfer; provided, however, that the applicant Member shall remain responsible for all such debts, liabilities and obligations;
> 10.1 Member Liability
> The Member [i.e. team franchise owner] shall be liable for all claims, liabilities, damages, losses and expenses, which have accrued, directly or indirectly, to the Franchise as a result of the acts of the Member.

14. Attached as Exhibit "N" is a copy of the OHL by-laws. They read in relevant part:

> 3.7 TRANSFER OF MEMBERSHIP OR INTERESTS THEREIN
> 3.7.2 Except as provided in Section 3.11.2, no membership or interest therein (whether direct or indirect) which has the effect of changing the de facto or de lire control of the Member may be sold, assigned, or otherwise transferred in whole or in part during the first three years following the date on which the membership held by the Member was first granted by the League. In all other cases, no membership or interest therein (whether direct or indirect) may be sold, assigned, or otherwise transferred except with …
> c) The condition that the transferee shall agree in writing to assume or guarantee to pay all debts, liabilities and obligations of the transferor existing at the date of the transfer;…

15. Attached as Exhibit "O" is a copy of the QMJHL Administrative Rules.

16. Attached at Exhibit "P" is a true copy of the affidavit of David Branch (President of the CHL and Commissioner of the OHL), sworn December 23, 2015, and filed by the Defendants in response to the plaintiffs' motion for certification in the Berg v. CHL matter.

17. Attached at Exhibit "Q" is a true copy of the affidavit of Ron Robison (Commissioner of the WHL), sworn December 22, 2015, and filed by the Defendants in response to the plaintiffs' motion for certification in the Berg v. CHL matter.

Standard Player Agreements

18. Each player in the CHL signs a Standard Player Agreement ("SPA") with the OHL, WHL, or QMJHL and their team. The SPA states commitments to providing, inter alia "training, education, supervision and character development". The player and their parents sign the SPA. An example of a redacted Standard Player Agreement is attached as Exhibit "R".

Reports Commissioned by the Leagues

19. On January 20, 1997, the CHL commissioned the Players First Report to confront issues of harassment and abuse within the CHL. A copy of the report, prepared by lawyer Gordon I. Kirke is attached as Exhibit "S".

Public Statements Regarding Abuse

CLASS CERTIFICATION CRITERIA

Identifiable Class

22. The Plaintiff proposes the Class be defined as:

all former and current players who play or played in any of the Leagues;

Common Issues

23. The Plaintiff's currently proposed common issues will include all or some of the following:

(i) Did the Defendants, or any of them, owe a duty of care to the Class in the management, operation and oversight of the Teams and/or Leagues?

(ii) If the answer to (i) is yes, did the Defendants, or any of them, breach that duty of care?

(iii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, owe a fiduciary duty to the Class in the management, operation and oversight of the Teams and Leagues?

(iv) If the answer to (iii) is yes, did the Defendants, or any of them, breach that fiduciary duty to the Class?

(v) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach their contracts with the Class? If so, how?

(vi) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach any duties of good faith in their contractual performance? If so, how?

(vii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, commit actionable faults in failing to prevent the Abuse pursuant to the Quebec Civil Code? If so, are the Defendants liable for such faults?

(viii) Did the Defendants, or any of them, breach sections 1, 10, 10.1 or 39 of the Quebec Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms?

(ix) If the answer to any of the common issues (i) through (viii) is "yes", can the Court make an aggregate assessment of some or all of the damages suffered by some or all Class Members?

(x) If the answer to any of the common issues (i) through (viii) is "yes", were the Defendants guilty of conduct that justifies an award of punitive and/or exemplary damages including damages pursuant to s. 49 of the Quebec Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms?

(xi) If the answer to common issue (x) is "yes", what amount of punitive and/or exemplary damages ought to be awarded?

Preferable Procedure

24. The proposed Class includes many thousands of people who are alleged to have been subjected to abuse and a toxic environment while playing in the League.

Access to Justice

25. An action of this kind will be extremely expensive to pursue. The documentary evidence will be extensive and time-consuming to collect and review, as it will date back many years. Dr. jay johnson has been retained as an expert in the proceeding, and other expert witnesses will be retained in the course of the proceedings, the cost of which would likely be outside the means of any individual class member.

26. I understand that the allegations in this action are extremely sensitive and emotional topics for the class members. I am advised by James Sayce and verily believe that many putative class members have contacted our office and have advised that they could not have come forward to share stories of abuse absent this class proceeding. Others have advised that they do not feel comfortable swearing affidavit evidence due to fear of retribution from others in the hockey community. Many class members may feel embarrassed or humiliated about their experiences. For these additional reasons, it may be difficult for class members to pursue their claims individually.

Behaviour Modification

27. The allegations in this matter are that the abuse has always been prevalent throughout the Leagues. While policies may have changed, it is alleged that they have been ineffective in protecting minors from abuse. The resolution of the claims in this class action may help ensure that the current policies of the Leagues become adequate to protect current players and it may do away with further abuse in the future.

Representative Plaintiffs

28. The affidavits of the proposed representative Plaintiffs, Daniel Carcillo and Garrett Taylor, detail their experiences playing for the OHL and the WHL.

29. I am not aware of the representative Plaintiffs having any conflict of interest, on the common issues, with other Class Members.

Litigation Plan

30. A Litigation Plan has been developed which sets out a method of advancing the proceeding on behalf of the Class as required by section 5(1)(e)(ii) of the Class Proceedings Act, 1992. The plan is subject to review and ongoing modification by my colleagues, this Honourable Court as well as through input from the Defendants. A copy of the proposed litigation plan is attached hereto and marked as Exhibit "CCC".

31. The proposed attached Litigation Plan is similar to the litigation plan that was approved by Fothergill J. of the Federal Court in the Heyder v. Canada class proceeding, which related to similar abuse in the Canadian Armed Forces, and multiple other analogous class actions.

32. Koskie Minsky LLP has agreed to work with André Lespérance of the firm Trudel Johnston & Lespérance, based in Montreal, with respect to causes of action being asserted by those putative Class Members that relate to the Quebec Civil Code and other Quebec law.

33. I swear this affidavit in support of the plaintiff's motion for certification and for no improper purpose.

OVERVIEW

3. Canadian major junior hockey has been plagued by rampant hazing, bullying, and abuse of underage players, by coaches, team staff and senior players. Survivors of such Abuse have come forward and continue to come forward to this day. However, the Defendants have stubbornly ignored or failed to reasonably address this institutionalized and systemic Abuse.

4. Rather than respond to or make meaningful attempts to prevent such abuse, the Defendants have instead perpetuated a toxic environment that condones violent, discriminatory, racist, sexualized, and homophobic conduct, including physical and sexual assault, on the underage players they are obligated to protect.

5. Most players enter the Leagues at the age of 16 or 17 and many play to the age of 20. Some players enter the league as young as 15. The majority of these children leave their homes and families to play hockey for a team in a different town or city, far from their parents. They are billeted with a local family and attend the local high school. They are young, impressionable and vulnerable. They are completely inculcated into the culture of their Team and the Leagues. They are deeply incentivized to comply with League and Team culture by the potential to be drafted to the NHL. The power imbalance between these children and the older players, coaches, Team and League officials is extreme.

6. The opportunities for abuse of power are omnipresent, and the Defendants have failed in their duties to protect the children under their care. The result is decades of rampant child abuse which has left the Class with emotional and physical injuries that are entirely unrelated to hockey and which have no place in the sport.

THE ABUSE

78. The Class Members were and are routinely victims to hazing, bullying, physical and verbal harassment, physical assault, sexual harassment, and sexual assault (the "Abuse"). The Abuse took place while the Class Members were minors.

79. The Abuse is often racist, sexist, homophobic, and highly sexualized.

80. The perpetrators of the Abuse were and are senior players on the Teams, as well as adult coaches, staff, administrators and employees, servants and agents of the Teams and the Leagues.

81. The Abuse has repeatedly been reported to higher levels of management and ownership of the Teams as well as the management of the Leagues. The Abuse is known to be ongoing and continuous by all Defendants and their staff members, servants and agents.

82. The Teams and the League inculcate a culture of silence whereby victims of abuse are discouraged from coming forward.

The Plaintiffs' Experiences

83. The Plaintiff, Daniel Carcillo, suffered through one full year of almost constant and repetitive Abuse while playing as a rookie for the Sarnia Sting in 2002. He and the other 12 rookies on the team suffered Abuse by the older players. Coaches and team officials were aware of the Abuse and participated in it. Nothing was done to protect the rookies. Instances of the Abuse that Carcillo and his teammates suffered included:

(a) During showers, rookies were required sit in the middle of the shower room naked while the older players urinated, spat saliva and tobacco chew on them. At least once, the head coach walked into the shower room while this was occurring, laughed and walked out;

(b) Rookies were repetitively hit on their bare buttocks with a sawed off goalie stick, developing large welts and open sores. The injuries were so bad that they couldn’t sit down, even while attending local high school classes. They advised team staff of this abuse, which did not stop;

(c) On road trips. rookies would be stripped naked and sent into the bus bathroom, eight at a time. The older players would tape the boys' clothes up in a ball, which were thrown into the bathroom. The boys were not allowed out until they were dressed, which could take hours. Older players would pour chew, saliva, and urine on them through the bathroom vents. This took place in front of coaches and trainers;

(d) Rookies had to bob for apples in a cooler filled with the older players' urine, saliva and other bodily fluids;

(e) The older players would put the rookies in a laundry bin on wheels, 4 at a time. They would run the laundry bin into a wall as fast as it could go. Players suffered injuries including being knocked unconscious. It was called the "rookie rocket";

(f) Older players would organize orgies at house parties. Rookies were required to take part in sexual acts while the older players watched and took part;

(g) The head coach walked in on a naked rookie taped to a table with his buttocks in the air. Older players were whipping him with a belt. The head coach took part, whipped the child and laughed while the boy cried;

(h) The head coach. assistant coaches and League officials knew of the abuse. Carcillo and another player from the Sting reported the Abuse while away playing for Canada's national team at the junior championships. An informal investigation took place by OHL and/or

CHL agents, but no findings were released, abusers were not punished and no steps were taken to address the Abuse; and,

(i) Racist, sexist and homophobic slurs were repeatedly directed at rookie players and were used on a daily basis.

84. Carcillo's experience during his rookie year left him permanently traumatized. He suffered severe mental health issues which were not present before the abuse he endured. He continues to suffer from these mental health issues to this day.

85. The Plaintiff Garrett Taylor and his teammates suffered the Abuse while playing for the Lethbridge Hurricanes of the WHL while he was a 17 year old rookie in 2008-2009. Coaches and team officials were aware of the Abuse and participated in it. Nothing was done to protect the rookies. Instances of the Abuse that Taylor and his teammates suffered included:

(a) During team practices, the head coach took Taylor aside and demanded that he fight other 16 or 17 year old players in order to increase the "intensity" level of the team. This took place numerous times. Taylor was seriously concussed during one fight in practice and he and other team members suffered other injuries during such fights;

(b) The head coach provided the team credit card to one of the older players to buy alcohol for the team "rookie party". The 16 and 17 year old rookies were required to dress up in women's clothing and were forced to consume large amounts of alcohol, to the point of blacking out and vomiting;

(c) When Taylor was "sent down" to the Junior A team in Canmore after the first two games of the 2009-2010 season, he received what is euphemistically referred to throughout the Leagues as the "garbage bag treatment". The team and staff were on the team bus waiting to leave for a road trip. Immediately before leaving, Taylor was told in front of the entire team and staff that he was being cut from the team. He was told in a humiliating fashion to get off the bus, to retrieve his bag and to report to Canmore. He was not given any money or any further direction. His parents were not notified; and,

(d) Racist, sexist and homophobic slurs were repeatedly directed at rookie players and were used on a daily basis.

86. Taylor's experience left him permanently traumatized. He suffered severe mental health issues which were not present before the Abuse he endured. He was hospitalized for a lengthy period after his time in the WHL. He continues to suffer from the psychological and physical injuries he suffered while playing in the WHL.

The Class' Experience

87. The Class Members suffered Abuse including, but not limited to:

(a) sexual assault, group sexual assault and molestation;

(b) Such sexual assault includes, but is not limited to:

(i) being forced to masturbate in front of teammates and coaches and others;

(ii) being forced to sexually assault other teammates;

(iii) being forced to consume the urine, saliva, semen or feces of teammates;

(iv) being forced or coerced or threatened with sexual enagegment with animals;

(v) having their genitals tied to heavy objects;

(vi) having their genitals dipped into various irritants or toxic liquids;

(vii) forced shaving of pubic hair and other body hair;

(viii) having various objects placed in their anuses (eg, hockey sticks, brooms, food); and,

(ix) having various other objects and substances placed in their underwear of near their genital area;

(c) being physically assaulted both with and without the use of various weapons (hockey sticks, sawed off hockey sticks, belts, etc.);

(d) being forced to consume large quantities of alcohol and illicit drugs;

(e) being verbally demeaned, harassed, and degraded;

(f) being assaulted by other teammates and being forced to physically assault other teammates; and,

(g) being called racial, sexist and homophobic slurs.

TOXIC CULTURE AND ENVIRONMENT

88. The culture and environment of the Leagues and each of the Teams is highly racist, sexual, sexualized, homophobic and/or otherwise discriminatory. This culture and environment is pervasive and systemic; it exists among and within all of the Defendants. The Abuse is often highly racist, sexual, sexualized, homophobic and/or otherwise discriminatory.

89. The racist nature of the Abuse is evidenced by, among other things:

(a) frequent targeting of racialized victims;

(b) frequent use of highly degrading racist expressions;

(c) frequent racial slurs, jokes and innuendos; and

(d) frequent discriminatory comments with respect to the bodies, abilities or dignity of certain races.

90. The sexualized and sexist nature of the Abuse is shown by, among other things:

(a) frequently requiring the victims of the Abuse to be partially or completely nude;

(b) frequently requiring Class Members to dress in women's' clothing;

(c) frequently targeting the sexual areas of the victims' bodies, including the buttocks and genitals;

(d) frequent use of sexualized power dynamics;

(e) frequent use of highly degrading sexual expressions;

(f) frequent sexual jokes and innuendos;

(g) frequent comparison between the victims of the Abuse and women; and

(h) frequent discriminatory comments with respect to the bodies, abilities or dignity of women.

91. The homophobic nature of the Abuse is shown by, among other things:

(a) frequent targeting of victims for perception of their gender expression or sexuality;

(b) frequently targeting the sexual areas of the victims' bodies, including the buttocks and genitals;

(c) frequent use of sexualized power dynamics;

(d) frequent use of highly degrading homophobic expressions;

(e) frequent sexual and homophobic jokes and innuendos;

(f) frequent comparison between the victims of the Abuse and women; and

(g) frequent discriminatory comments with respect to the bodies, abilities or dignity of homosexual persons.

DEFENDANTS' AGENTS TOLERATE AND ENCOURAGE VIOLENCE, DISCRIMINATION AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

92. The Abuse is tolerated and condoned by adults in positions of power on the Teams and the Leagues:

(a) Team and League staff and agents are desensitized to the Abuse;

(b) Team and League staff, employees and agents discourage complaints about the Abuse;

(c) Team and League staff, employees and agents turn a blind eye to the Abuse;

(d) Team and League staff, employees and agents are quick to excuse the Abuse;

(e) Team and League staff, employees and agents bury the issues to protect the reputation of the Teams and the Leagues at the expense of Class Members;

(f) Team and League staff, employees and agents do not act on complaints when reported either at the team or League-level;

(g) there is a deep mistrust among Class members that the Teams or Leagues will take such complaints seriously; and;

(h) sexual and physical assault is routinely ignored or even condoned and encouraged by those holding positions of power and authority.

93. This creates serious impediments to reporting and to the effective investigation and resolution of complaints and prevents many Class Members from reporting incidents of Abuse.

94. The Teams and the Leagues are vicariously liable for the Abuse perpetrated by their staff, employees, agents and players.

CLASS MEMBERS FACE NEGATIVE REPERCUSSIONS FROM REPORTING ABUSE

95. In addition to Team and League agents and employees tolerating, condoning and even encouraging or taking part in the Abuse, Class Members are subject to negative repercussions for reporting or even refusing to submit to the Abuse including:

(a) reduced ice time;

(b) being traded to another Team in the League;

(c) being sent down to a lower level of junior hockey;

(d) further victimization and retaliation and additional or increased levels of Abuse;

(e) being excluded from team activities;

(f) being stigmatized as "weak";

(g) being stigmatized as a "problem" player, their reputations being tarnished with NHL scouts, negatively impacting their chances of being drafted into the NHL or other professional hockey leagues.

96. Class Members often did not report the Abuse due to the concerns set out above and out of:

(a) a desire to avoid disturbing group cohesion;

(b) a desire to avoid negative consequences for the abuser; and,

(c) a concern about being labelled as someone who would complain about a teammate or an agent of the Teams or League, which could result in becoming socially ostracized or not drafted to the NHL or other professional hockey leagues.

97. In contrast, Class Members who do not make complaints are seen as "team players" and appropriately protecting superiors. As a result, Class Members feel pressure to accept the Abuse or risk social exclusion, further victimization and/or career consequences.

98. As a result of the above, the vast majority of incidents of Abuse are not reported.

POLICIES ARE INADEQUATE, INFREQUENTLY ENFORCED AND INEFFECTIVE

99. The Leagues each have anti-hazing and other policies that are designed to protect Class Members from Abuse, however, they are honoured most often in their breach. The policies themselves are woefully deficient and as a result, cause, contribute to and perpetuate the culture of Abuse in the Leagues and systematic physical, sexual and psychological abuse.

100. Furthermore, the policies themselves are almost never followed. Reports of Abuse are ignored, covered up or denied at the Team and League levels. Any enforcement mechanisms are woefully inadequate and are almost never employed.

101. In particular, the Leagues and Teams' reporting and investigation process is plagued by problems including:

(a) failure to involve police when criminal acts have taken place;

(b) failure to ensure appropriate confidentiality measures will protect those reporting Abuse;

(c) delays in the investigation process;

(d) Class Members not being offered medical or emotional support;

(e) serious incidents of sexual assault are not given adequate attention or consideration;

(f) Class Members are made to feel at fault before even providing a report;

(g) investigations are held in abeyance for lengthy periods of time;

(h) reports of Abuse are not formally investigated or resolved;

(i) poor training with respect to incidents of Abuse; and,

(j) failure to follow up with key witnesses;

102. As a result, there is very little trust in the ability of the Leagues and the Teams to appropriately respond to reports of Abuse;

103. In the rare cases where complaints of abuse are found to be well-founded, any rare sanctions are nothing more than a "slap on the wrist" which provide no deterrent.

104. As a result of these and other failures, Abuse often goes unreported.

TRAINING IS INADEQUATE

105. The training in place for agents, employees and employees of the Teams, Leagues as well as the players with respect to sexual assault, hazing, physical assault, and the Abuse is inadequate. As a result, training fails to inform Teams, Leagues and players about appropriate conduct, lacks credibility and further demonstrates that the Teams and the Leagues do not take the Abuse seriously.

SYSTEMIC NEGLIGENCE

106. The Defendants and their employees, agents and servants owed a duty of care to the Plaintiffs and Class to create and maintain an environment that was free from sexual and physical assault, harassment and the Abuse.

107. The harm suffered by the Plaintiffs and the Class was a reasonably foreseeable consequence of the acts and omissions of the Defendants' employees, agents and servants.

108. The Defendants were in a position of authority and power and stood in loco parentis with Class Members. At all material times, the actions of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants had a direct impact on the Plaintiffs and the Class.

They were responsible for providing or causing to provide facilities, policies, standards and programs that were appropriate for the Class Members, free from Abuse. In such circumstances, the risk of harm contemplated in this action was reasonably foreseeable.

109. There was a direct and proximate relationship and specific interaction between the Plaintiffs and the Class and the Defendants' employees, agents and servants, including but not limited to:

(a) the daily interaction between Class Members and the Defendants' agents, servants and employees; and,

(b) the close and direct supervisory relationship between the Plaintiffs and the Class and the Defendants' agents, servants and employees.

110. The agents, servants and employees of the Defendants repeatedly made representations to the Plaintiffs and the Class that it was taking appropriate steps to prevent hazing, sexual assault and the Assaults. Such representations were relied upon by the Plaintiffs and the Class, as well as the parents and guardians of Class Members, in joining and remaining in the Leagues.

111. The Defendants owed a duty to not operate a system of teams that caused harms to its players. In particular, the Leagues duties included the duty:

(a) to supervise, educate, train and mentor the Class;

(b) to not subject Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents or other players;

(c) to not create an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the Leagues;

(d) to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse and its related bigotry;

(f) to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse and its related bigotry;

(g) to have adequate training, programs and oversight to enforce policies;

(h) to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

(l) to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

112. The Leagues and the Teams breached their common law duties to the Plaintiffs and the Class through their negligent failure to properly supervise, oversee and control the operations of their servants, employees and agents. In many circumstances, the Leagues' policies did not denounce all forms of the Abuse, and did not denounce the Abuse at all.

113. In particular, the Defendants breached the standard of care by:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce those policies;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and,

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

114. The Defendants' negligence caused damages to the Class and Family Class, as further particularized below.

BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY

115. The Plaintiffs and the Class were minors, often removed from their family, and were in the complete care and control of the Defendants. The Class members trusted, relied on and depended on the Defendants. The Defendants' relationship to the Class members was one of loco parentis, or that of a parent.

116. In addition, or in the alternative, the Defendants had an additional type of power and control over the Plaintiffs and the Class Members by virtue of the influence they held over Class Members' futures and ability to pursue careers in professional hockey. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees held discretionary power over the vulnerable Class's interests, which power could be wielded unilaterally.

117. By virtue of the relationship between the Class members and the Defendants, the Defendants owed all Class members a fiduciary duty that included a duty to care for them and protect them and to act in their best interests at all times, as particularized below.

118. In particular, the Defendants owed a duty to not operate a system of teams that caused harms to underage players. In particular, the Leagues fiduciary duties included the duty to:

(a) to supervise, educate, train and mentor the Class;

(b) not subject Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) not create an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) to have adequate training and programs to carry out and enforce policies;

(h) to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

(l) to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

119. The Leagues breached their fiduciary duty to the Plaintiffs and the Class through their failure to properly supervise and control the operations of its servants, employees and agents. In many circumstances, the Leagues' policies did not denounce all forms of the Abuse.

120. In particular, the Defendants breached their fiduciary duties by:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce policies;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

121. The Class Members had a reasonable expectation that the Defendants and their servants, employees and agents would act in their best interests with respect to their wellbeing given the assumption of responsibility of care for the Class Members by virtue of:

(a) the Defendants' establishment, operation, financing, supervision and control of the Teams and Leagues;

(b) the terms of the contracts entered into between the Class Members, the Teams and the Leagues;

(c) the hierarchical and authoritarian coaching and playing systems and the requirements for obedience;

(d) the tremendous power and authority of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants over the Class;

(e) the unilateral assumption of responsibilities for the care of the Class by the Defendants;

(f) the dependence of the Class Members on the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants for their care, development, education and future career prospects, both in professional hockey and outside of hockey.

122. Given the circumstances of the relationship between the Defendants and their agents, servants and employees and Class Members, including but not limited to their contractual obligations, parental obligations and day to day control over the Class Members, the Defendants undertook to act in the best interests of the Class Members and to act in accordance with the duty of loyalty imposed on the Defendants.

123. Furthermore, the Defendants' repeated insistence throughout the Class Period that it had appropriate policies and procedures to prevent and address hazing and other Abuse constituted an undertaking of responsibility to act in the best interests of the Plaintiffs and the Class Members and to act in accordance with a duty of loyalty in which the Class Members' interests would be put ahead of the Defendants' interests, in ensuring that such conduct did not occur.

124. Similarly, in investigating complaints of Abuse, the Defendants and their agents, servants and employees were required, but failed, to put the interests of the Class Members ahead of the Defendants' interests.

125. The Class were entitled to rely, and did rely on the Defendants to their detriment to fulfill their fiduciary obligations. As a result of their age and the imbalance of power, the Class Members were particularly vulnerable to and at the mercy of the discretion and power exercised by the servants, employees and agents of the Defendants.

126. The unilateral exercise of power and discretion by the Defendants impacted the Class Members' legal interests, including but not limited to career advancement and the Class Members' fundamental human and personal interests. The discretion exercised by the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants also directly affected the degree of sexual assault, harassment and Abuse as it was wholly within the scope of that discretion to ensure that appropriate policies and procedures were in place.

127. The Plaintiffs and the Class are particularly vulnerable and at the mercy of the Defendants. The Plaintiffs and the Class Members' vulnerability arises directly from their relationship with the Defendants. They relied on the Defendants for their protection in preventing the Abuse. All levels of leadership condoned and encouraged the sexualized, abusive and discriminatory culture that permeated the Leagues and they failed to take appropriate steps to stop it. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees abused their power over the Class.

128. The Defendants breached their fiduciary duties to the Plaintiffs and the Class. The particulars of the breach include the failures set out in paragraph 120, and:

(a) burying or minimizing reported incidents of Abuse to protect the reputation of the Defendants or their employees, agents or servants at the expense of Class Members;

(b) putting the interests of the Defendants ahead of the interests of the Plaintiffs and the Class; and,

(c) failing to safeguard the physical and psychological needs of the Class Members.

129. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees knew or ought to have known that as a consequence of their actions, the Plaintiffs and Class Members would suffer damages, as particularized below.

BREACH OF CONTRACT

130. Each Class member was contractually bound to the Team(s) they played for, and to the Leagues, by virtue of the SPA. Both the Class Member and the parents or guardians of that Class Member sign the SPA before or at the time the player joins the Teams' roster. The Leagues and Teams approved and registered all SPAs signed by Class members.

131. The SPAs were standard-form contractual agreements between the Class members, the Teams they played for, and the Leagues. Their terms provided contractual duties of the Leagues and Teams to the Class members. Their terms also informed the common law duty of care that the Leagues and Teams owed to the Class members.

132. The SPAs are and were set by the OHL, the QJMHL and the WHL and approved by the CHL. The SPAs are identical for each player and each Team within each League.

133. The SPAs all had terms stating that the Teams are required to provide "training, education, supervision and character development" to the Class members.

134. The Defendants' breached this term of their contracts with the Plaintiffs and Class by allowing Abuse that hampered or was detrimental to the players' supervision, education and character development insofar as those were terms of the contract. They did so in the following ways, amongst others:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce policies that ostensibly were designed to address Abuse;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and,

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

135. Furthermore, it was an implied term that the Defendants would act honestly and in good faith in the performance of the contractual obligations set out in the SPA. The Defendants and their agents, employees and servants misled the Class Members with respect to the protections they would provide, the oversight they would engage in and the appropriate management of the Leagues and Teams which are made up largely of underage minors. By failing to protect the vulnerable Class Members from the Abuses the Defendants knew were being perpetrated on a systemic basis, the Defendants breached their common law duty of good faith in the carrying out of the SPAs.

DAMAGES SUFFERED BY CLASS MEMBERS

136. The Class Members have suffered damages that include, but are not limited to:

(a) physical pain and suffering ;

(b) permanent physical injuries;

(c) emotional, physical and psychological harm;

(d) impairment of mental and emotional health and well-being;

(e) impaired mental development;

(f) impaired ability to participate in relationships;

(g) alienation from family members;

(h) depression, anxiety, emotional distress and mental anguish;

(i) development of new mental, psychological and psychiatric disorders;

(j) emotional pain and suffering;

(k) a loss of self-esteem and feelings of humiliation and degradation;

(l) an impaired ability to obtain and maintain employment, resulting either in lost or reduced income and ongoing loss of income;

(m) an impaired ability to deal with persons in positions of authority;

(n) an impaired ability to trust other individuals or sustain relationships;

(o) a requirement for medical or psychological treatment and counselling;

(p) an impaired ability to enjoy and participate in recreational, social and employment activities;

(q) loss of friendship and companionship;

(r) sexual disorientation; and,

(s) loss of general enjoyment of life.

137. But for the Defendants' conduct, the above damages would not have been sustained.

138. As a result of the Abuse, Class members have required and will continue to require, medical treatment, psychological or psychiatric treatment, counselling, or other care. The Plaintiffs and other Class Members, or many of them, will require future medical care and/or rehabilitative treatment, or have already required such services, as a result of the Defendants' conduct for which they claim complete indemnity, compensation and payment. But for the Defendants' conduct, such treatment would not be necessary.

139. Members of the Family Class have suffered, and continue to suffer, loss of care, guidance and companionship which arises directly, or indirectly, from the physical, mental and emotional trauma sustained directly, or indirectly, by the Class. The harm suffered by the Family Class was reasonably foreseeable and was caused by the Conduct of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants for whom they are in law responsible.

140. The Plaintiffs plead that the Defendants are strictly liable, jointly and severally, for the damages set out above as they were aware of and allowed the Abuse to continue to occur.

PUNITIVE AND EXEMPLARY DAMAGES

141. The Defendants and their agents, employees and servants had specific and complete knowledge of the widespread physical, psychological, emotional, cultural and sexual abuses incurred by Class Members during the Class Period. Despite this knowledge, the Defendants continued to permit the perpetration of grievous harm to the Class Members.

142. In allowing the Abuse to take place unhindered, and in condoning such abuse, the Defendants acted in a high-handed and callous manner toward Class Members which warrants a finding of punitive and/or exemplary damages that are reasonable in the herein circumstances. The Defendants conducted their affairs with wanton disregard for Class Members' interests, safety and well-being.

144. The Plaintiffs plead and rely upon the Civil Code of Quebec, SQ 1991, c. 64.

145. The Plaintiffs propose that the trial of the within action take place in the city of Toronto.

REAL AND SUBSTANTIAL CONNECTION TO ONTARIO

146. The Plaintiff pleads that this action has a real and substantial connection with Ontario because, inter alia:

(a) the Defendants conduct business in Ontario;

(b) the Defendants have corporate headquarters in Ontario;

(c) contracts relating to the subject matter of this action were made in Ontario;

(d) the causes of action arose in Ontario; and,

(e) a significant number of the Class Members reside in Ontario.

OVERVIEW

3. Canadian major junior hockey has been plagued by rampant hazing, bullying, and abuse of ~~underage~~ young and vulnerable players, by coaches, team staff and senior players. Survivors of such Abuse have come forward and continue to come forward to this day. However, the Defendants have stubbornly ignored or failed to reasonably address this institutionalized and systemic Abuse.

4. Rather than respond to or make meaningful attempts to prevent such abuse, the Defendants have instead perpetuated a toxic environment that condones violent, discriminatory, racist, sexualized, and homophobic conduct, including physical and sexual assault, on the ~~underage~~ players they are obligated to protect.

5. Most players enter the Leagues at the age of 16 or 17 and many play to the age of 20. Some players enter the league as young as 15. The majority of these children or young men leave their homes and families to play hockey for a team in a different town or city, far from their parents. They are billeted with a local family and attend the local high school. They are young, impressionable and vulnerable. They are completely inculcated into the culture of their Team and the Leagues. They are deeply incentivized to comply with League and Team culture by the potential to be drafted to the NHL. The power imbalance between these children and young men and the older players, coaches, Team and League officials is extreme.

6. The opportunities for abuse of power are omnipresent, and the Defendants have failed in their duties to protect the children and adolescents under their care. The result has been ~~is~~ decades of rampant ~~child~~ abuse which has left the Class with emotional and physical injuries that are entirely unrelated to hockey and which have no place in the sport.

PARTIES

Plaintiffs

7. Daniel Carcillo was born in King City, Ontario, and is currently a resident of Illinois in the United States. He played for the OHL team the Sarnia Sting, starting in the summer of 2002 when he was 17. He and approximately 12 other rookies suffered on the Sting almost constant Abuse for the entire 2002-2003 season. The Abuse was perpetrated by older Sarnia Sting players and Team staff, agents, employees and servants.

8. Garrett Taylor was born in California, in the United States, and is currently a resident of California. He played for the WHL team the Lethbridge Hurricanes starting in the summer of 2008 when he was 17. He and a number of other rookies on the Hurricanes suffered Abuse throughout the 2008-2009 season. The Abuse was perpetrated by older Lethbridge Hurricanes players and Team staff, agents, employees and servants.

9. Mr. Carcillo and Mr. Taylor are prepared to act as representative plaintiffs and in the best interests of the Class. They have no interest in conflict with any other Class member with respect to this action.

League Defendants

10. The Canadian Hockey League ("CHL") is a corporation registered pursuant to the laws of Canada. Its registered head office is in Scarborough, Ontario. It is the world's largest development hockey league with 52 Canadian and 8 American teams participating in the OHL, WHL, and QMJHL. It is the governing body of the Leagues, the Defendants OHL, the WHL, and the QMJHL. It oversees, controls and administers the operations of the OHL, the WHL and the QMJHL through its constitution, by-laws, regulations, policies and operational oversight.

THE ABUSE

78. The Class Members were and are routinely victims to hazing, bullying, physical and verbal harassment, physical assault, sexual harassment, and sexual assault (the "Abuse"). The Abuse often took place while the Class Members were minors.

79. The Abuse is often racist, sexist, homophobic, and highly sexualized.

80. The perpetrators of the Abuse were and are senior players on the Teams, as well as adult coaches, staff, administrators and employees, servants and agents of the Teams and the Leagues.

81. The Abuse has repeatedly been reported to higher levels of management and ownership of the Teams as well as the management of the Leagues. The Abuse is known to be ongoing and continuous by all Defendants and their staff members, servants and agents.

82. The Teams and the Leagues inculcate a culture of silence whereby victims of abuse are discouraged from coming forward.

The Plaintiffs' Experiences

83. The Plaintiff, Daniel Carcillo, suffered through one full year of almost constant and repetitive Abuse while playing as a rookie for the Sarnia Sting in 2002. He and the other 12 rookies on the team suffered Abuse by the older players, coaches and team staff. Coaches and team officials were aware of the Abuse and participated in it. Nothing was done to protect the rookies. Instances of the Abuse that Carcillo and his teammates suffered included:

(a) During showers, rookies were required sit in the middle of the shower room naked while the older players urinated, spat saliva and tobacco chew on them. At least once, the head coach walked into the shower room while this was occurring, laughed and walked out;

(b) Rookies were repetitively hit on their bare buttocks with a sawed off goalie stick, developing large welts and open sores. The injuries were so bad that they couldn’t sit down, even while attending local high school classes. They advised team staff of this abuse, which did not stop;

(c) On road trips. rookies would be stripped naked and sent into the bus bathroom, eight at a time. The older players would tape the boys' clothes up in a ball, which were thrown into the bathroom. The boys were not allowed out until they were dressed, which could take hours. Older players would pour chew, saliva, and urine on them through the bathroom vents. This took place in front of coaches and trainers;

(d) Rookies had to bob for apples in a cooler filled with the older players' urine, saliva and other bodily fluids;

(e) The older players would put the rookies in a laundry bin on wheels, 4 at a time. They would run the laundry bin into a wall as fast as it could go. Players suffered injuries including being knocked unconscious. It was called the "rookie rocket";

(f) Older players would organize orgies at house parties. Rookies were required to take part in sexual acts while the older players watched and took part;

(g) The head coach walked in on a naked rookie taped to a table with his buttocks in the air. Older players were whipping him with a belt. The head coach took part, whipped the child and laughed while the boy cried;

(h) The head coach. assistant coaches and League officials knew of the abuse. Carcillo and another player from the Sting reported the Abuse while away playing for Canada's national team at the junior championships. An informal investigation took place by OHL and/or CHL agents, but no findings were released, abusers were not punished and no steps were taken to address the Abuse; and,

(i) Racist, sexist and homophobic slurs were repeatedly directed at rookie players and were used on a daily basis.

84. Carcillo's experience during his rookie year left him permanently traumatized. He suffered severe mental health issues which were not present before the abuse he endured. He continues to suffer from these mental health issues to this day.

85. The Plaintiff Garrett Taylor and his teammates suffered the Abuse while playing for the Lethbridge Hurricanes of the WHL while he was a 17 year old rookie in 2008-2009. Coaches and team officials were aware of the Abuse and participated in it. Nothing was done to protect the rookies. Instances of the Abuse that Taylor and his teammates suffered included:

(a) During team practices, the head coach took Taylor aside and demanded that he fight other 16 or 17 year old players in order to increase the "intensity" level of the team. This took place numerous times. Taylor was seriously concussed during one fight in practice and he and other team members suffered other injuries during such fights;

(b) The head coach provided the team credit card to one of the older players to buy alcohol for the team "rookie party". The 16 and 17 year old rookies were required to dress up in women's clothing and were forced to consume large amounts of alcohol, to the point of blacking out and vomiting;

(c) When Taylor was "sent down" to the Junior A team in Canmore after the first two games of the 2009-2010 season, he received what is euphemistically referred to throughout the Leagues as the "garbage bag treatment". The team and staff were on the team bus waiting to leave for a road trip. Immediately before leaving, Taylor was told in front of the entire team and staff that he was being cut from the team. He was told in a humiliating fashion to get off the bus, to retrieve his bag and to report to Canmore. He was not given any money or any further direction. His parents were not notified; and,

(d) Racist, sexist and homophobic slurs were repeatedly directed at rookie players and were used on a daily basis.

86. Taylor's experience left him permanently traumatized. He suffered severe mental health issues which were not present before the Abuse he endured. He was hospitalized for a lengthy period after his time in the WHL. He continues to suffer from the psychological and physical injuries he suffered while playing in the WHL.

The Class' Experience

87. The Class Members suffered Abuse including, but not limited to:

(a) sexual assault, group sexual assault and molestation;

(b) Such sexual assault includes, but is not limited to:

(i) being forced to masturbate in front of teammates and coaches and others;

(ii) being forced to sexually assault other teammates;

(iii) being forced to consume the urine, saliva, semen or feces of teammates;

(iv) being forced or coerced or threatened with sexual enagegment with animals;

(v) having their genitals tied to heavy objects;

(vi) having their genitals dipped into various irritants or toxic liquids;

(vii) forced shaving of pubic hair and other body hair;

(viii) having various objects placed in their anuses (eg, hockey sticks, brooms, food); and,

(ix) having various other objects and substances placed in their underwear of near their genital area;

(c) being physically assaulted both with and without the use of various weapons (hockey sticks, sawed off hockey sticks, belts, etc.);

(e) being verbally demeaned, harassed, and degraded;

(f) being assaulted by other teammates and being forced to physically assault other teammates; and,

(g) being called racial, sexist and homophobic slurs.

TOXIC CULTURE AND ENVIRONMENT

88. The culture and environment of the Leagues and each of the Teams is highly racist, sexual, sexualized, homophobic and/or otherwise discriminatory. This culture and environment is pervasive and systemic; it exists among and within all of the Defendants. The Abuse is often highly racist, sexual, sexualized, homophobic and/or otherwise discriminatory.

89. The racist nature of the Abuse is evidenced by, among other things:

(a) frequent targeting of racialized victims;

(b) frequent use of highly degrading racist expressions;

(c) frequent racial slurs, jokes and innuendos; and

(d) frequent discriminatory comments with respect to the bodies, abilities or dignity of certain races.

90. The sexualized and sexist nature of the Abuse is shown by, among other things:

(a) frequently requiring the victims of the Abuse to be partially or completely nude;

(b) frequently requiring Class Members to dress in women's' clothing;

(c) frequently targeting the sexual areas of the victims' bodies, including the buttocks and genitals;

(d) frequent use of sexualized power dynamics;

(e) frequent use of highly degrading sexual expressions;

(f) frequent sexual jokes and innuendos;

(g) frequent comparison between the victims of the Abuse and women; and

(f) frequent comparison between the victims of the Abuse and women; and

(g) frequent discriminatory comments with respect to the bodies, abilities or dignity of homosexual persons.

DEFENDANTS' AGENTS TOLERATE AND ENCOURAGE VIOLENCE, DISCRIMINATION AND SEXUAL ASSAULT

92. The Abuse is tolerated and condoned by adults in positions of power on the Teams and the Leagues:

(a) Team and League staff and agents are desensitized to the Abuse;

(b) Team and League staff, employees and agents discourage complaints about the Abuse;

(c) Team and League staff, employees and agents turn a blind eye to the Abuse;

(d) Team and League staff, employees and agents are quick to excuse the Abuse;

(e) Team and League staff, employees and agents bury the issues to protect the reputation of the Teams and the Leagues at the expense of Class Members;

(f) Team and League staff, employees and agents do not act on complaints when reported either at the team or League-level;

(g) there is a deep mistrust among Class members that the Teams or Leagues will take such complaints seriously; and;

(h) sexual and physical assault is routinely ignored or even condoned and encouraged by those holding positions of power and authority.

93. This creates serious impediments to reporting and to the effective investigation and resolution of complaints and prevents many Class Members from reporting incidents of Abuse.

94. The Teams and the Leagues are vicariously liable for the Abuse perpetrated by their staff, employees, agents and players.

CLASS MEMBERS FACE NEGATIVE REPERCUSSIONS FROM REPORTING ABUSE

95. In addition to Team and League agents and employees tolerating, condoning and even encouraging or taking part in the Abuse, Class Members are subject to negative repercussions for reporting or even refusing to submit to the Abuse including:

(a) reduced ice time;

(b) being traded to another Team in the League;

(c) being sent down to a lower level of junior hockey;

(d) further victimization and retaliation and additional or increased levels of Abuse;

(e) being excluded from team activities;

(f) being stigmatized as "weak";

(g) being stigmatized as a "problem" player, their reputations being tarnished with NHL scouts, negatively impacting their chances of being drafted into the NHL or other professional hockey leagues.

96. Class Members often did not report the Abuse due to the concerns set out above and out of:

(a) a desire to avoid disturbing group cohesion;

(b) a desire to avoid negative consequences for the abuser; and,

(c) a concern about being labelled as someone who would complain about a teammate or an agent of the Teams or League, which could result in becoming socially ostracized or not drafted to the NHL or other professional hockey leagues.

97. In contrast, Class Members who do not make complaints are seen as "team players" and appropriately protecting superiors. As a result, Class Members feel pressure to accept the Abuse or risk social exclusion, further victimization and/or career consequences.

98. As a result of the above, the vast majority of incidents of Abuse are not reported.

POLICIES ARE INADEQUATE, INFREQUENTLY ENFORCED AND INEFFECTIVE

99. The Leagues each have anti-hazing and other policies that are designed to protect Class Members from Abuse, however, they are honoured most often in their breach. The policies themselves are woefully deficient and as a result, cause, contribute to and perpetuate the culture of Abuse in the Leagues and systematic physical, sexual and psychological abuse.

100. Furthermore, the policies themselves are almost never followed. Reports of Abuse are ignored, covered up or denied at the Team and League levels. Any enforcement mechanisms are woefully inadequate and are almost never employed.

101. In particular, the Leagues and Teams' reporting and investigation process is plagued by problems including:

(a) failure to involve police when criminal acts have taken place;

(b) failure to ensure appropriate confidentiality measures will protect those reporting Abuse;

(c) delays in the investigation process;

(d) Class Members not being offered medical or emotional support;

(e) serious incidents of sexual assault are not given adequate attention or consideration;

(f) Class Members are made to feel at fault before even providing a report;

(g) investigations are held in abeyance for lengthy periods of time;

(h) reports of Abuse are not formally investigated or resolved;

(i) poor training with respect to incidents of Abuse; and,

(j) failure to follow up with key witnesses;

102. As a result, there is very little trust in the ability of the Leagues and the Teams to appropriately respond to reports of Abuse;

103. In the rare cases where complaints of abuse are found to be well-founded, any rare sanctions are nothing more than a "slap on the wrist" which provide no deterrent.

104. As a result of these and other failures, Abuse often goes unreported.

TRAINING IS INADEQUATE

105. The training in place for agents, employees and employees of the Teams, Leagues as well as the players with respect to sexual assault, hazing, physical assault, and the Abuse is inadequate. As a result, training fails to inform Teams, Leagues and players about appropriate conduct, lacks credibility and further demonstrates that the Teams and the Leagues do not take the Abuse seriously.

THE LEAGUES ARE STRUCTURED SYSTEMICALLY

106. Each of the OHL, the WHL and the QMJHL are organized and operate pursuant to their constitutions and bylaws. The OHL, WHL and QMJHL constitutions and bylaws are substantially similar and they create the same obligations between each league and their constituent teams.

107. The constitutions and bylaws set standard obligations, oversight and operating principles across the OHL, WHL and QMJHL. Those standard obligations, oversight and operating principles contained in the Constitutions and bylaws include, but are not limited to:

(a) each Team is required to be bound by decisions made by the League

(b) each Team is required to follow policies and procedures set by the League;

(c) the Board of Governors of the League is made up of representatives from each team and the Board of Governors drafts, creates and implements League policies, procedures and standard form contracts;

(d) each Team is required to follow the Constitutions, By-Laws, Regulations and Agreements of the League;

(e) the League drafts and creates the SPAs;

(f) the League has authority to terminate a Team for failing to adhere to League rules;

(g) the League negotiates with outside interests such as the NHL and distributes funds to the Teams;

(h) the League sets sanctions for violation of the Constitution, By-Laws, Regulations and policies;

(i) when Teams are sold or transferred to new ownership, such transfers are required to be approved by the other Teams and the leagues;

(j) when Teams are sold or transferred to new ownership, such transfers are required to also transfer any historical liability, whether known or unknown, to the new owner;

(k) Teams indemnify the League for liability;

(l) Teams are required to obtain insurance to indemnify the Leagues for liability, which insurance is required to be approved by the Leagues; and,

(m) Teams are required to treat Class Members to the highest standards of honesty, integrity, fair dealing and ethical conduct.

108. Each of the above obligations, the ordinary business conduct of the Teams and the Leagues, as well as the culture, practices, traditions and rituals alleged herein, create a single system with common goals and common legal, contractual and equitable obligations to the Class Members.

~~105.~~109. The Teams and the Leagues operate as a common enterprise or a joint enterprise.

SYSTEMIC NEGLIGENCE

~~106.~~110. The Defendants and their employees, agents and servants owed a duty of care to the Plaintiffs and Class to create and maintain an environment that was free from sexual and physical assault, harassment and the Abuse.

~~107.~~111. The harm suffered by the Plaintiffs and the Class was a reasonably foreseeable consequence of the acts and omissions of the Defendants' employees, agents and servants.

~~108.~~112. The Defendants were in a position of authority and power and stood in loco parentis with Class Members. At all material times, the actions of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants had a direct impact on the Plaintiffs and the Class. They were responsible for providing or causing to provide facilities, policies, standards and programs that were appropriate for the Class Members, free from Abuse. In such circumstances, the risk of harm contemplated in this action was reasonably foreseeable.

~~109.~~113. There was a direct and proximate relationship and specific interaction between the Plaintiffs and the Class and the Defendants' employees, agents and servants, including but not limited to:

(a) the daily interaction between Class Members and the Defendants' agents, servants and employees; and,

(b) the close and direct supervisory relationship between the Plaintiffs and the Class and the Defendants' agents, servants and employees.

~~110.~~114. The agents, servants and employees of the Defendants repeatedly made representations to the Plaintiffs and the Class (and their guardians) that it was taking appropriate steps to prevent hazing, sexual assault and the Assaults. Such representations were relied upon by the Plaintiffs and the Class, as well as the parents and guardians of Class Members, in joining and remaining in the Leagues.

~~111.~~115. The Defendants owed a duty to not operate a system of teams that caused harms to its players. In particular, the Leagues' and Teams' duties included the duty:

(a) to supervise, educate, train and mentor the Class;

(b) to not subject Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents or other players;

(c) to not create an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the Leagues;

(d) to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse and its related bigotry;

(f) to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse and its related bigotry;

(g) to have adequate training, programs and oversight to enforce policies;

(h) to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

(l) to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

~~112.~~116. The Leagues and the Teams breached their common law duties to the Plaintiffs and the Class through their negligent failure to properly supervise, oversee and control the operations of their servants, employees and agents. In many circumstances, the Leagues' policies did not denounce all forms of the Abuse, and did not denounce the Abuse at all.

~~113.~~117. In particular, the Defendants breached the standard of care by:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce those policies;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and,

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

~~114.~~118. The Defendants' negligence caused damages to the Class and Family Class, as further particularized below.

BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY

~~115.~~119. The Plaintiffs and the Class were often minors, often removed from their family, and were in the complete care and control of the Defendants. The Class members trusted, relied on and depended on the Defendants. The Defendants' relationship to the Class members was one of loco parentis, or that of a parent.

~~116.~~120. In addition, or in the alternative, the Defendants had an additional type of power and control over the Plaintiffs and the Class Members by virtue of the influence they held over Class Members' futures and ability to pursue careers in professional hockey. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees held discretionary power over the vulnerable Class's interests, which power could be wielded unilaterally.

~~117.~~121. By virtue of the relationship between the Class members and the Defendants, the Defendants owed all Class members a fiduciary duty that included a duty to care for them and protect them and to act in their best interests at all times, as particularized below.

~~118.~~122. In particular, the Defendants owed a duty to not operate a system of teams that caused harms to ~~underage~~ their players. In particular, the Leagues' and Teams' fiduciary duties included the duty to:

(a) to supervise, educate, train and mentor the Class;

~~(a)~~(b) to stand in loco parentis for Class Members who are under the age of 18;

~~(b)~~(c) not subject Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

~~(c)~~(d) not create an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

~~(d)~~(e) to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

~~(e)~~(f) to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

~~(f)~~(g) to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

~~(g)~~(h) to have adequate training and programs to carry out and enforce policies;

~~(h)~~(i) to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

~~(i)~~(j) to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

~~(j)~~(k) to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

~~(k)~~(l) to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

~~(l)~~(m) to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

~~119.~~123. The Leagues and Teams breached their fiduciary ~~duty~~ duties to the Plaintiffs and the Class through their failure to properly supervise and control the operations of its servants, employees and agents. In many circumstances, the ~~Leagues'~~ Defendants' policies did not denounce ~~all~~ any forms of the Abuse.

~~120.~~124. In particular, the Defendants breached their fiduciary duties by:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce policies;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

~~121.~~125. The Class Members had a reasonable expectation that the Defendants and their servants, employees and agents would act in their best interests with respect to their wellbeing given the assumption of responsibility of care for the Class Members by virtue of:

(a) the Defendants' establishment, operation, financing, supervision and control of the Teams and Leagues;

(b) the terms of the contracts entered into between the Class Members, the Teams and the Leagues;

(c) the hierarchical and authoritarian coaching and playing systems and the requirements for obedience;

(d) the tremendous power and authority of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants over the Class;

(e) the unilateral assumption of responsibilities for the care of the Class by the Defendants;

(f) the dependence of the Class Members on the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants for their care, development, education and future career prospects, both in professional hockey and outside of hockey.

~~122.~~126. Given the circumstances of the relationship between the Defendants and their agents, servants and employees and Class Members, including but not limited to their contractual obligations, parental obligations and day to day control over the Class Members, and their development, the Defendants undertook to act in the best interests of the Class Members and to act in accordance with the duty of loyalty imposed on the Defendants.

~~123.~~127. Furthermore, the Defendants' repeated insistence throughout the Class Period that ~~it~~ they had appropriate policies and procedures to prevent and address hazing and other Abuse constituted an undertaking of responsibility to act in the best interests of the Plaintiffs and the Class Members and to act in accordance with a duty of loyalty in which the Class Members' interests would be put ahead of the Defendants' interests, in ensuring that such conduct did not occur.

~~124.~~128. Similarly, in investigating complaints of Abuse, the Defendants and their agents, servants and employees were required, but failed, to put the interests of the Class Members ahead of the Defendants' interests.

~~125.~~129. The Class were entitled to rely, and did rely on the Defendants to their detriment to fulfill their fiduciary obligations. As a result of their age and the imbalance of power, the Class Members were particularly vulnerable to and at the mercy of the discretion and power exercised by the servants, employees and agents of the Defendants.

~~126.~~130. The unilateral exercise of power and discretion by the Defendants impacted the Class Members' legal interests, including but not limited to career advancement and the Class Members' fundamental human and personal interests. The discretion exercised by the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants also directly affected the degree of sexual assault, harassment and Abuse as it was wholly within the scope of that discretion to ensure that appropriate policies and procedures were in place.

~~127.~~131. The Plaintiffs and the Class are particularly vulnerable and at the mercy of the Defendants. The Plaintiffs and the Class Members' vulnerability arises directly from their relationship with the Defendants. They relied on the Defendants for their protection in preventing the Abuse. All levels of leadership condoned and encouraged the sexualized, abusive and discriminatory culture that permeated the Leagues and they failed to take appropriate steps to stop it. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees abused their power over the Class.

~~128.~~132. The Defendants breached their fiduciary duties to the Plaintiffs and the Class. The particulars of the breach include the failures set out in paragraph 120, and:

(a) burying or minimizing reported incidents of Abuse to protect the reputation of the Defendants or their employees, agents or servants at the expense of Class Members;

(b) putting the interests of the Defendants ahead of the interests of the Plaintiffs and the Class; and,

(c) failing to safeguard the physical and psychological needs of the Class Members.

~~129.~~133. The Defendants and their agents, servants and employees knew or ought to have known that as a consequence of their actions, the Plaintiffs and Class Members would suffer damages, as particularized below.

BREACH OF CONTRACT

~~130.~~134. Each Class member was contractually bound to the Team(s) they played for, and to the Leagues, by virtue of the SPA. Both the Class Member and the parents or guardians of that Class Member sign the SPA before or at the time the player joins the Teams' roster. The Leagues and Teams approved and registered all SPAs signed by Class members.

~~131.~~135. The SPAs were standard-form contractual agreements between the Class members, the Teams they played for, and the Leagues. Their terms provided contractual duties of the Leagues and Teams to the Class members. Their terms also informed the common law duty of care that the Leagues and Teams owed to the Class members.

~~132.~~136. The SPAs are and were ~~set~~ drafted and/or created by the OHL, the QJMHL and the WHL and approved by the CHL. The SPAs are identical for each player and each Team within each League. The CHL and OHL are parties to the SPAs between the OHL Teams and OHL Players. The CHL and WHL are parties to the SPAs between the WHL Teams and WHL Players. The CHL and the QMJHL are parties to the SPAs between the QMJHL Teams and the QMJHL Players.

~~133.~~137. The SPAs all had terms stating that the Teams are required to provide "training, education, supervision and character development" to the Class members. Furthermore, the League Constitution and By-Laws required the Teams to adhere to the highest standards of honesty, integrity, fair dealing and ethical conduct in their treatment of Class Members.

~~134.~~138. The Defendants' breached ~~this~~ such terms of their contracts with the Plaintiffs and Class by allowing Abuse that hampered or was detrimental to the players' supervision, education and character development insofar as those were terms of the contract. They did so in the following ways, amongst others:

(a) not adequately supervising, educating, training and mentoring the Class;

(b) subjecting Class members to the Abuse from their servants, employees, or agents;

(c) creating an environment where the Class members were subjected to the Abuse by others playing in the League;

(d) failing to use reasonable care to ensure the safety, well-being, and protection of Class members;

(e) failing to have in place adequate policies condemning the Abuse;

(f) failing to adequately enforce its policies condemning the Abuse;

(g) failing to have adequate training and programs to enforce policies that ostensibly were designed to address Abuse;

(h) failing to have in place adequate reporting measures to address complaints about the Abuse;

(i) failing to enforce its reporting measures addressing the Abuse consistently;

(j) failing to respond adequately, or at all, to complaints about the Abuse;

(k) failing to have in place adequate repercussion mechanisms to address complaints about the Abuse; and,

(l) failing to properly exercise discretion in determining when the Abuse occurred.

~~135.~~139. Furthermore, it was an implied term that the Defendants would act honestly and in good faith in the performance of the contractual obligations set out in the SPA. The Defendants and their agents, employees and servants misled the Class Members with respect to the protections they would provide, the oversight they would engage in and the appropriate management of the Leagues and Teams which are made up ~~largely~~ with significant numbers of underage minors. By failing to protect the vulnerable Class Members from the Abuses the Defendants knew were being perpetrated on a systemic basis, the Defendants breached their common law duty of good faith in the carrying out of the SPAs.

DAMAGES SUFFERED BY CLASS MEMBERS

~~136.~~140. The Class Members have suffered damages that include, but are not limited to:

(a) physical pain and suffering ;

(b) permanent physical injuries;

(c) emotional, physical and psychological harm;

(d) impairment of mental and emotional health and well-being;

(e) impaired mental development;

(f) impaired ability to participate in relationships;

(g) alienation from family members;

(h) depression, anxiety, emotional distress and mental anguish;

(i) development of new mental, psychological and psychiatric disorders;

(j) emotional pain and suffering;

(k) a loss of self-esteem and feelings of humiliation and degradation;

(l) an impaired ability to obtain and maintain employment, resulting either in lost or reduced income and ongoing loss of income;

(m) an impaired ability to deal with persons in positions of authority;

(n) an impaired ability to trust other individuals or sustain relationships;

(o) a requirement for medical or psychological treatment and counselling;

(p) an impaired ability to enjoy and participate in recreational, social and employment activities;

(q) loss of friendship and companionship;

(r) sexual disorientation; and,

(s) loss of general enjoyment of life.

~~137.~~141. But for the Defendants' conduct, the above damages would not have been sustained.

~~138.~~142. As a result of the Abuse, Class members have required and will continue to require, medical treatment, psychological or psychiatric treatment, counselling, or other care. The Plaintiffs and other Class Members, or many of them, will require future medical care and/or rehabilitative treatment, or have already required such services, as a result of the Defendants' conduct for which they claim complete indemnity, compensation and payment. But for the Defendants' conduct, such treatment would not be necessary.

~~139.~~143. Members of the Family Class have suffered, and continue to suffer, loss of care, guidance and companionship which arises directly, or indirectly, from the physical, mental and emotional trauma sustained directly, or indirectly, by the Class. The harm suffered by the Family Class was reasonably foreseeable and was caused by the Conduct of the Defendants and their agents, employees and servants for whom they are in law responsible.

~~140.~~144. The Plaintiffs plead that the Defendants are strictly liable, jointly and severally, for the damages set out above as they were aware of and allowed the Abuse to continue to occur. In the alternative, the Teams are jointly and severally liable vertically, as between each Team and the Leagues in which it operates, but not horizontally, as across the teams.

PUNITIVE AND EXEMPLARY DAMAGES

~~141.~~145. The Defendants and their agents, employees and servants had specific and complete knowledge of the widespread physical, psychological, emotional, cultural and sexual abuses incurred by Class Members during the Class Period. Despite this knowledge, the Defendants continued to permit the perpetration of grievous harm to the Class Members.

~~142.~~146. In allowing the Abuse to take place unhindered, and in condoning such abuse, the Defendants acted in a high-handed and callous manner toward Class Members which warrants a finding of punitive and/or exemplary damages that are reasonable in the herein circumstances. The Defendants conducted their affairs with wanton disregard for Class Members' interests, safety and well-being.

~~144.~~148. The Plaintiffs plead and rely upon the Civil Code of Quebec, SQ 1991, c. 64, and the Quebec Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms (the "Quebec Charter"), particularly the right to personal security and inviolability of Class Members resident in Quebec under section 1 of the Quebec Charter, the discriminatory nature of the Abuse pursuant to s. 10 and 10.1 of the Quebec Charter, the Defendants' obligation to protect Quebec resident Class Members as minors under their care, pursuant to. s. 39 of the Quebec Charter, and s. 49 of the Quebec Charter.~~.~~

~~145.~~149. The Plaintiffs propose that the trial of the within action take place in the city of Toronto.

REAL AND SUBSTANTIAL CONNECTION TO ONTARIO

~~146.~~150. The Plaintiff pleads that this action has a real and substantial connection with Ontario because, inter alia:

(a) the Defendants conduct business in Ontario;

(b) the Defendants have corporate headquarters in Ontario;

~~(b)~~(c) the CHL, which has authority over the Leagues and Teams, is headquartered in Ontario;

~~(c)~~(d) contracts relating to the subject matter of this action were made in Ontario;

~~(d)~~(e) the causes of action arose in Ontario; and,

~~(e)~~(f) a significant number of the Class Members reside in Ontario.

About the WHL

About the WHL

ABOUT THE WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Western Hockey League started with just seven teams based in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1966. The WHL now has representation in all four Western Canadian provinces and the U.S. States of Oregon and Washington. The WHL now consists of 22 member Clubs with 17 based in Western Canada and 5 in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

The WHL is a member of the Canadian Hockey League (CHL) whose membership is comprised of the three major junior hockey leagues; the Ontario Hockey League (OHL), Quebec Major Junior Hockey League (QMJHL) and the Western Hockey League (WHL). At the conclusion of each League's playoffs, the CHL hosts the Memorial Cup presented by Kia, a National Championship tournament involving each of the three League's Champions and the tournament host.

Since its inception, the WHL has been regarded as one of the finest player development Leagues in the world and continues to not only be a leading supplier of talent to the NHL, but to Canada's National teams at all levels as well as U Sports (Canadian University) hockey.

The WHL offers top young prospects in Western Canada and the U.S. the opportunity to reach their full potential both on and off the ice, by providing an ideal environment to develop as a hockey player while not compromising their academic goals. All WHL Clubs graduate 100% of their players from high school and provide Education Advisors and support programs to assist players with their academics. The WHL Player Experience also includes comprehensive support programs such as Red Cross RespectEd, WHL Drug, Alcohol and Gambling Awareness, Drug Education and Anti-Doping, WHL Counselling Services, and CHL Concussion Management Program. In addition, the WHL Scholarship provides players graduating from the League with the opportunity to attend the post-secondary institution or career-enhancing program of their choice with one year's tuition, books and compulsory fees for each season played in the WHL provided by WHL Club Ownership.

The WHL Office is located in Calgary, Alberta and is responsible to administer all matters related to League operations. Under the direction of the WHL Commissioner, some of the WHL Office functions include game supervision, scheduling, League meetings, player drafts, WHL Scholarship administration, player transactions, player recruitment, finance, marketing, media relations, communications, and statistics.

The WHL is committed to remaining a world leader in the development of players, coaches and officials for the NHL, U Sports and Hockey Canada while continuing to offer the finest player experience and academic opportunities. The WHL also continues to be recognized for a high standard of competition, fair play and integrity while playing an active role in communities, minor hockey programs and local charitable initiatives throughout the region.

WHL History

The 2015-16 WHL Season marks the Western Hockey League's 50th Season.

The WHL was co-founded in 1966 by Scotty Munro, Bill Hunter, Jim Piggott and Del Wilson.

The Western Hockey League, originally referred to as the Western Canada Hockey League, was formed in 1966. The 1966-67 inaugural season consisted of seven member clubs: Calgary Buffaloes, Edmonton Oil Kings, Estevan Bruins, Moose Jaw Canucks, Regina Pats, Saskatoon Blades and Weyburn Red Wings. Currently, the WHL consists of 22 member Clubs with 17 based in Western Canada and five in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

The WHL Member Clubs wish to pay tribute to the individuals who co-founded the League in 1966 – Scotty Munro, Bill Hunter, Jim Piggott and Del Wilson.

Scotty Munro

Scotty Munro had a vision. Having dominated the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League with the Estevan Bruins in the early 1960's, it was time to break away from the provincial league and form the Western Canada Hockey League. Munro's concept was enthusiastically endorsed by Bill Hunter of the Edmonton Oil Kings, Del Wilson of the Regina Pats and Jim Piggott of the Saskatoon Blades. Later, Moose Jaw, Weyburn and Calgary also agreed to form the new seven-team WCHL for the inaugural 1966-67 season. Munro owned and operated the Estevan Bruins before selling his shares in the Club in 1969 and moving on to manage the Calgary Centennials. Munro was not only a visionary and shrewd operator, but also an outstanding coach as many of his players in Estevan and later with the Calgary Centennials went on to highly successful NHL careers. Scotty Munro, a native of Swift Current, Saskatchewan passed away in 1975.

Bill Hunter

Bill Hunter was one of Canada's most flamboyant personalities and a sports promoter who recognized the potential for major junior hockey to expand throughout Western Canada. As Owner/President of the Edmonton Oil Kings, Hunter was a driving force behind the formation of the Western Canada Hockey League in 1966. Having guided the Edmonton Oil Kings to the Memorial Cup Championship in 1965-66 he enthusiastically endorsed Scotty Munro's recommendation to form a regional major junior league in Western Canada. In 1966-67 the Edmonton Oil Kings became one of seven franchises in the new WCHL and Hunter was named the League's first Chairman of the Board.

Hunter, was also the co-founder of the World Hockey Association in 1972-73 and passed away in December 2002.

Jim Piggott

Jim Piggott's association with Saskatoon's junior and professional hockey teams began in the early 1950's. Piggott, having established himself in the construction industry, entered the hockey scene in 1951 as a part owner of the Saskatoon Quakers of the now defunct Western Professional Hockey League. Piggott then operated the Saskatoon Junior Quakers from 1955 to 1964 before entering the Saskatoon Blades in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League (SJHL) for the 1964-65 season. After two seasons in the SJHL, Piggott agreed to move the Blades to the newly formed Western Canada Hockey League (WCHL). Piggott's Blades became one of the most successful franchises in the WCHL inaugural season. Jim Piggott, a native of Bangor, Saskatchewan, was owner of the Saskatoon Blades until his passing in July 1979.

Del Wilson

Del Wilson was a scout in Western Canada for the Montreal Canadiens of the NHL when he was appointed General Manager of the Regina Pats in 1955. Wilson spent 15 seasons as the Pats General Manager until joining the Canadiens as a full time scout for the 1969-70 season. In 1970-71 Wilson headed a group which purchased the Regina Pats. As President and General Manager of a highly respected Pats organization, Wilson led Regina to a Memorial Cup Championship in 1974. Wilson sold his interest in the Regina Pats in 1980 ending a 25 year association with junior hockey in Regina but continued to serve as a scout in the Canadiens organization. Wilson retired from the Canadiens in 1985 having served 47 years with Montreal in a scouting capacity. Wilson, who served as WHL Chairman and Referee-in-Chief, was a driving force in not only establishing the Western Canada Hockey League in 1966 but also the Canadian Major Junior Hockey League in 1973. Del retired to Campbell River, BC before passing away in November of 2015 at the age of 88. Prior to his passing, Del was on hand in Moose Jaw and Regina in September 2015 for the opening of the WHL's 50th Season.

History of the League

The Success of the 2010 Decade

The current 18 teams of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League compete annually for two major trophies. One, in the regular season, the champion team inherits the Jean-Rougeau Trophy, whose name honours one of the former QMJHL presidents from 1981 until his death in 1983. The spring ritual has been putting at stake, for the past 50 years already, the President Cup; it is the Hull/Gatineau Olympiques who have been the most successful at winning the trophy, mainly composed of wood, on seven occasions.

To conclude the calendar, the three champion teams of the Canadian Hockey League (QMJHL/OHL/WHL) meet each year in a predetermined city, hosted by the host team which also participates in the Memorial Cup Tournament. In 2019, the QMJHL saw its two teams, the Halifax Mooseheads (host club), and the Rouyn-Noranda Huskies (playoff champions), reach the final of this competition. Rouyn-Noranda finally defeated the home team 4-2, hoisting the Memorial Cup for the first time in its history. For the QMJHL, it was a fifth Memorial Cup in nine years, and most importantly, the very first decade (2010–2019) when it managed to obtain more titles than its competing leagues, the OHL and the WHL. A very great pride for the Commissioner Gilles Courteau who starts his 34th full season in 2019-20 at the helm of the QMJHL.

Champions of the 2019 – KIA -Memorial Cup, the Rouyn-Noranda Huskies

The unfinished 2019-20 season

While the Sherbrooke Phoenix and the Moncton Wildcats had already reached the 50-win mark, Thursday, March 12, 2020, will forever be remembered by all QMJHL fans. On that day, the 2019-20 season was supposedly temporarily interrupted due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. The 2019-20 season never resumed, so only 572 of the 613 regular season games were played, with the Sherbrooke Phoenix being declared champion. The playoffs had to be cancelled and the President's Cup could not be awarded after the final game; a first in 51 seasons…

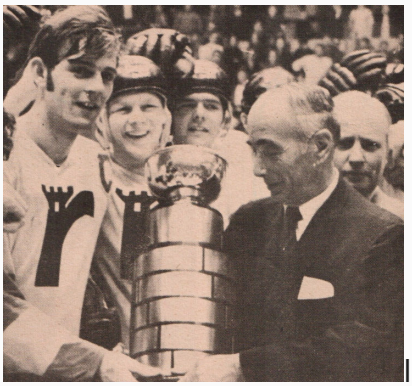
The QMJHL – The Beginning

The Quebec Major Junior Hockey League began play in 1969.

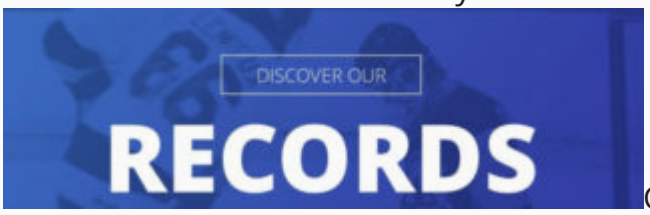
Since its creation, the major junior hockey circuit (which used to be called the Quebec Junior A League) has witnessed several great players launch their careers and each marked the League in his own way. Builders, players and coaches have all contributed to the rise and the excellence of major junior hockey because in Eastern Canada thanks to their talent, passion, efforts and respect for the country's national sport.



In 1969, the QMJHL housed 11 teams, led by President and Founder Mr. Robert LeBel (PHOTO). The league was comprised of the Cornwall Royals, Drummondville Rangers, Laval Saints, Quebec Remparts, Rosemont National, Shawinigan Bruins, Sherbrooke Castors, Sorel Éperviers, St-Jérôme Alouettes, Trois-Rivières Ducs and Verdun Maple Leafs.

Offence has always been the name of the game in the QMJHL. From the start, tremendous crowds fueled the fires of stars such as Luc Simard (Trois-Rivières), Guy Lafleur (Quebec) and Richard Leduc (Trois-Rivières).

The Quebec Remparts won the first two President Cups (1970 & 1971). The club was led by head coach Maurice Filion who today is a member of the QMJHL Hall of Fame.



Guy Lafleur, André Savard and Jacques Richard were amongst the leaders on a team filled with talent. Moreover, they were the first to capture the Memorial Cup, the emblem of Canadian major junior hockey supremacy.

The seventees enable the Remparts to capture three other titles while the Sherbrooke Castors, led by Ghislain Delage, and the Trois-Rivières Draveurs, coached by Michel Bergeron, won four titles among them.

Also, Doug Gilmour, Dave Hawerchuk and Marc Crawford helped a strong Cornwall Royals squad win two President Cups in the eightees as well as two national championships.

The QMJHL's Superstar Alumni

QMJHL players represent a good portion of the NHL's elite.

Raymond Bourque, Mario Lemieux (PHOTO), Pat Lafontaine, Pierre Turgeon, Patrick Roy, Denis Savard and Luc Robitaille to name but a few all developped their games for professional hockey in the QMJHL.

The Titan, the Olympiques and the Saguenéens captured most of the League's titles in the ninetees.

During that time, several prominent junior coaches made the jump to the NHL including Alain Vigneault, Robert Hartley, Michel Therrien and Claude Julien.

The Memorial Cup came back to the QMJHL in 1996 with the Granby Prédateurs and the Hull Olympiques capturing the crown in 1996 and 1997 respectively.

Furthermore, the QMJHL becomes the best development league for elite goaltenders with Martin Brodeur, Emmanuel Fernandez, Marc Denis, Martin Biron, Jean-Sébastien Giguère, José Théodore, Roberto Luongo, and later Marc-André Fleury, Jaroslav Halak, Ondrej Pavelec, Jonathan Bernier and Corey Crawford, all learning their trade.

The pipeline for offensive talent to the NHL runs steadily with impact players such as Vincent Lecavalier, Simon Gagné, Daniel Brière, Jean-Pierre Dumont, Brad Richards, Ales Hemsky, Jason Pominville, Patrice Bergeron, Brad Marchand, Claude Giroux and Sidney Crosby (PHOTO) making immediat impacts. And younger players were added to the list most recently, just think about: Jonathan Huberdeau, Nathan MacKinnon, Nikita Kucherov, Jonathan Audy-Marchessault, Sean Couturier, Thomas Chabot (D) and Samuel Girard (D).

Finally, the new millenium confirms the rise of the QMJHL among the Canadian elite.

Thus, it is with great pride that the QMJHL offers an opportunity to young hockey players to make their dreams come true and make the jump to the pros while enabling them to earn their degrees so that they may become leaders in tomorrow's society.

The Teams

Hamilton Spectator Trophy

The Hamilton Spectator Trophy is awarded to the team that finishes the regular season first overall in the Ontario Hockey League. The trophy was presented to the Ontario Hockey Association by the Hamilton Spectator in the 1957-58 season.

The St. Catharines Tee Pees were the first recipients of the trophy in 1957-58 and 1958-59. Since its inception, the Peterborough Petes and Kitchener Rangers have won the trophy seven times, more than any other team in the League. The London Knights have won it six times while the Toronto Marlboros and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds have won the trophy five times. The Guelph Storm won it four times while London became the first team to ever win the Hamilton Spectator Trophy in four consecutive seasons from 2003-04 to 2006-07.

The winner of the Hamilton Spectator Trophy has gone on to win the OHL championship 24 times and the Memorial Cup 11 times.

Division Trophies

The Leyden, Emms, Bumbacco and Holody Trophies are presented each year to the teams finishing with the most points in the East, Central, West and Midwest Divisions, respectively.

The Emms and Leyden Trophies were first presented in the 1975-76 season when the OHL was split into divisions with the expansion of the League to 12 teams. The awards originated in recognition of Matt Leyden and Leighton "Hap" Emms for their contributions to Junior hockey in Ontario.

The Bumbacco Trophy was inaugurated in 1994-95 when the League realigned into three divisions. The award is named after former Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds General Manager Angelo Bumbacco.

The Holody Trophy, awarded in recognition of the contributions to the Ontario Hockey League by former Guelph and Owen Sound Platers Governor Joe Holody, was presented following the 1998-99 season for the first time with the realignment of the League into four divisions.

UKKO-PEKKA LUUKKONEN
SUDBURY WOLVES

Ukko-Pekka Luukkonen becomes the sixth goaltender to win the award and the first member of the Wolves to be honoured in 40 years since Mike Foligno was the club's first award recipient back in 1979. The Finnish netminder is also the first European import player to be recognized.

Luukkonen backstopped the Wolves to their most successful regular season since 1994-95. In their crease he tied for the league lead with 38 wins and six shutouts while posting the OHL's third best goals-against-average with a mark of 2.50 and the best save percentage at .920. His GAA, SV%, and shutout total established new franchise records while his 38 wins are the second most in a single season in franchise history behind only Jim Bedard who won 40 games in 1975-76.

The 20-year-old from Espoo, Finland, began his OHL career on September 28 just three months after being chosen third overall in the 2018 CHL Import Draft. He won his first five regular season starts and would later produce impressive winning streaks of 11 and eight straight games throughout 2018-19 compiling an overall record of 38-11-2-2. His efforts helped the Wolves finish second in the Central Division standings with 43 wins and 91 points. This season Luukkonen was also selected as the OHL's Goaltender of the Year in a unanimous vote by the league's General Managers and represents the club as a first time recipient for that award.

The Red Tilson Award is the most prestigious award presented by the Ontario Hockey League, going each year to the player that is voted the most outstanding during the regular season by OHL writers and broadcasters.

The Award is in honour of Albert "Red" Tilson, who was killed in action in Europe during World War II. Tilson was the OHA scoring champion for the 1942-43 season after scoring 19 goals and 38 assists for 57 points in 22 games with the Oshawa Generals.

Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy (Top Scorer)

JASON ROBERTSON
NIAGARA ICEDOGS

Jason Robertson finished atop the regular season scoring charts earning the Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy with 117 points powered by 48 goals and 69 assists in 62 games for a league-best points-per-game average of 1.89.

The 19-year-old from Northville, Michigan split his season between the Niagara IceDogs and the Kingston Frontenacs where he was originally a fourth round pick in the 2015 OHL Priority Selection. His tenure with the IceDogs began in November and included 25 goals and 54 assists for 79 points in 38 games helping the club clinch their second Central Division title.

His season highlight was undoubtedly on March 1 when he surpassed the century mark for points in a season while reaching the 300 point milestone for his career. One of three IceDogs to top 100 points this season, Robertson accomplished the feat with 30 multi-point performances including five hat-tricks while producing point-streaks of 19 and 18 games which rank second and fourth respectively among the league's best in 2018-19.

Robertson becomes the first member of the IceDogs to win the award and sixth American following Alex DeBrincat (Erie Otters, 2017), Kevin Labanc (Barrie Colts, 2016), Vincent Trocheck (Plymouth Whalers, 2013), Patrick Kane (London Knights, 2007), and Rob Schremp (London Knights, 2006).

The Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy was donated by the Toronto Marlboro Athletic Club in memory of Edward Powers. The trophy was first awarded to Tod Sloan of St. Michael's as the league's top scorer following the 1945-46 season.

Matt Leyden Trophy (Coach of the Year)0530

ANDRE TOURIGNY
OTTAWA 67'S

With Tourigny behind the bench the 67's set a new franchise record with 106 points to claim their fourth Hamilton Spectator Trophy as the OHL's first place team. They tied the franchise record of 50 wins set in 1983-84 with the league's stingiest defence, one that surrendered just 183 goals. The 67's won a league-high 29 games on home ice including a string of 14 straight from December 28 to March 3. The 29 home wins are also the most by the club since 1982-83.

He becomes the first 67's recipient since the legendary Brian Kilrea who holds the league record with five Coach of the Year honours winning in 1981, 1982, 1996, 1997, and 2003.

The Matt Leyden Trophy has been awarded annually to the Coach of the Year in the Ontario Hockey League as selected by his peers since 1972. The award is in recognition of the contributions of Matt Leyden, past President of the Ontario Hockey Association from 1965-67 and is a former manager of the Oshawa Generals that spent more than 50 years with the team.

JUSTIN BRAZEAU
NORTH BAY BATTALION

Justin Brazeau set a new Battalion mark for goals in a season and is one of just three North Bay OHL stars to surpass the 60 goal plateau joining former Centennials Vitali Yachmenev who scored 61 in 1993-94, and Nick Kypreos who netted 62 during the 1985-86 season.

The Jim Mahon Memorial Trophy is awarded annually to the right winger who scores the most points during the OHL regular season. The trophy was presented for competition in the 1971-72 season by the players and management of the Peterborough Major Junior Hockey Club in memory of Jim Mahon, right winger for their team who was accidently killed that summer. In the event of a tie, the award will go to the right winger who has scored the most goals. If there is still a tie, the players will become co-winners.

Max Kaminsky Trophy (Defenceman of the Year)

EVAN BOUCHARD
LONDON KNIGHTS

Evan Bouchard recorded 53 points in just 45 games scoring 16 goals and 37 assists while carrying a plus-28 rating as the Knights won their ninth Midwest Division title. His 1.18 points-per-game mark was the second highest in the OHL this season and he was the only defenceman in the league to average more than four shots on goal per game.

Bouchard becomes the first Knight to win the Max Kaminsky Trophy since Danny Syvret in 2004-05 marking the sixth time a member of the organization has received the honour.

The Max Kaminsky Trophy is awarded annually to the Most Outstanding Defenceman as selected by League general managers. Prior to 1969, the Kaminsky Trophy was awarded to the Most Gentlemanly Player. The award is named in recognition of Kaminsky, who enjoyed a 10-year professional playing career that included four years in the NHL with Ottawa, Boston and Montreal. After he retired from playing, Kaminsky enjoyed a 15-year coaching career that was capped by winning the Memorial Cup with the St. Catharines Teepees in 1960.

The Ottawa 67's allowed the fewest goals in the OHL during the 2018-19 season with just 183 against, backstopped primarily by the tandem of Cedrick Andree and Michael DiPietro.

The pair finished first and second among league leaders in goals-against-average with DiPietro's overall mark of 2.40 just ahead of Andree's 2.48. The netminders were instrumental in delivering a franchise record of 106 points which included 50 wins for just the second time in team history en route to the club's fourth Hamilton Spectator Trophy as regular season champions.

This marks the sixth time the 67's have led the league with the fewest goals against with past award recipients including Craig Hillier and Seamus Kotyk (172 GA) in 1997-98, Tim Keyes and Craig Hillier (177 GA) in 1996-97, Darren Pang and Greg Coram (223 GA) in 1983-84, Jim Ralph (264 GA) in 1980-81, Michael Larocque (216) in 1971-72

Emms Family Award (Rookie of the Year) 0534

QUINTON BYFIELD
SUDBURY WOLVES

Quinton Byfield joined the league as the first overall pick in the 2018 OHL Priority Selection and finished third in rookie scoring with 61 points in 64 games including 29 goals and 32 assists helping the Wolves win more than 40 games for the first time since the 1994-95 season.

The Newmarket, Ont., native, scored in his Wolves debut on September 21, part of a two-point performance, the first of 16 multi-point games this season. The 2020 NHL Draft prospect also represented Canada as an alternate captain at the World Under-17 Hockey Challenge in November. He finished second overall in Wolves scoring and lit the lamp more than any other 16-year-old rookie to play for 'the Pack' in the last 20 years following Norm Milley's 30 goals in 1996-97.

Byfield is just the third Wolves player to win Rookie of the Year honours following Benoit Pouliot in 2004-05, and Pat Verbeek in 1981-82. He is also the ninth player to win after also earning the Jack Ferguson Award as the league's first overall pick.

The Emms Family Award is presented annually to the top first year Ontario Hockey League player as selected by the OHL general managers. The award was donated by Leighton "Hap" Emms, former owner of the Barrie, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines OHL franchises. Hap Emms was also a long time coach and general manager of Barrie, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines. He is 15th among all-time winningest OHL coaches.

Dan Snyder Memorial Trophy (Humanitarian of the Year)

NICHOLAS CANADE
MISSISSAUGA STEELHEADS

Nicholas Canade becomes the first Steelheads player to be honoured after leading the club's community initiatives and spearheading programs of his own. Among his endeavours was a social media campaign in support of the team's 'Pink in the Rink' Breast Cancer Awareness efforts where he was inspired to help out a teammate whose family had been affected by Breast Cancer. Canade personally contributed $2,500 following widespread interest generated from a post on his personal Instagram account in the form of 65,000 'likes'. His donation was matched by corporate support and additional contributions resulting in a total donation of $6,000 to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Canade's community outreach also included leading a group of players to Credit Valley Hospital to visit sick children, plus numerous visits to local elementary schools to speak about topics of leadership, a drug-free lifestyle, the importance of education, and healthy living through sport. He attended countless minor hockey practices serving as a guest instructor, participated in a sledge hockey game for charity, led a holiday skating event, delivered Teddy Bears collected from the team's event to children in need, and helped with the Salvation Army kettle campaign at the mall.

The Ontario Hockey League Board of Governors announced on November 19, 2004 that the OHL Humanitarian of the Year award was renamed the Dan Snyder Memorial Trophy in recognition of the former Owen Sound Platers captain who died from injuries sustained in an automobile accident in September, 2004. Snyder, who played four seasons with Owen Sound, was twice named his team's humanitarian of the year in recognition of his tremendous efforts in supporting community activities.

Mickey Renaud Captains Trophy

ISAAC RATCLIFFE
GUELPH STORM

Isaac Ratcliffe successfully led one of the league's most experienced units through a number of changes over the course of the season. He provided leadership to guide all of his teammates, both old and new, working daily on and off the ice to consider a common goal for the benefit of the team. His dedication extended into the community where he led the team's new 'Storm & STEM' school program, continued his role as a minor hockey ambassador, and carried on the legacy left behind by former Storm captain Garrett McFadden as a spokesman for mental health awareness. Ratcliffe has a special way of connecting with fans and the relationships that he built particularly helped a pair of young individuals dealing with cancer and bullying enjoy positive experiences with their families at the rink and through several events he organized.

The 20-year-old from London, Ont., and longtime Jr. Knights captain during his minor hockey days, became the fifth Storm player to record 50 goals in a season and finished 18th in league scoring with 82 points in 62 games.

The Ontario Hockey League announced in February, 2009 that the "Mickey Renaud Captain's Trophy" will be presented each season to the OHL team captain that best exemplifies the character and commitment that Renaud displayed during his career with the Spitfires. The winner will be one of the 20 OHL member team captains and will be selected by a special media selection committee representing each of the four OHL divisions. The award is named in honour of Mickey Renaud, the former Windsor Spitfires' captain, who passed away in February, 2008.

He recorded just 12 penalty minutes in 2018-19 which was lowest among the league's top-14 point producers and third fewest among the league's top-35.

Since the award was first presented in 1961 only three other players have won the award twice including Dale McCourt (Hamilton 1976 and St. Catharines 1977), Sean Simpson (Ottawa 1979 and 1980), and Brad Boyes (Erie 2001 and 2002). Suzuki is the second member of the Storm to be recognized following Jeff Williams in 1995-96, while Kirk Muller was the 1982-83 winner as a member of the Guelph Platers.

The William Hanley Trophy is awarded annually to the Most Sportsmanlike Player as selected by the League's general managers. This trophy is presented by the OHL to commemorate William Hanley, former Secretary-Manager of the Ontario Hockey Association for over 25 years. NORTH BAY BATTALION

Justin Brazeau led the league with 61 goals and finished second overall with 113 points in 68 games played. He becomes the first member of the Battalion to earn this award after establishing a new franchise record for goals in a season while becoming just the second Battalion player following Wojtek Wolski to surpass the century mark for points in a season.

The Leo Lalonde Memorial Trophy is awarded annually to the overage player of the year as selected by the League's general managers. The trophy was donated by the trainers of the League in memory of the late Leo Lalonde, former Chief Scout of the OHL's Central Scouting Bureau. OHL Scholastic Awards

In March 2005, the Ontario Hockey League announced two new awards to annually recognize the accomplishments of the top student athletes that compete in the OHL.

The Roger Neilson Memorial Award was created to recognize the OHL's top academic player attending university and the Ivan Tennant Memorial Award was created to recognize the OHL's top academic player attending high school.

The awards are presented annually along with the Bobby Smith Trophy, which is awarded to the OHL player that best combines hockey and education.

Ivan Tennant Memorial Award - This award is given out each year to the top academic high school student in the OHL. The award is based on the player's average in his best six courses regardless of level of difficulty of the courses. The Robertson Cup

The Robertson Cup is emblematic of the Ontario Hockey League's championship series. The Cup was presented by J. Ross Robertson, who was president of the Ontario Hockey Association from 1901 to 1905.

Since its inception, the Robertson Cup has been won by 29 different teams, with the Oshawa Generals leading the way with 13 championships, including seven consecutive championships between 1938 and 1944. The Toronto Marlboros have made the most final series appearances with 15.

The Robertson Cup has been won by many legendary players, coaches and general managers including Hockey Hall of Fame Members Clarence 'Hap' Day, Charlie Conacher, Joe Primeau, Turk Broda, Rudy Pilous, George Armstrong and Father David Bauer.

Current National Hockey League stars that won the Robertson Cup during their OHL careers include Mitch Marner, Matthew Tkachuk, Taylor Hall, Ryan Ellis and Alex DeBrincat.

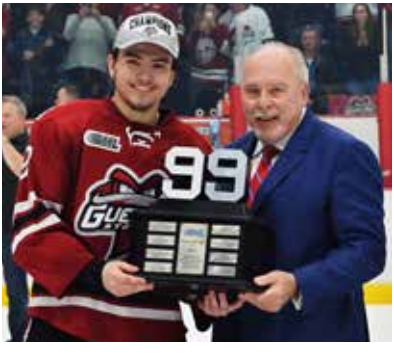
GUELPH STORM
2019 ONTARIO HOCKEY LEAGUE ROBERTSON CUP CHAMPIONS

Wayne Gretzky 99 Award

NICK SUZUKI
GUELPH STORM



Guelph Storm forward Nick Suzuki was named the Most Valuable Player of the 2019 OHL Playoffs, leading the league with a Storm franchise record 42 points including 16 goals and 26 assists over 24 games. Suzuki put up 11 points over six games in the Rogers OHL Championship Series as the Storm eliminated the Ottawa 67's. The 19-year-old former first round NHL Draft pick had tremendous success on a line alongside Isaac Ratcliffe and MacKenzie Entwistle. Suzuki's 16 goals were also a Storm playoff record, eclipsing prior marks held by Todd Bertuzzi (1994-95) and Brian Willsie (1996-97).

The Ontario Hockey League introduced the Wayne Gretzky 99 Award in 1999 to honour the Most Valuable Player in the OHL Playoffs as selected by the media. Gretzky, a native of Brantford, graduated from the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds to become the most prolific scorer in the history of the National Hockey League. The League created the award in tribute of 'The Great One' shortly after he announced his retirement from the NHL in 1999.

The Memorial Cup

The Memorial Cup, which has been in competition since 1919, was presented in commemoration of the many great Canadian hockey players who paid the supreme sacrifice in defence of their country in the First World War.

Initially the symbol of the national junior championship, the Cup later signified Junior "A" supremacy beginning in 1934 and Major Junior supremacy in 1971. Competing for it annually are the Western, Quebec Major Junior and Ontario Hockey Leagues. The winners of the three leagues, along with the host club, compete in the Memorial Cup tournament.

The Memorial Cup has been won by Ontario based teams 50 times during its 101 years of competition.

2019 NHL Draft

25 OHL players were selected in the seven rounds of the 2019 NHL Draft held in Vancouver, BC representing approximately 12% of all 217 players picked by all 31 NHL clubs.

The 25 OHL players includes four selected in the first round led by Thomas Harley of the Mississauga Steelheads chosen 18th overall by the Dallas Stars. The draft's second round featured six OHL players bringing the League's opening two-round total to 10.

A total of 71 Canadian Hockey League players were selected including 25 from the Ontario Hockey League joined by 28 from the Western Hockey League and 18 from the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League.

By position, a total of 129 forwards were selected (17 OHL), 66 defencemen (7 OHL), and 22 goaltenders (1 OHL). The Ontario Hockey League produced 19 selections born in 2001, four late 2000-born picks along with a pair of 1999-born selections in Kitchener's Greg Meireles (6th round, Florida) and Saginaw's Cole Coskey (7th round, NY Islanders).

15 of the OHL's 20 member teams developed NHL Draft talent in 2019 led by the Mississauga Steelheads and Saginaw Spirit who each produced three draft selections. The Barrie Colts, Flint Firebirds, Kitchener Rangers, London Knights, Ottawa 67's and Peterborough Petes each had a pair of players selected. The Knights continued their record streak of players chosen annually since 1969.

17 of the NHL's 31 teams selected at least one OHL player with the Carolina Hurricanes, Florida Panthers and New Jersey Devils leading the way with three each. The Dallas Stars and Minnesota Wild each picked up two OHL players.

Please forward all credential requests to the Ontario Hockey League office. The following is the policy for issuing CHL/OHL Media credentials:

1. A CHL Media Pass is issued only to media who regularly cover a team at home and/or on the road.

2. The pass is not intended to be a courtesy pass and we ask that your co-operation in applying for passes only for reporters who regularly cover the team.

3. In the case of reporters who cover OHL teams only at home, application for accreditation should be made directly to the team and a team pass will be issued.

4. The Canadian Hockey League has established a strict policy for all photographers gaining admittance to CHL arenas. Prior to being issued a credential, it is necessary for the application form to be completed including the waiver portion. Strobe privileges will only be granted to official league photographers.

DRESSING ROOM ACCESS TO PLAYER PERSONNEL:
Game Day/Night - Players will be available for media interviews up until 90 minutes before game time.

Players will be accessible to the media no later than 10 minutes after the conclusion of a game. All persons of the media, appropriately accredited, shall have equal access to player and coach interviews in the dressing room or other team designated interview areas.
